POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW.

Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry.—Prof. Charles Eliot Norton.

THE FRIEND OF HUMANITY AND THE KNIFE GRINDER.

BY GEORGE CANNING.

Needy knife grinder! whither are you going?
Rough is the road; your wheel is out of order.
Bleak blows the blast—your hat has got a hole in't;
So have your breeches!

Weary knife grinder, little think the proud ones,
Road, what hard work 'tis crying all day,
"Knives and Scissors to grind O."

Tell me, knife grinder, how came you to grind knives?
Did some rich man tyrannically use you?
Was it the squire? or parson of the parish?
Or the attorney?

Was it the squire for killing his game? or
Covetous parson for his tithes distraining?
Or roguish lawyer made you lose your little
All in a lawsuit?

(Have you not read the Rights of Man, by Tom Paine?)
Drops of compassion tremble on my eyelids
Ready to fall as soon as you have told your Pitiful story.

KNIFE GRINDER.

Story! God bless you! I have none to tell, sir;
Only, last night, a drinking at the Chequers,
This poor old hat and breeches, as you see, were Torn in a scuffle.

Constables came up for to take me into Custody; they took me before the justice;
Justice Oldmixon put me into the parish
Stocks for a vagrant.

I should be glad to drink your honor's health in
A pot of beer, if you will give me sixpence;
But for my part, I never love to meddle

FRIEND OF HUMANITY.

I give thee sixpence! I will see thee damned first,
Wretch! whom no sense of wrongs can rouse to vengeance,
Sordid, unfeeling reprobate, degraded,
Spiritless outcast!

THOUSANDS VIEW NIGHT'S PAGEANT.

DRUM CORPS MAKE MUSIC.

CENTENNIAL PROGRAM TODAY.

10 a. m. and 5 p. m.—Indian sports at Indian village.
9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.—Stockyards company and packers will entertain visitors.
2 p. m.—Aquatic sports in Lincoln park lagoon.

Marching as rhythmically to the time of drum and bugle corps as they might have done to the noisier notes of brass bands, the national guardsmen, their companions of military and civil bodies, and the organizations and exhibits they escorted paraded the streets of Chicago last night in celebration of the centennial of the city's birth.

Hundreds of thousands of persons witnessed the parade—how many cannot even be guessed. The vast throng, tiers in depth, lined the route of march from the starting to the disbanding point. The spectators began to take their positions before 6 o'clock. By 7 o'clock the alignment was solid. Those nearest the head of the line waited until 8:15 o'clock for the first sight of the marchers. The reviewing stand at Jackson boulevard and Dearborn street was not reached until 9 o'clock. The review took until 10:40 o'clock.

Bands Absent; Scarcely Missed.

The musicians kept their word. They refused, with three marked exceptions, to march in the parade. The regimental bands—all but the naval reserve band—failed to appear with their regiments, forcing the commanding officers to fall back on the enlisted drum and bugle corps.

The naval reserve band, marching in the rear of the first division with the naval militia, was the first band the public saw. All along the route it was loudly cheered.

The other two bands, the Svithiod and the Wanhem lodge, both were in the Swedish division. They also were applauded. In that way only did the crowd show that it knew about the dispute started by the musicians. No evidence that the players were missed was apparent. The buglers blew stirring calls, the drums rattled merrily, and the scene was as military as could have been desired.

City Captured by Visitors.

In the throng which watched the shifting picture were visitors in great quantity. The people from the small towns and the country poured steadily into Chicago all during the day. It was estimated last night that at least 100,000 strangers were in town. From their ranks came the patient persons who spread newspapers on the pavements at 6 o'clock or earlier and sat down to wait for the procession to appear.

The restaurants showed in the evening that the city was crowded. For the first time during the week the eating places were not able to accommodate all their patrons. Many persons were obliged to wait long and as patiently as they might for seats at the tables. The hotels are full to the limit. Boarding houses have profited by the festival. The stores yesterday afternoon were in possession of out of town shoppers.

Today and tomorrow at least the crowds will continue unlessened, if they do not increase today.

Parade Proves Great Magnet.

Apparently arrivals were timed with the centennial parade in mind as the first thing to be seen. Judging by their actions during the evening they were in no sense disappointed. They saw four regiments of Chicago militiamen, including its "Dandy First" and its crack cavalry regiment go briskly by. They beheld the heavy guns of the artillery and the deadly rapid fire guns of the naval militia dragged along under company escort. They watched a succession of independent military organizations file past. They beheld as spick and span a display of fire fighting equipment and fire fighters themselves as any city could offer, and for contrast they saw the red shirted remnant of the old fire volunteers. Then their gaze passed to tableaux supplied by the Swedes and the Swiss of Chicago, and for the concluding three-quarters of an hour they witnessed the passage of industrial exhibit after exhibit.

Automobiles a Parade Feature.

Many were beautiful in design, many more were spectacular, and all were interesting. A line of automobiles brought up the end—the first time horseless vehicles have figured in any parade in the city of Chicago.

The parade formed in Harrison and adjacent streets, and the head of it moved from Harrison street and Michigan avenue north in the avenue at 8:15 o'clock. A few minutes later it swung west in Jackson boulevard to State street. Until the reviewing stand was reached the route was north in State to Washington, west to Franklin, south to Madison, east to Dearborn, and south to Jackson boulevard.

Mayor Harrison rode with C. A. Plamondon at the head of the parade as far as the reviewing stand, where he and Mr. Plamondon alighted, followed by the foreign consuls, visiting mayors, city aldermen, and the officials of the parade.

How the Parade Passed by.

Four companies of police, commanded by Chief O'Neill, marched at the head of the column. After them rode Marshal George Fabyan, Chief of Staff Col. E. C. Young, and their aids. The carriage containing Mayor Harrison and Mr. Plamondon was just behind, being closely attended by a long line of carriages in which were seated the entire consular corps of Chicago.

Brig. Gen. George M. Moulton commanded the brigade of Illinois National Guardsmen. With his aids he rode immediately behind the consuls and city councilmen.

The First regiment led the military part of the parade; the blare of bugles and the roll of drums heralded their approach. In their white helmets and natty gray uniforms the young soldiers looked as if they had never seen more serious service than parade duty. But over their heads floated a flag that bore the stains of Cuban storms, and at the sight the crowd remembered that many of these same soldier boys had lain in the trenches

RUNS DOWN A CROWD

Three Horse Fire Truck Strikes Crush During the Parade.

PEOPLE FIGHT TO ESCAPE.

After Terror Is Over Police Find Two Women Hurt; No One Killed.

Tightly wedged in a crowd at Michigan avenue and Harrison street last night men and women fought and screamed in efforts to escape a heavy fire truck drawn by three horses which was bearing down on them at full speed.

For a moment the driver checked his horses, then he seemed to lose control again and the horses plunged into the crowd.

Spectators turned away horrified, but in another minute the horses were stopped. Many people suffered bruises in the crush, but only two were seriously hurt.

The Injured.

Wolf, Mrs. Joseph, 56 Johnson street, daughter of Mrs. Karl; bruised about head and shoulders; picked up unconscious and taken home.

The truck, from the house at Michigan avenue and Washington street, was going to Twelfth street in answer to an alarm which later proved to be false. It raced down the west side of the avenue while the parade marched north on the east side.

The police were able to clear the way for it until it approached Harrison street. There the boulevard was filled with automobiles, carriages, and men ready to join in the parade. When the driver of the truck saw the danger he applied the brakes, but only momentarily checked the truck.

Crowd Terror Stricken.

Men, women, and children were so massed that when the three horses dashed at them they could not escape. Some fell upon their knees in a vain endeavor to find a way of escape, while men turned on women behind them and roughly pushed them aside. Women fell to the street, and cries of fright could be heard above the cries of horror from spectators of the scene. It seemed that many lives would be lost in the struggle.

The next moment, however, the driver had regained control of the horses and was backing the truck out of the crowd.

By this time policemen hurried into the throng, checked the panic, and made a search for the injured, finding only two seriously hurt.

Woman Trampled by Crowd.

Several other accidents were reported. Catherine Dwyer, 1310 Wabash avenue, was knocked down and trampled in the crowd at Jackson boulevard and Wabash avenue.

An unidentified man fell down a stairway at 110 Franklin street and suffered from concussion of the brain.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sebastian, 947 Carmen avenue, was struck by a stone while standing at 85 Washington street and knocked unconscious. Police were unable to learn who threw the stone.

MILLER CASE ENDED.

President Roosevelt Insists He Can Recognize No Union.

DECISION DECLARED FINAL.

Announcement Made to Labor Leaders at Conference in White House.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt will not dismiss Foreman Miller from the public printing office because of the union's objection to the man. That this is his final decision was announced formally tonight by the president at a conference with Samuel Gompers, James Duncan, John Mitchell, James O'Connell, and Frank Morrison, representing the American Federation of Labor.

The federation leaders gave no indication whether or not it is their intention to carry the case still further and attempt to influence the national election. It is known, however, that the conservative element is in the majority in the executive council, and every effort will be made to keep the labor unions out of politics next year.

Official Statement Issued.

At the close of the conference a statement was given out to the press quoting the president as saying to the labor leaders:

"As regards the Miller case, I have little to add to what I have already said. In dealing with it I ask you to remember that I am dealing purely with the relation of the government to its employés. I must govern my action by the laws of the land, which I am sworn to administer, and which differentiate any case in which the government of the United States is a party from all other cases whatsoever.

"These laws are enacted for the benefit of the whole people, and cannot and must not be construed as permitting discrimination against some of the people. I am president of all the people of the United States without regard to creed, color, birthplace, occupation, or social conditions. My aim is to do equal and exact justice as among them all.

Can Recognize No Union.

"In the employment and dismissal of men in the government service I can no more recognize the fact that a man does or does not belong to a union as being for or against him than I can recognize the fact that he is a Protestant or a Catholic, a Jew or a Gentile as being for or against him.

"In the communications sent me by various labor organizations protesting against the retention of Miller in the government printing office, the grounds alleged are twofold: (1) That he is a nonunion man; (2) that he is not personally fit.

"The question of his personal fitness is one to be settled in the routine of administrative detail, and cannot be allowed to conflict with or to complicate the larger question of governmental discrimination for or against him or any other man because he is or is not a member of a union.

"This is the only question now before me for decision, and as to this my decision is final."

TROOPS CLOSE PAPER.

Arrest Staff of Victor, Colo., Record as Strike Development.

WAS ORGAN OF MINERS' UNION

Men Are Marched to Camp, but New Force Gets the Edition Out.

Victor, Colo., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—A coup in the strike of the miners in this district was executed at 11 o'clock, when the militia closed the office of the Victor Record by the arrest of the entire working staff then at the office.

The Record has favored the miners' side of the controversy, and this is the cause for this action.

Gens. Bell and Chase announced earlier in the evening that the people of the district would be given object lessons of all those whose feelings would lead them to criticise the military. Gen. Chase at 11 o'clock, in command of a picked squad of fifty infantrymen and forty cavalry, marched to the office of the Record on South Fourth street.

Was Union's Organ.

The Record is the official paper of the local miners' union and of the Western Federation of Miners. Since the beginning of the strike the Record has printed the official statements of the strike committee and its sympathies were all for the union. Kyner was considered one of the strongest union men in the district. For a number of days editorials and statements have appeared in the Record which incensed the military officers, and it was decided to close up the paper and thus do away with this encouragement for the strikers.

It is expected by the military that the action will stop the publication of the daily statements issued by the miners in the district. For weeks Editor Kyner has been under surveillance and it was thought at one time that his arrest would be made last week.

Marched Away Under Guard.

Because of the late hour at which the arrests were made there were but few people on the streets, and those who saw the newspaper men marching up the street under heavy guard were awed by the martial showing. It is expected some of the prisoners will be released before morning. At midnight they were examined in Gen. Bell's private office.

As soon as the working force had been placed under arrest another force of men was secured to print the Record for the morning's issue. A squad of soldiers were sent down from the camp to arrest these men. The doors of the Record office was locked and bolted, and the officer in charge decided not to break in. Gen. Chase says if any defamatory matter appears in the paper he will take action against those who work in the office tonight.

"GRAFT" REIGNS, CONFESSES MAYOR

Admits There Is Dishonesty in Almost Every City Department and Says It Is Impossible to Stop It.

HOPES TO CATCH SOME.

Police and Various Inspection Bureaus Believed to Be the Ones in Which Evidence Is Being Sought.

"If I could fire all the men I suspect of 'grafting' they would be jumping out of every window in the city hall.

"There would be a worse house cleaning than there was when Swift came in.

With these and other frank declarations Mayor Harrison yesterday expressed himself on the subject of municipal service. He asserted that his hands were tied; that convincing proof could not be secured to establish guilt, but that in the remaining months of his administration some means would be found to clean out a number of departments.

An illustration of the mayor's ideas was given during the day by the suspension of Sidewalk Inspector Sullivan on charges filed by the board of local improvements, alleging that he conducted a private business in sidewalk repairs. He was charged with inspecting sidewalks and reporting them as requiring repairs, and then sending letters to the property owners, in the name of a contracting firm, claiming that money could be saved by having the work done by this firm rather than by assessment.

Mayor Makes First "Confession."

Mr. Harrison never before allowed the public to understand that he knew of widespread and systematic corruption in the city departments. One purpose of his doing so yesterday was to show why he does not hold department heads to strict accountability for the conduct of the employés under them.

Suspicions were not proofs, he said, and proofs were necessary to discharge a man under the civil service laws. He declared it to be an impossibility to get sufficient evidence in many known cases.

The police department, he said, was full of suspected cases of corruption. Wholesale removals would be the result if the power to discharge without question were in his hands.

"Ask Chief O'Neill," he said, "how many policemen he would like to discharge for the 'good of the service.' We know there is 'grafting,' grafting in every possible line, but we can't prove it.'

"I never undertake to defend any department of the city when there is a charge of corruption brought against it," said the mayor. "I know just what the temptations are. Wherever there is an inspection department, for instance, there is a chance for graft. The inspector is to inspect something that a citizen may not want inspected, and he may reach the city employé with money and prevent it.

Why Reynolds Escapes Blame.

"Department heads cannot be blamed for this or held responsible for it. Their hands are tied. They cannot discharge a man whom they suspect of doing wrong. They are obliged to get proofs, and any one knows how difficult it is to prove a case of bribery or 'grafting.' Yet until they get these proofs the man must be retained in the service.

"For that reason I do not hold Dr. Reynolds responsible for what happens in the health department. If he could have a free hand in discharging men, it would be proper to hold him accountable.

"Now I'll just tell you how hard it is to prove a case. Some time ago I knew that a man was getting money by 'grafting,' and charges were preferred against him. We scraped up every bit of evidence we could secure and laid it before the civil service commission. The commissioners heard the case and sent down word to me that the man could not be discharged on such evidence.

"Bluff" Where Hearing Failed.

"Then I told the man that some new evidence had been found in the case. 'Now, if you want to push your defense,' he was told, 'it will result not only in your being discharged but likely in your going to Joliet.'

"'Will you let me resign?' he asked. We told him he could resign as quick as he wanted to and that would be the end of the case. He did so. We accomplished his removal by these tactics, but we never could have done it by proving it.

"Take this Gildea case. Now there's a howling shame for such a hearing to be carried before the Civil Service commission. Here it's been dragging day after day. It's one of the most nonsensical things which have been seen in the city hall.

"I don't intend to name any of the men suspected. You can ask Chief O'Neill how many men he's been tracking down trying to get some evidence of the things he knows are being done. He fails, of course.

Wants Ax Put in His Hands.

"It will be next to impossible to better conditions until the legislature gives the mayor the power to summary discharge. Until the civil service law has been amended so that a suspected person can be removed without trial, conditions are apt to remain as they are. I know that is a dangerous weapon to place in the hands of the administrative officers, but which is worse—that or unrestrained 'grafting?'

"The federal government has this power. Give it to me and I'll do something with it. That's the only reason for my making this sort of a talk—just to show why I do not hold department heads like Dr. Reynolds responsible for the integrity of their subordinates, and to show the necessity for a change in the civil service law if you want to get better service from city employés.

Graft Is Everywhere.

"It isn't in the city alone that you find 'graft.' It's everywhere—federal government and state."

From the mayor's talk it was understood that the police and the various inspection departments—building, sanitary, and others, and the board of local improvements—were the ones under suspicion and would be the ones in which he hoped to land cases of grafting "in the next eighteen months."

Chief O'Neill was asked, as the mayor suggested, how many men he would like to discharge on suspicion.

"I shan't undertake to tell you that before dinner," he said.

ALL HANG BACK EXCEPT YATES.

SCORES GREET DENEEN.

Pay Roll Brigade Is Busy Carrying Out Orders of Their Chief Executive.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Candidates for the republican nomination for governor spent the day watching each other. Incidentally they met and talked with all the people they could, but each one declared he had not yet made up his mind whether to make the race or not. It was a case of each one waiting for some one of the others to take the initiative, and the prediction was freely made during the day that once one would come out in the open the others would all follow with the speed and regularity of a falling row of dominoes when the first one is started.

In the meantime Gov. Yates, of course, continued to make hay while the sun shone. He rode out to the fair grounds on his black horse, hitched it to the railing around the main building, and went in to put himself on exhibition and to receive all comers.

During the afternoon he had an opportunity to make a speech at the dedication of the new dairy building, but unfortunately the audience was an extremely small one. It was explained that this was not due to any lack of appreciation of the governor's oratory by the multitude, but a trotting race was going on at the same time and it attracted the crowd.

Deneen Given Earnest Welcome.

State's Attorney Charles S. Deneen came in this morning accompanied by Roy O. West, and his arrival practically completed the list of candidates looked for.

Mr. Deneen had really a good day of it. He spent the afternoon at the fair, and both there and in the corridors of the hotel and in his own rooms in the evening he was most heartily greeted by every one he met.

He renewed a great many friendships, formed while he was a member of the legislature, and shook hands with a number of old time acquaintances from southern Illinois, where he lived before he moved to Chicago, and when the day was done he remarked: "I am pretty tired, but I have had an enjoyable time of it."

Deneen and Lowden the Stars.

The fact is Mr. Deneen and Col. Lowden are the two star attractions here. They are a pair every one wants to meet. It is possible it is because Attorney General Hamlin, Gov. Yates, Secretary of State Rose, and Lawrence Y. Sherman are old faces with most of the people attending the fair, while the two Chicagoans are novelties, and on that ground worth cultivating. Anyhow, nearly every one wanted to shake hands and talk with them.

One thing was noticeable, and that was that both Col. Lowden and State's Attorney Deneen were assiduously cultivated by what friends of Senator Shelby M. Cullom there are in Springfield.

While the senator still refuses to make any public statement as to his position, it is well known that he is going to do all he can to defeat Gov. Yates for renomination, and, judging from the actions of his lieutenants today, it would look as if he thought one or the other of the Chicago candidates would be the man to do it.

A feature of the gathering is the large number of Yates officeholders who have been summoned to Springfield. The town is literally overrun by the pay roll brigade and the report is there are more coming. There is not a public institution in the state which has not its representatives, and they are all busy extolling the virtues of the governor who put them in office.

"Doc" Jamieson Seeks a Cinch.

"Dr." T. N. Jamieson got to town this afternoon in a rare good humor, and at once announced he had come down from Hyde Park to look the gubernatorial situation over so he could advise his friends and followers who would be the best candidate to tie to. The "doctor," frankly acknowledged the object of himself and those likely to follow his advice was to "get on the winner," as racetrack people express it, and they wanted to march with the strongest battalions.

"We are from Missouri and they will have to show us," said the "doctor."

"We do not intend to get on to any dead ones. Furthermore, we are not going to buy tickets in any winter books. We have got to know whether our horse is going to start before we lay down our money on him."

A large majority of the Sherman "thirty-nine" in the lower house of the last general assembly came in this afternoon for a banquet tomorrow night and enough more will be here tomorrow to account for all but three or four of the number.

Gen. Wheaton Hero of the Day.

There was one man here today who received more attention than all candidates, and yet he has nothing to do with politics at all. He is Maj. Gen. Wheaton, U. S. A., retired, and he came to preside over a reunion of the Eighth Illinois infantry, of which he was colonel after Gov. Oglesby.

J. Dan Hogan, who wants to be secretary of state, was added to the list of arrivals this morning.

Governor Asks for Help.

There are republicans in northern Illinois on whom the governor evidently depends for help. They have received letters from him, written on official letter head note, as follows:

State of Illinois, executive department, Springfield, Sept. 21, 1903.—My Dear Friend: I take it for granted that you will be at the state fair during the three days beginning Wednesday, Sept. 30. I hope you will not fail to introduce me to such men from your vicinity as may be here at that time. RICHARD YATES.

This indicates that the governor is determined to come in personal contact with as many voters as possible.

Lorimer Goes to Capital.

Republican politicians who have been saying that Congressman Lorimer would not figure in the gubernatorial campaign may be disappointed. Mr. Lorimer left for Springfield last night to participate in the preliminary maneuverings of state fair week.

There is much speculation as to whether Lorimer will stick to Gov. Yates and try to get him delegates in Cook county. All the big politicians confide to their intimate friends that they know the congressman is not in favor of Yates' renomination. "But how is he going to turn him down?" they ask. "He is under obligations to the governor and has promised to support him. Probably he will to the extent of having the delegates he can control vote for Yates on the first roll call."

The Chicago and Cook county contingent crowded the outgoing trains on all roads leading to the capital.

Write Letter for Lowden.

Seventy Evanstonians, the friends of Frank O. Lowden, drafted an open letter last night in which they express high consideration for Mr. Lowden's personal character and confidence in his ability and fitness to administer the office of governor of the state. The letter praises the manner in which Mr. Lowden, by his unaided labors, has won his way from the common experience of a farmer boy to a member of high standing of the Chicago bar, and urges his nomination as the republican candidate for governor.

CHICAGO'S MAYOR STARTING ON 31 MILE RIDE.

Mayor Harrison In The Wilds of Idaho.

On the banks of the Snake river the man on the horse was known as "Napoleon" until he kicked vigorously. Then they changed it to the "Man on Horseback." He admits that he has a fine, graceful seat.

The horse is Old Snowball. The man is Mayor Harrison.

"I had a thirty-one mile ride on Snowball that day, I want to tell you," said the mayor.

"Was the picture taken before or after?" he was asked.

The mayor looked for an instant as if he might be feeling the emotions of George Washington on being discovered with the hatchet at the cherry tree. Honesty prevailed in the end.

"Before," he said slowly, as if it grieved him to think what a picture taken afterwards would have been like.

This photograph is one of the collection taken by the mayor, City Electrician Ellicott, and Graham H. Harris on their recent trip through Yellowstone park and the Snake river district.

RURAL DEMOCRATS SHY.

COUNTRY POLITICIANS STAY AWAY FROM HEADQUARTERS.

Harrison's Lack of Popularity Outside Cook County Is Evidenced by the Failure of His Committee to Find Persons to Welcome—John P. Hopkins Is Said to Repudiate Roger C. Sullivan's Efforts in His Name to Bring About "Harmony."

Mayor Harrison's political field marshals are having the fact brought home to them that when it comes to state politics he is not a drawing card. Up to 6 o'clock last evening, after four days of hustling, pulling, hauling, and posing by City Sealer James A. Quinn, Capt. Adrian C. Anson, and Capt. James H. Farrell, only twenty-five Illinois democrats outside of Cook county had registered at the Chicago Democracy's centennial headquarters.

These are unknown in political life. Inquiry failed to reveal their identity with politics of the most remote description or as politicians even of distant rural importance. The register carried a list of names that filled twenty-one pages, but 95 per cent of them were residents of Chicago, city hall employes, and members of the organization.

The headquarters with their refreshment annex and attendant wire pullers have been an attraction for New York drummers and other hotel guests, presumably democrats, from Indiana, Kentucky, and other neighboring states.

Drummers Lend Encouragement.

The drummers all said that if the candidate is to be a western man New York would be for Harrison. "I belong to Tammany," declared one of them, "and we have not forgotten the time Harrison came to New York with the marching club to help us elect Mayor Van Wyck. Any time Tammany can return the favor, just call on us. If Tammany can nominate Harrison he will be the candidate."

According to a confidant of the Hopkins ring, Mr. Hopkins repudiates Roger C. Sullivan's efforts in his name and behalf to bring about harmony. Evidently the followers of the state chairman appointed on the reception committee share his sentiments, for they have taken no part in the function. It is understood that "Doc" Watson, former chairman of the state committee, called at the headquarters, but failed to register.

Republicans Pressed Into Service.

The club undertook last night to have a general reception. Unable to make a success of it with democrats, republicans of both Chicago and the state at large were pressed into service, including several aldermen, republican legislators, county officials, and visiting politicians.

"The public has been misinformed," explained Assistant Commissioner of Public Works Brennan, "as to the motives of this club in keeping open house. They are not so much political as to create a better feeling between men of the city and of the country districts. The object is not to capture the state for Harrison, but to get legislation for Chicago."

This, however, was only a change of tactics. The original plans contemplated a crowd of down state democrats, who would commit themselves to the work of carrying out the harmony program.

WOLCOTT WINS EASY VICTORY.

Former Senator Is Sustained by Republicans of Colorado—Roosevelt Is Indorsed.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 29.—Former United States Senator Edward O. Wolcott won a decisive victory today in the contest before the republican state central committee between the rival factions in this city and afterward in the state convention. The committee, by a vote of 71 to 18, placed the Wolcott delegates on the temporary roll call of the convention, and the convention by a unanimous vote made the temporary roll call permanent.

Mr. Wolcott was chosen as temporary chairman without opposition, and in a carefully prepared speech he criticised his opponents in the party and pleaded for harmony.

A strongly worded resolution indorsing President Roosevelt for reelection was adopted unanimously without reference to the committee on resolutions.

Only one office, that of justice of the Supreme court, is to be filled this year, and for this Chief Justice John Campbell was honored with renomination by acclamation.

HANNA SCORES JOHNSON.

DECLARES HIS DEMOCRACY TENDS TOWARD SOCIALISM.

Addresses Two Big Meetings at Berlin Heights and Sandusky and Throws Off Reserve Which Has Characterized His Former Remarks About the Cleveland Mayor — Says Latter's Doctrine Is Akin to Anarchy and Victory Would Cause Alarm.

Sandusky, O., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Senator Hanna today dropped the reserve which has been thrown about his remarks concerning Mayor Tom L. Johnson and in two great meetings, in Berlin Heights this afternoon and here this evening, he handled Cleveland's mayor and his followers without gloves.

In referring to Mayor Johnson's attitude upon public questions Senator Hanna did not hesitate to say that the tendency of the democracy in this campaign was toward socialism, which he characterized as akin to anarchy. He declared that Mayor Johnson was appealing to the baser instincts of his hearers and endeavoring to create discord and dissatisfaction in the hope of advancing his own ambitions and selfish ends.

The senator's companions for the day were Col. Herrick and Senator W. G. Harding of Marion, the nominees for governor and lieutenant governor, respectively.

"Appeals to Prejudices."

Senator Hanna said in part: "Tom L. Johnson, by appealing to prejudices, by holding up the picture of those who are unfortunate, and by holding out false hopes to the ambitious, is endeavoring to bring together all elements which are at discord with our principles and with them to serve the purpose of an ambitious and selfish man."

After cautioning the people that a democratic victory in Ohio this year or a lessening of the republican majority would be taken as a token of alarm by business men throughout the country and a forerunner of less prosperous conditions, the senator took up Johnson and his platform again, saying:

"It is impossible that the American people can be made to approve the teachings of Henry George, or that a democrat on principle can believe that centralization of power, or fraternalism, belong to true democracy.

Socialism Held to Be Near Anarchy.

"The present platform of the democrats arraigns class against class, the rich against the poor. Under our system of government every man has an equal opportunity with every other man. We invite those to our shores who come filled with this belief, willing to work for their own advancement, but we do not extend the hand of fellowship or invite from foreign shores those who would come to destroy the foundations of our government and teach that every man has the opportunity to get something for nothing. That I call socialism, and closely allied to it is anarchy. If for no other reason, Ohio should turn its back on that teaching because our beloved president was the victim of the damnable heresy."

Senator Hanna in a Wreck.

Berlin Heights, O., Sept. 29.—The private electric car carrying Senator Hanna and others from Cleveland to the republican meeting here struck a derailing switch three miles east of Berlin Heights today and jumped the track while running at a rapid rate. All the occupants of the car were thrown into a heap at one end of the coach, but aside from being badly shaken up all escaped serious injury.

WILL RECOUNT ALL BALLOTS.

Result in Eighteenth Ward Arouses Hopes of Unseating Democratic County Commissioners.

After the result of the Eighteenth ward recount was communicated to him, County Judge Carter yesterday decided to order a recount of all the ballots cast in the city at the November election for county commissioner. It had been intended to drop the recount, but the showing made by the defeated republicans has evidenced there is more than a possibility of seating a republican. In the Eighteenth ward the democrats suffered a big loss. R. B. Organ lost 205 votes and Commissioner Budinger 147 votes.

Seeks Injunction Against Swearing.

Laporte, Ind., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—James Povlock today asked Judge Richter, in the Circuit court, to enjoin his neighbor, Hamilton Hoover, from swearing at Povlock's children. Povlock is the father of five children, who, it is said, refuse to attend school for the reason that they are compelled to pass the Hoover house and are thus forced to listen to his profane language.

HUGE TANGLE IN GOTHAM.

POLITICAL SITUATION IS BADLY MESSED BY TAMMANY.

Republicans and Fusionists Left Practically Without Candidates They Can Vote For, Although Those They Have Named Refused to Be Dropped —Low Will Stay as He Is and New Men to Replace Grout and Fornes—Primary Law in Wyo.

New York, Sept. 29.—[Special.]—The political situation in reference to the city election is so mixed it resembles a pousse café. Shall it be a new fusion ticket? Shall Low withdraw as well as Grout and Fornes? Or shall only Grout and Fornes be asked to retire? Should Grout and Fornes refuse to leave the ticket, what then?

These are some of the many questions which demanded a speedy answer by the fusion leaders today, and for the hour belittled even the war of destruction Tammany is waging on the democracy of Brooklyn. The trouble lay in the fact that the only democrats on the ticket had been persuaded to become candidates of the political organization which they had denounced two years before and which, according to the fusion plan of campaign, was just as bad as ever.

Grout Says He Will Accept.

Grout declared this afternoon he would accept the Tammany nomination if offered to him. Fornes tried to make the public believe there was "nothing in it." When Senator Platt and Bruce, the chairman of the republican county committee, heard Grout's view they said it was high time for the fusionists to look around for another candidate for controller. This further angered Grout, who fails to see why a politician cannot retain the respect of all sides and at the same time be a candidate of Tammany and fusion, and at night he gave out an interview in which he said that nothing but murder could make such a vacancy on the ticket as was desired.

Seek Way Out of Trouble.

In the meantime there were many conferences. The executive committee of the Citizens' union held a meeting and decided unanimously to be wise and ask Grout and Fornes to retire. This was followed by a meeting at the residence of the mayor of representatives of all organizations which participated in the selection of candidates. At all these conferences the possibility of the withdrawal of the mayor as well as others was considered.

The conference at the mayor's home lasted till late tonight, and it was decided Low should stay on the ticket but that Grout and Fornes must go. The Citizens' union will name two democrats in their places and the republican city convention will be reconvened and the Citizens' union candidates named.

The difficulties of the situation are added to by the primary election law. The nominations of Low, Grout, and Fornes have been filed in the offices of the county clerks by the republican city convention, and even if the republicans had not filed them and refused to file them they could be mandamused. No candidate can be taken off a ticket except by his voluntary act after he is so nominated. The only way in which a revised fusion ticket can be put on the ballot, in case murder is not done and Grout remains, would be to place it under the Citizens' union emblem. The Citizens' union can nominate a new ticket, as it gets its place on the ballot by filing of petitions; these petitions have not yet been filed. Thus the republicans may have to vote under the "city's" emblem to avoid voting for Grout and Fornes.

It is the program of the fusionists to ask Grout and Fornes to withdraw immediately after they have been nominated by the democratic city convention Thursday night.

Murphy Seeks Test of Strength.

The meeting of the democratic city committee tonight saw no change in the plan of Murphy to nominate McClellan, Grout, and Fornes, nor the plan of the Brooklyn machine to fight the candidates of Tammany on the floor. Murphy courts a fight now in order to show his strength. In the convention he will be able to put his ticket through, and the McLaughlin machine, realizing it is fighting for its life, will knife the ticket and may furnish a means of placing an independent democratic ticket in the field. Only the fear the regularity of the delegates to the state convention next year will be questioned by Tammany prevents the issuance of orders to the entire Brooklyn delegation to walk out of the convention.

Hugh McLaughlin's newspaper organ tonight in an elaborate editorial told Murphy that McClellan would be cut badly in Brooklyn by the regular democrats.

James Shevlin, speaking for Hugh McLaughlin tonight, told Charles F. Murphy if McClellan is nominated Brooklyn will vote to make it unanimous, but will not accept Grout and Fornes without further instructions from the Brooklyn executive committee. The only thing settled that was not clear before is that Brooklyn will not bolt. Some republican lawyers believe the city republican convention has power to reconvene and name a new ticket.

Jerome May Turn to Tammany.

The position of District Attorney Jerome, whose "whirlwind campaign" was the feature of the canvass on the fusionist side two years ago, and who has heralded his dissatisfaction with Mayor Low's administration, made a declaration tonight at a "beefsteak dinner" which is construed as signifying that under certain conditions he might give his adherence to the Tammany hall ticket.

"If," Mr. Jerome is quoted as saying, "a guaranty be given before the Tammany hall convention on Thursday next of the sincerity of the movement, and that those men are sincere and honest, I am going to stand by it, and if those men are handled as they should be, and if men are put in nomination whom honest men can support and people will say, 'We have an honest movement,' I will encourage it.

"I have stood for certain things all my life, and will continue to stand for those things for the balance of it, no matter where the rest of the gang goes. I will not stand for a ticket three-quarters of which belongs to another party."

SAY ROCKEFELLER ENDED SUIT.

Reported in Cincinnati That He Settled Keene-Harriman War to Improve Stock Market.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 29.—It is said in legal circles that John D. Rockefeller, operating through his brother William and others, settled the controversy between the Harriman and the Keene interests in the Union and Southern Pacific companies and that the ending of the litigation is only part of a general movement for the improvement of the stock market. It is generally believed that there has been such an agreement as will secure in harmonious management the control of the transcontinental trade of the entire country.

GET CLEVELAND; LOSE ROOSEVELT.

EXPLAINS HIS REFUSAL.

Story Is That Executive Would Not Attend if Democratic Leader Was to Be Present.

New York, Sept. 29.—[Special.]—A curious story was told tonight by friends of President Finley of the College of the City of New York and Edward Lauterbach as to how it came about that President Roosevelt did not attend the installation of President Finley at the college today.

It seems that both Prof. Finley and Mr. Lauterbach visited Oyster Bay and asked Mr. Roosevelt to attend the installation, and the president agreed to be there and make a speech. Then he asked who would be the other orators.

The president was informed that ex-President Cleveland had consented to speak. Then, according to the story, President Roosevelt insisted that Mr. Cleveland should not be present—why, the president did not explain.

Already Accepted by Cleveland.

The story went that Prof. Finley and Mr. Lauterbach told the president that Mr. Cleveland had accepted the invitation to speak at the ceremonies, and that it would be most discourteous to tell him that he could not come.

However, President Roosevelt, according to people who said they knew all about it, said unless Mr. Cleveland could be put off he, the president, could not attend.

President Finley and Mr. Lauterbach declined to inform Mr. Cleveland that he must not come, and then President Roosevelt, it is said, wrote declaring that it would be impossible for him to be present.

Letter from President.

Although the president is said to have declined to attend the ceremonies, he sent a letter of congratulation, in which he said:

The day marks a new epoch in the history of the College of the City of New York and it is therefore of special and great interest to all who are interested—as every good American should be interested—in the cause of popular education.

Nothing is more distinctive of our American republic than the peculiar fostering care which, through their representatives, the people have assumed over the education of all the citizens in primary matters and of all those who care to go beyond primary matters in those additional branches necessary as prerequisites for the attainment of leadership in the great professions.

Education as given in the schools and colleges cannot of itself fit us for good citizenship. But the lack of it would assuredly render us unfit.

Next to the home it is the school, the college, the university, which do most to determine the efficiency of the individual as a citizen in this great self-governing republic of ours, and therefore those who are to shape our citizenship of the future put the nation in a special sense under obligations to them.

Seventy universities and colleges were represented, and Gov. Odell, Senator Depew, Grover Cleveland, and Presidents Hadley of Yale, Schurman of Cornell, and Butler of Columbia delivered addresses.

Former President Cleveland Speaks.

Former President Cleveland said in part:

I cannot rid myself at this moment of the thought that education is a selfish, useless thing if it is to be hid in a napkin, or if it is to be hugged to the breast by its possessor as a mere individual prize, and it seems to me that the existence of schools and colleges in this land of ours can scarcely be deemed important except as they are the sources from which education may be distributed through many channels, for the enrichment of the body politic, and the stimulation of patriotic thoughtfulness among our people.

If we have outgrown the simplicity of our early national life, if with the growth of abnormal enterprises and a mad struggle for wealth, a constant and acute solicitation for the country's weal has been subordinated, and if in our social and business life we can see signs of a cleavage that may divide our people into distinct and unsympathetic classes, we should be watchful.

If increasing learning is to be made only a mere ornamental accompaniment to the unwholesome and pitiable ostentation of riches and pride, it should be the prayer of every patriotic citizen that American education may never be so degraded, that it may always remain true to its mission, a steadying force against all untoward conditions.

During the afternoon the corner stone of the new building for the college was laid with appropriate ceremonies. Gov. B. B. Odell delivered the principal address.

WOMEN WAR VETERANS SHOW VALOR IN PERSONAL COMBAT.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. Isabelle Worial Ball, Mrs. Fannie Parker, and Mrs. Harriet Scribner of the Mary Sherman Miles council of the Women's Auxiliary of Spanish war veterans tonight won their fight for admission to the annual meeting of the national council, although it took a hand to hand fight and a United States court injunction to secure victory.

There was a personal encounter this noon, when Mrs. Parker and Miss Cornelia Clay, national treasurer general, stepped to the door of the Second regiment armory and demanded admission. "Step forward and give the password," challenged Mrs. Flora Lewis, president of the national auxiliary. Mrs. Ball whispered "Rough Rider." Mrs. Lewis smiled sarcastically and declared that the password was stale.

Mrs. Ball and her fellow-delegates had edged gradually to the door. There was a jam and the insurgents would have forced the door back had not a dozen of the stoutest delegates stood just inside.

The door shut with a slam, catching Mrs. Ball's fingers in the crack and injuring her seriously.

Mrs. Scribner was thumped in the chest and knocked over. Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Clay were badly shaken up, but not bodily injured. This afternoon the national officers were served with an injunction. The evening session voted to admit the trio of insurgents.

It was voted to send a message of sympathy to Mrs. Jefferson Davis and a telegram expressing cordial greetings to Mrs. McKinley.

JEALOUS: ENDS LIVES OF TWO.

Retired Farmer Who Left Wife and Children for Love of Girl Commits Double Crime.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 29.—George Worthington Garwood, a wealthy coal broker, aged 65 years, today shot and killed Hilda Vogel, aged 22, and then killed himself in a room at 131 Moultrie street. Jealousy was the cause. Garwood was a retired farmer. His wife and nine children are still living. For the last few years he has been occupying himself by dealing in coal land options in and around his native town, and was quite successful. This business necessitated his living in Pittsburg, and two years ago it is said he became infatuated with Hilda Vogel, who was a waitress in the restaurant where he took his meals.

EVERY AFFLICTED MAN KNOWS WHAT is, and that he must be cured of this vitality-sapping malady before he can be restored to perfect Nerve-control, Power and Vigor. I cure Varicocele in a few days by the Richardson Method — a safe and practically painless treatment.

ORIGINAL DISCOVERIES.

I made original discoveries a number of years ago while investigating the poisons (ptomaines) in stagnant blood (Varicocele) that enabled me not only to cure Varicocele, but at the same time to cure the resulting diseases.

Nervous Prostration, Loss of Memory, Brain-Fag, General Debility, and Special Loss of Vital Power can never be cured until the Varicocele is first removed.

The treatment of these delicate diseases is so important to every man that I will not go into details in a newspaper announcement. If you sincerely desire health I will give and examination at my downtown office, explaining fully my methods and their application to the radical cure of your special disease. I do not ask you to take my treatment. All I require is that you thoroughly investigate the professional work I am doing. The selection of your doctor to treat this disease is the most important decision you may ever have to make. Successful treatment means "life worth living," social success, business ability and the possession of that magnetic vitality that comes from the knowledge of being the possessor of perfect health.

I have for years been the

PARKS MAY SPLIT UNION.

PREDICTED THAT IRONWORKERS ARE NEAR DISRUPTION.

Domination of New York Leader Has Aroused Strong Opposition in Kansas City Convention—Resolution to Assess Organization to Provide Defense Fund for His Local Is Opposed —Buchanan Will Withdraw from Election Unless Address Is Supported

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—It is predicted by some of the delegates to the bridge and iron workers' convention tonight that the convention is on the eve of disruption. The domination of Sam Parks has raised a determined opposition, which is backing President Buchanan, and it is not believed the two factions can be kept out of a struggle much longer.

The sentiment against Parks was intensified today when he caused a resolution to be introduced raising by a general assessment a defense fund for his New York local in its war with the employers.

Seeks to Handle Big Fund.

Parks would naturally handle much of the money. He wishes each member of the organization in the United States to be assessed $1, which would create a fund of $80,000 to start with. He also will, it is stated, present a resolution for the convention's consideration providing for the assessment of one day's wages against every iron worker in the United States. This would, it is estimated, raise a fund of $500,000. The anti-Parks delegates are not in favor of either plan.

This stirred up so much opposition that either he will be deposed before the new officers are elected or his opponents will walk out of the convention, so they declare.

President Buchanan's address will come up for consideration tomorrow, and it is said that Buchanan will not be a candidate for reelection if his address is not indorsed by the convention.

The convention today adopted resolutions denouncing President Roosevelt's action in the Miller case as unfriendly and unjust to trade unionism.

Silver Workers Demand Advance.

Meriden, Conn., Sept. 29.—A demand for a nine hour day with ten hours' pay was presented today at all the factories of the International Silver company in this city and elsewhere, and it is understood that a similar demand has been made or will be made on every silver shop in the United States and Canada. In addition to the nine hour demand, an allowance of "time and a half" for overtime work is asked for.

CHICAGO AUTO ARRIVES AT CLEVELAND AHEAD OF TIME.

Attempt to Break Record for Run to New York Has Been Successful Up to Present Time.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 29.—The automobile being driven from Chicago to New York in an attempt to establish a record arrived in Cleveland at 3:45 this morning, several hours ahead of schedule time. The journey eastward was resumed at 4:45 a. m. The run from Chicago to Cleveland was made in 22 hours and 15 minutes. The actual running time was 20 hours. The average speed was about 18 miles an hour and the total distance covered about 400 miles.

MUNYON SAYS PAW PAW

Prolongs Life by Feeding the Nerves.

DIGESTS EVERYTHING

10,000 PERSONS IN CHICAGO

PAW PAW, THE WORLD'S TONIC

There is no class of sufferers whom I pity more than those suffering from nervousness. They get very little pity; the public cannot understand them. Their friends weary of them and they seem to have no companionship but their own gloomy thoughts. While others sleep they toss and turn, worry and fret, imagine all sorts of impossible things, magnify their ills and anticipate great losses and troubles. As a rule it will be found that nervous people suffer with some form of indigestion; that they have been overworked or overstrained, or are suffering from some great mental worry. One of the best tonics is friendship and sympathy. Every well person should give these sufferers not only encouragement but their heartfelt sympathy.

My Paw Paw remedy acts directly on the nerve centers. This remedy is really a food as well as a stimulant to the nerves. It relieves the tension, quiets and soothes the nerves. I believe it to be the greatest nerve tonic and strength builder ever placed on the market. It is made from the Paw Paw fruit, which grows in India and South America. An eminent actor told me that it really made a new stomach for him and enabled him to eat all he liked, and when he liked, and what he liked. This new vegetable pepsin is far superior to animal pepsin in aiding digestion and the upbuilding of the nervous system. It is put up in tablet bottles. A tablespoonful three times a day or whenever needed will give tone and strength to the weak and debilitated, and will give hope to the nerve shattered and nerve depressed persons. If you are nervous, if you cannot concentrate your mind, if you are irritable, if you cannot sleep, ask your druggist for Munyon's Paw Paw. Take it faithfully, and I believe you will be pleased to write and thank me for giving you this advice. All druggists sell it or can obtain it for you from their wholesale firm. Price $1 (pint bottle). Paw Paw Pills 25c a bottle.

UNION LABOR HAS A GIGANTIC FOE.

Employers' Associations Combine to Cope with Organizations of Workers.

D. M. PARRY THE LEADER.

Promoters of Plan Hope to Enlist Concerns with Aggregate Capital of Billions.

Representatives of practically every large employers' association in the country met in secret session yesterday at the Auditorium Annex and organized a national body, the avowed purpose of which is to cope with union labor and to promote the interests of employers and independent workmen.

Under the leadership of President D. M. Parry of the National Manufacturers' association, those present framed up a temporary organization and made arrangements for a general meeting in this city late in October. The officers of over 600 employers' organizations, estimated by the promoters to represent several billions of capital, will be invited to attend.

The new association has chosen the date of its general meeting as near to that of the National Civic federation as possible, in order to overcome whatever effect that gathering may have. By many of the employers the federation is considered to be antagonistic to the business interests.

Great Defense Fund.

The new association will differ materially from the federation, of which Ralph M. Easley is secretary. It will not adopt the peaceful methods, but proposes to have a defense fund of $1,500,000 ready to fight organized labor when it becomes hostile. Organizers will be sent out to form subsidiary associations in every manufacturing and business center of the country. A bureau of education and a legal bureau form a part of the plan.

The new organization will oppose every effort to enact arbitration laws when the existing statutes will serve the purpose, and above all will preach the doctrine public opinion can bring an end to labor's so-called tyranny.

"It is the intention of this association to choke off the inclination of organized labor to conduct the business of this country on an unlawful basis," said Mr. Parry. "It is our intention to throw a safeguard about the nonunion workman and the man who desires to work for his own interests and for whom he pleases."

These at the Meeting.

The meeting at the Annex was called by the executive committee of the National Association of Manufacturers, which met at New York on Sept. 18. The following representatives of organized capital were present:

D. M. Parry, president of the National Manufacturers' association, Indianapolis, Ind.

Frederick W. Job, secretary Chicago Employers' association.

E. F. Du Brul, commissioner National Metal Trades association, Cincinnati, O.

A. C. Marshall, secretary Employers' association, Dayton, O.

E. G. Hornbrook, secretary Employers' association, Kansas City, Mo.

J. C. Craig, president Citizens' alliance, Denver, Colo.

J. F. Druckemiller, secretary Employers' association, Akron, O.

Marshall Cushing, secretary the National Manufacturers' association, New York City.

J. West Goodwin, secretary Citizens' alliance, Sedalia, Mo.

P. O. Geier, National Metal Trades association, Cincinnati, O.

A. D. Meeker, secretary Employers' association, Marshalltown, Ia.

Secretary Job of the Chicago association acted as chairman and Mr. Marshall of Dayton as secretary. A committee consisting of Mr. Marshall, Mr. Job, and Mr. Hornbrook of Kansas City was appointed to arrange the details of the next meeting, and will hold a session this morning in Mr. Job's office.

Civic Federation Scored.

In the evening a majority of the delegates gathered in an informal meeting and talked over the general situation. It was then that the National Civic federation was condemned for its policy of "conciliation and arbitration."

"Our association has nothing to do with the federation," began Secretary Job. "One reason why we are to meet in October is to overcome the influence of that body."

"The federation is made up of politicians who are looking for their own interests," said J. West Goodwin.

Calls It Chicago's Penalty.

"The federation is a costly plaything," was the comment of Secretary Marshall of Dayton. "Chicago was its birthplace, and the city has been paying the penalty for the last two years."

"The whole question is this," began President Parry. "Has a body a right to institute an arbitration court to take precedence of the courts of the land and tell the people—the workers, the business men—what they should do?"

"Stalking back of it all is the ghost of the Homestead riots," said another, and that ended the first attack the federation has received from an organized body of employers.

As Viewed by Parry.

President Parry, in discussing industrial conditions last night, expressed belief that "the tide is setting in against the organized workers." He attributed this to "the campaign of education that had been started."

"If labor would honestly debate its case much good would be accomplished," he said. "The idea of running John Mitchell of the miners for vice president is humorous. The day is past when the organized 14 per cent of the workers can rule the other 86 per cent. The organization of the employers has been forced by the exorbitant and unrighteous demands of labor, but these demands soon will be a thing of the past."

Strike of the Marble Setters.

The strike of the marble setters was ordered by Secretary Robert De Horg, of the union in Philadelphia. The marble cutters and polishers, both members of an independent organization, have been out for several weeks, and the setters decided to make their fight in sympathy.

In Chicago the men struck at the Chicago Opera house and Iroquois theater. At the First National bank, the only other marble job in progress, the workers were not disturbed, for the firm having the contract had signed an agreement with the union.

When news of the strike reached the marble dealers, a meeting was called at the Majestic hotel, and the local leaders, of both factions, will meet today and talk over the situation.

STRIKE SENDS CANDY MAKER TO DETENTION HOSPITAL.

Nicholas Martini Loses Position, Unable to Get Another Because of Alleged Blacklist, Broods Over Trouble.

Because of worry over strike trouble, it is alleged, Nicholas Martini, a candymaker, is at the detention hospital awaiting inquiry into his sanity. Martini, who is 40 years old, is said to have lost his position when the candymakers struck recently. He endeavored to find employment elsewhere, but could not do so, it is asserted, because he was "blacklisted" among candy manufacturers.

Finding that he could not secure a position at his trade Martini obtained employment as a laborer in Lincoln park. He appeared to be brooding over his troubles and finally his condition became such that his relatives notified the authorities.

Martini has a wife and four children living at 681 Cornelia street.

BUSINESS MEN "HARASSED BY LABOR AND COMBINES."

John M. Stiles Takes the Stand in Court and Declares He Has Been Persecuted by Unions Until His Painting Work Is Practically Ruined—Justice Wyman, Before Another Judge, Relates Methods of Plumbing Supplies Trust.

In two Chicago courtrooms evidence was given yesterday to show how the contractor on one hand and the merchant on the other are suffering at the hands of labor unions and trade combinations.

In Judge Chytraus' court John M. Stiles declared he had been persecuted by the labor unions until his business as a painting contractor is practically ruined.

Before Judge Walker Justin Wyman of Poplar Grove told of the methods of the plumbing supplies combine, declaring that when he refused to abide by the dictates of the combine he was unable to buy goods. He is suing for $50,000 damages.

Stiles Accuses the Unions.

When called to the stand Mr. Stiles said he had been a contractor in the painting, decorating, and paper hanging business for twenty years.

"When was the first time you had difficulties with the unions?"

"About ten years ago. The first trouble I had was with the painters. A strike was called on a contract I had on a building at Forty-third street and Calumet avenue. I was employing union and nonunion men. The Painters' District council insisted that I should employ none but union men."

"How did they insist?"

Men Beaten by Sluggers.

"I was told by the business agents that I would have to discharge all the nonunion men I employed and hire none but union men. One day they sent down a body of men known as the 'educational committee.' They came to the building at the noon hour and attacked my men, and after it was over the place looked like a slaughtering pen. So many of the men were injured that we had to quit."

"What did you do then?"

"We did no more work."

"Why?"

"Because of the attack and the order of the labor union. In fact, I believe all the men were disabled."

"What happened the next day?"

"The owner and architect told me I could not resume work."

Mr. Stiles said he signed an agreement with the unions shortly after that. The next trouble he had was while his men were working on the Douglas school.

Still More "Education."

"I was employing nonunion men," he said. "My men were working on the iron work on the top of the building when the 'educational' committee called. The men came running down to the shop and several of them had their heads split open."

"Have the difficulties had an effect on your business?" Mr. Stiles was asked.

"They have. They have hindered me from getting contracts. Persons would not give me contracts because they thought I would have trouble in the work. I have been told that it was no use for me to figure on contracts."

Tells of Painters' Council.

M. H. Murphy, secretary of the Painters' District council, declared that the organization he represented was at one time incorporated, but had forfeited its charter. According to Murphy no record of the meetings of the council are kept except from meeting to meeting, all other papers being consigned to the waste paper basket.

After the examination of Murphy was finished the attorneys for the defendant unions filed their answers and moved to have Stiles' bill dismissed for an injunction. Arguments will be heard at 10 o'clock this morning.

Merchant Alleges a Boycott.

Mr. Wyman is suing the Chicago Master Plumbers' association, the Raymond Lead company, and the L. Wolff Manufacturing company, whom he charges with ruining his business by a boycott.

When Wyman was called to the stand he said that he was engaged in the plumbing business in West Madison street in 1897, at which time he was a member of the Chicago Master Plumbers' association.

"Were you fined by that association?" was asked.

"Was there a strike on at that time?"

"There was. The journeymen wanted $3.75 a day and I agreed to pay the price. I had about $5,000 worth of work in my shop at the time and I could not afford to let it go. After I signed the scale the association fined me and then suspended me. I was told by the committee that I would have to pay the fine or quit the business. I told them that I would never pay it."

Unable to Buy Supplies.

"I went there and had conversations with both John Wolff, an officer of the company, and Manager Clifford. Wolff told me that he was sorry that he was unable to sell me any goods and advised me to go down and pay my fine. Clifford told me that he could not sell me anything until I paid my fine. I told him that I needed the supplies and that I had money to pay for them. He then said that he did not have them, and I agreed to give him time to make them."

Fails to Produce Documents.

Assistant Secretary Munn of the Master Plumbers' association was called to the stand and asked for the papers or books of the association, which he had been requested to produce in court.

"I could find no such documents," said Munn.

"Have you searched for them?"

"Not recently."

Munn then told Judge Walker that the association changed its name in 1898, but that some of the books and papers of the organization might be in his office. He was told to go and search for them.

STRIKE FOR "CLOSED" SHOPS.

Typefounders and Marble Setters Walk Out in Chicago—Other Big Cities Involved.

Angered by the refusal of their employers to establish the "closed" shop, two international unions, the typefounders and marble setters, called general strikes in all sections of the country yesterday morning. Coupled with this action came preparations by the packing house employés in all meat centers to walk out if the firms do not agree to hire none but members of the union.

The strike of the typefounders tied up the plants in New York City, St. Louis, Chicago, and Cincinnati. Those in Boston, Philadelphia, and San Francisco will be affected this morning. According to reports received here the walkout was complete wherever ordered, the number of men involved being as follows:

Chicago	150 men and 80 girls
Cincinnati	40 men and 25 girls
St. Louis	70 men and 35 girls
New York	100 men

The issue of the strike, as told in THE TRIBUNE yesterday, is the "open" shop, which is being fought by the American Typefounders' company, under orders from the National Manufacturers' association. Early yesterday morning the employés of Barnhart Bros. & Spindler, the independent house of Chicago, and the local branches of the American Typefounders' company asked their employers if they would grant an increase in wages and the "closed" shop. When the latter point was refused all struck.

Situation at the Stockyards.

At the Union stockyards President Michael Donnelly of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen received reports from the various locals of the country regarding their vote on the peace proposition of the packers. In every case the men refused to compromise and authorized the leaders to demand a complete surrender on the part of the firms.

Arrangements have been made for a joint meeting of the packers and the union leaders today in the offices of Schwarzschild & Sulzberger.

before Santiago and had returned to Chicago sickened by fever and with a fecord Chicago will not soon forget.

Military Display Is Impressive.

The Second regiment received a welcome equally as hearty. Its members wore the fatigue uniform of blue. They marched in perfect time and looked like men who had seen service. Most of them have seen it, for the Second was the regiment that policed Havana after the city surrendered.

The First Cavalry followed the Second regiment, increasing the spectacular side of the parade. The cavalrymen also wore fatigue uniform. They presented an appearance at once workmanlike and dashing.

The First artillery, preceded by buglers and drummers, and the naval reserves came by in turn. They would have received attention for themselves alone, but the guns they escorted were unusual magnets throughout the parade.

Contrasting in uniform alike with the First and the Second regiment, the Eighth regiment turned out in khaki. The colored guardsmen elicited expressions of admiration all along the line of march.

The volunteer firemen led the second division, sixty gray bearded men, the youngest over 60 years of age. In their red shirts they made a striking appearance. They dragged the pumping fire engine "Veteran" after them, surmounting it with the inscription:

Firemen Make Fine Showing.

Chief Musham and a company of firemen escorted them. The firemen gave the parade one of its brightest pictures. A hook and ladder was gayly decorated and two engines were strung with small electric globes, and on the top of each in an illuminated chair rode a child mascot. In a hose cart was carried a miniature Fort Dearborn. The firemen were loudly cheered.

The police department tried to equal the firemen. One patrol wagon was illuminated by electricity from the headstalls of the horses to the brass rail on the rear of the wagon.

In order the following military organizations followed the police. Veterans of the army of the Philippines, St. Paul cadets, United States Juniors, Epworth zouaves, and St. Cecilia cadets. A detachment of the Volunteers of America, under command of Brig. Gen. Fielding, brought up the rear of the division.

Swedes Have Elaborate Floats.

The Swedes of Chicago, the Swiss residents, and the Indians from Lincoln park comprised the fourth division. A float portraying a symbolical scene preceded the Swedish marchers. It showed the gods of northland mythology in conclave. The horses which drew it were ridden by six young women, and an escort of other young women rode beside them. A long line of Swedish societies followed.

The Indians marched in single file. Their moccasined feet were bruised by the cobble stones, but they marched stoically to the disbanding point.

A drum and fife corps made up of veterans showed the way for the long industrial division. The board of trade floats, near the head of the column, showed first the small building in which the board operated in 1854 and then the structure of today.

List of Floats in Procession.

Nearly every industry in the city was represented in the floats and wagons, which were as follows:

Armour & Co., six horse wagon.
Swift & Co., six horse wagon.
Libby, McNeill & Libby, six horse wagon.
Schwarzschild & Sulzberger, six horse wagon.
Board of Trade, two floats.
Mandel Bros., one float, six wagons.

American Cycle Manufacturing company, three floats.
Chicago Motor Vehicle company, five automobiles.
Old Rose Distilling company, two wagons.
Fleishmann & Co., float.
W. A. Pratt, two automobiles.
Matthews Soda Water company, wagon.

At the Reviewing Stand.

The parade was reviewed by Mayor Harrison, Chairman Plamondon, Gen. Moulton, Cols. Young, Sanborn, and Stewart, the foreign consuls, and 100 city officials from the stand on the south side of the government building, immediately opposite the Union League club in Jackson boulevard.

At this point centered the chief interest of the pageant. The sidewalk on each side of the reviewing stand was packed with the invited guests of the centennial committee, while the opposite pavement was a solid bank of humanity with which the police struggled at times in vain to keep within its bounds. The Union League club was crowded, balconies, windows, and steps, with members and guests, and the windows of the Monadnock building to the eaves were alive with spectators.

The best of order was preserved until late in the passing of the parade, when the crowd fairly swept the policemen off their feet. The brewery floats had been stalled in Dearborn street and the spectators took the delay for a signal that the show was ended. Instantly the street grew black with people, while the police charged here and there, powerless to restore order. It was only when the lost section of the parade put in an appearance that the crowd allowed itself again to be controlled.

Good Nature Is Everywhere.

Good nature reigned everywhere—in the procession, in the grand stand, and in the crowd—and the camaraderie established between the members of the reviewing party and the marchers was conspicuous.

"How, how, White Chief Harrison," called out Charley Headflyer of the Chippewas as the Indians, 100 strong, came into view. Headflyer shook his tomahawk aloft and the mayor, raising his hat, called back:

"How, Charley, how."

Honor for Negro Troops.

The negro regiment found favor with the official party, the consuls rising and saluting when the colored boys of the Eighth Illinois tramped past. But the sight that brought all to their feet with hats doffed was the appearance of the red shirted, grizzled veterans of the volunteer firemen's organization.

When the Swiss float passed with its legend, "Switzerland first introduced the initiative and referendum," the mayor was nudged by half a dozen elbows at once, and some leading political questions fired at him until he had properly saluted the legend. Then the red fire which had illumined the reviewing place gave out and the parade ended in the dark, with Mayor Harrison and party crowding out of the stand and making their way afoot through the jammed street.

The police did effective work during the evening, and only in a few instances did disorder break out. The crowd, in spite of its size, was good humored.

The excellence of the illumination along the line of march did much to keep the sidewalk throngs contented. The red and pink fire were lighted everywhere slightly in advance of the parade, and the spectators had no difficulty in seeing everything in the procession.

How Prizes Were Awarded.

The four silver loving cups, without distinction as to place, were awarded to the following as the most creditable displays in the centennial parade:

Swedish nation—Consisting of two floats, each drawn by eight horses, and bearing allegorical personages wearing armor of the viking age. Mounted on horses were a number of young women, representing valkyries. Two bands and organized societies of men, 800 strong, marched with the floats.

Mandel Bros.—Float arranged in form of a pavilion, under which were seated young women dressed in fashionable evening gowns.

Schoenhofen Brewing company—A number of automobiles displaying the "deliveries" of the company from the date of its organization in 1847 until the present time.

Garibaldi & Cuneo—Floats bearing fruit display.

Floats which received enough votes from the judges to make them close competitors of those that were awarded prizes were those of the Carpenter Bros., Weaver Coal company, Cable Piano company, American Cycle company, and Schwarzschild & Sulzberger.

"It's too bad about the music," he commented to his secretary, John Westwood, "but it's a good parade."

ON THE PROGRAM TODAY.

EVENTS SCHEDULED FOR ENTERTAINMENT OF VISITORS.

Stockyards Open to City's Guests and Great Throng Expected There—Athletic Events in Afternoon at Lincoln Park and Fireworks at Night on the Lake Front—Reception of Daughters of American Revolution Will Take Place.

The public will receive its centennial entertainment in the early part of today from the packers, from an exhibition of aquatic sports in the afternoon, and from a fireworks display on the lake front tonight. In the evening also the Daughters of the American Revolution will receive 2,000 guests at Memorial hall in the Public Library building.

The stockyards have put on gala attire for the day, and preparations have been made to entertain more visitors than have been received since world's fair year. Souvenirs will be distrubited among the guests, and refreshments also will be served.

The aquatic sports are expected to be one of the features of the centennial. They will begin in the east lagoon at Lincoln park at 2 o'clock. The rules of the Amateur Athletic union will govern the contests, for which entries have been received from all parts of the country. The chief events will be boating and swimming races.

Reception of the D. A. R.

The Daughters of the American Revolution have copied their reception after historic models of the past. The invitation is a reproduction of an original invitation to a reception given in Chicago when Gen. Dearborn was secretary of war. The affair was given in honor of the surviving members of Gen. George Washington's staff, who formed the nucleus of the "Order of the Cincinnati." The original invitation is owned by Mrs. B. A. Fessenden, regent of the Chicago chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The refreshments will be of the same character as Martha Washington served guests at her levees in New York and will consist of game sandwiches, fruit, and pound cake, frozen custard, frozen punch, lemonade, coffee and chocolate with whipped cream.

Memorial hall will be decorated for the occasion with American flags and the banners of the organization.

Gen. John C. Black, commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic will present the guests to Mrs. Fessenden.

Display of Fireworks.

In the fireworks display tonight the American flag will be broken in the air in lines of fire from a balloon. Baldwin, the balloonist, will make the ascent for the occasion. Three symbolic pieces, Fort Dearborn, Phœnix rising from the Chicago fire, and the statue of the republic will be included in the display. One shell throwing 10,000 stars will be fired.

SOME MUSIC DESPITE UNION.

Three Brass Bands and a Dozen Drum Corps Take Part in the Centennial Parade.

NOTICE.

Members are hereby notified to refuse their services in any and all functions of the "Chicago Centennial." This includes banquets, parades, concerts, meetings, etc. By order of

BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

In so far that it prevented any union band from participating in last evening's parade, this order, posted yesterday in the headquarters of local 10, Chicago Federation of Musicians, succeeded. If it was expected to deprive the paraders of music it failed.

So far as known at the union headquarters last night, not one of the 2,300 union musicians in Chicago furnished a note of the music to which the great pageant moved. If any one of them did, a day of reckoning awaits him when the fact is reported to the union. But in spite of the union order the marchers had plenty of music to keep them in step and to cheer their progress. Three brass bands, and a dozen drum and bugle corps, placed at intervals in the column, did the work.

Bands in Line Cheered.

That the efforts of the musicians who turned out were appreciated by the thousands of spectators who lined the streets was proven by the applause that greeted them. The cheers which greeted the brass bands were carried along the street ahead of them, and they were applauded on their approach to and recession from every point along the line of march.

The disappointed hush which followed the passing of the head of the parade, led by a drum corps, soon gave way to acclaim as the first band, that of the Illinois Naval militia, approached playing the "Pioneer's March," the official musical number of the demonstration. The other two brass bands in the parade were the Svithiod band and the band of the Wanhem lodge, O. S., both in the Swedish division of the procession.

While the pageant and its unusual music was passing announcement was made in the musicians' headquarters that the appearance of the musical organizations in the parade would not affect the stand taken by that organization. The only means by which the ban can be taken from the celebration, Secretary B. C. Dillon declares, is by canceling the engagement of the United States Marine band before it has an opportunity to participate.

Union Men Out $4,500.

"The union musicians will be out the $4,500 which we appropriated for music, and we will save that much," said James Gamble Rogers, chairman of the parade committee. "The union bands did not notify us that they would not play, but we arranged for an emergency, and I think we pleased the crowd."

Despite numerous reports of possible demonstrations against the bands which might participate in the parade, there was no trouble. Committees, however, were stationed at points along the line of march to take note of the musicians. These committees will report to the union Friday evening, and any union musician who participated will be fined $50.

FOUNDERS THEIR FOREFATHERS

Descendants of John Kinzie, Capt. Whistler, and Lieut. Swearingen Meet and Organize.

Men and women who proudly claimed John Kinzie, Capt. John Whistler, and Lieut. J. S. Swearingen as their ancestors filled the south parlor at the Auditorium yesterday afternoon, and talked of the history made by the trio who founded Chicago. John Kinzie was the first settler. Capt. Whistler and Lieut. Swearingen built Fort Dearborn.

The honors of all three families were recognized in the organization formed soon after the reception began. Mrs. W. W. Gordon, granddaughter of John Kinzie, was made chairman; Maj. Garland M. Whistler of the United States artillery, great grandson of Capt. Whistler, was elected secretary; and James Strode Swearingen, grandson of Lieut. Swearingen, was chosen vice chairman.

Each spoke a few words of appreciation.

Centennial Crowds Meet with Mishaps, the Clark Street Bridge Having Three Victims—List of the Injured.

A number of street car accidents were incidental to the centennial celebration yesterday. Three men who were clinging to the footboard of an overcrowded north bound Larrabee street electric street car were crushed against the iron work of the Clark street bridge and severely bruised. The men injured were: William Edder, 140 Clybourn avenue; William Schuman, 212 Racine avenue; and Lewis Falk, 561 Halsted street. Edder and Schuman went home unassisted, but Falk sustained a dislocation of the collar bone and was taken to the county hospital.

Two of the other accidents of the day proved fatal.

The Dead.

COTTS, MRS. KATE, 32 years old, 3812 Peoria street; struck and instantly killed at Sixty-eighth and Halsted streets by a Halsted street car.

SKON, George, 40 years old, 1180 West Thirteenth street; struck by Panhandle switch engine at Forty-sixth street, and died while on way to hospital.

The Injured.

Kozarsicski, Frank, 3140 Wabash avenue; fell to the ground while attempting to board a south side "L" train at Sixty-first street; taken to Mercy hospital; may die.

Martin, August, 114 Twenty-third place; thrown from wagon in collision with cable car at Cuyler avenue, Oak Park; sustained fractured skull, and was taken to Maywood hospital.

Polander, Adolph, 48 years old, conductor for the Union Traction company; brushed off the running board of his car by the North avenue bridge; severe bruises.

Runnell, Mrs. Jerry, Thirty-third street and Cottage Grove avenue; fell from cable car at Wabash avenue and Madison street; bruised.

Art Institute Open Free.

In honor of the Chicago centennial the Art institute will be open free from 9 to 5 today and tomorrow.

MOCK FIRE RUN; VETERANS HURT.

ONE SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Exhibition Given on Lake Front and an Imaginary Blaze Extinguished.

Assembled from all parts of the country, to show the Chicago of today how its old time firemen fought flames, five of the veterans were disabled in an accident which proved the mock fire run yesterday afternoon as dangerous as any real service the old company ever had.

The Injured.

Casey, Martin, 73 years old, 344 Throop street, for many years bridgetender on Lake street bridge; right hip injured, scalp wounds; taken to his home in an ambulance.

Thiele, August H., 74 years old, 822 Cleveland avenue, wagonmaker, employed in Lincoln park; suffered a contusion of right shoulder and fracture of two ribs; removed to the German hospital.

Last month the survivors of the old volunteer fire companies assembled and formed the Volunteer Firemen's organization for the sole purpose of giving the exhibition. After a reunion later in the week the organization will disband for all time.

One hundred firemen assembled for the exhibition, and at 2 o'clock they manned the ropes of the old hand engine which they had pulled to many fires in the past and started to parade to the Auditorium hotel, where they were to answer a mock fire call. Strength failed three of the veterans as they were leaving the barn of engine company No. 34, whence the parade started, and they were taken to their homes. They were John C Enders, Joseph Stoltz, 627 Englewood avenue, and William Gastfield, 414 West Chicago avenue.

Fall Under Their Engine.

When the column reached the corner of Michigan avenue and Adams street, the chief of the volunteer company shouted the order through his silver trumpet to run to the scene of the fire.

The leaders started, and the rope was pulled taut, as the veterans, none of whom was under 60 years of age, started on a run. The men who were stationed near the engine were braced to run and had just started the engine into rapid motion, when the buckle that held the guide rope to the tongue of the engine was loosened. Deprived of the support of the rope, half a dozen of the running men fell. The warning sounded at once soon brought the engine to a standstill, but not until several of the men had been caught under the wheels and dragged along the pavement for ten yards.

Martin Casey, who has been a figure for years on the Lake street bridge and is known to almost every lake captain ascending the river, was the first to fall, and the other men rolled over him. August Thiele was caught under one of the wheels and scraped along the street. His injuries are severe and his condition is serious.

Band Fails to Appear.

Still other troubles attended the exhibition. Henry E. Weaver had furnished the means for a band to head the march and had made a contract with Forrest's musicians. On account of labor troubles the band would not play, but did not notify the firemen until after the time for it to appear. Then arrangements for a cordon of police to attend the firemen fell through, somewhere in the city hall, and the firemen were unattended.

When the company reached the Auditorium hotel several feet of hose were attached to the old hand engine and the veterans commenced to pump. John Wagenberger then acted in his old position, that of foreman, and, mounting to the top of the engine, took command of the pumpers and urged them on with the old familiar cries. "Buckle down there," "Fall in," and "Heave away" and similar expressions encouraged the men to their utmost efforts, and the result was a stream that mounted sixty feet in the air and traveled a horizontal space of 175 feet. At one time the man at the fire plug "heaved away" too soon, and the result was a drenching for all who stood about the engine.

Speaks from Hotel Balcony.

After the exhibition was over, Henry Greenebaum, one of the veterans, made an address to his fellows from the balcony of the Auditorium hotel. Greenebaum was a member of the old Garden City Engine company 6. He offered a tribute to the firemen in behalf of the women of the families of John Kinzie, Captain Whistler and Col. Swearingen.

The entire company then joined in singing "Auld Lang Syne," and then paraded back to the barn, where in the gymnasium on the third floor, refreshments had been provided by the steward of the company.

STEAL $300 FROM DWELLING DURING CENTENNIAL PARADE.

Porch climbers entered the residence of Albert H. Veeder, 4843 Vincennes avenue, last night while the family was downtown watching the centennial parade and secured $300 worth of plunder. The thieves gained entrance to the house by climbing a pillar of the front porch and forcing open a window. Every room in the house was searched, even the attic being ransacked. Although the thieves found a quantity of clothing and other articles they stole only jewelry. The police of the Fiftieth street station were notified.

HURT TO MAINE BY GUNS FEARED.

POWER IS TREMENDOUS.

Changes Made in Vessel Since First Trial Intended to Meet the Strain of Firing.

GUNS ON BATTLESHIPS.—Anxiety felt at navy department over effect of firing 12 inch guns on new battleship Maine. Result of tests awaited.

PHILIPPINE TEACHERS.—Island government asks appointment of 150 male teachers from United States.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Much anxiety is felt at the navy department regarding the result of the gun trials on the new battleship Maine. It is feared the high powered twelve inch guns may have proved too much for the battleship. While these guns have been installed on a number of monitors, the Maine is the first battleship to be equipped with them.

When the Maine had its first gun trials these guns showed such tremendous power the deck supports gave way and the ship had to be sent back to the shipyard to have them strengthened. This was not the fault of the construction of the battleship, but it was due to the unexpected strength and recoil of the guns.

There are two of these guns in each of the fore and aft turrets, and the program of the trials provided they should be fired singly and doubly to determine the strength of the turrets under the severe strain of firing.

The Maine left Hampton roads early yesterday morning for its gun trials, in command of Capt. Leutze.

An idea of the terrible power of these guns can be obtained from the statement that they fire a shell with a muzzle velocity of 2,800 feet per second, which is 500 feet per second greater than the next most powerful guns in the navy.

The energy developed by the firing of one shot is 42,246 foot tons, or a force which would move that number of tons weight in a second. Therefore, if applied underneath a battleship of 15,000 tons, it would be sufficient to raise it three feet in the short space of one second.

A locomotive and tender, weighing ninety-four tons and moving at a speed of sixty miles an hour would have a colliding force of about 11,000 foot tons, or only about one-fourth of the force of the 850 pound projectile, which leaves a gun at a velocity of 1,908 miles an hour.

It is the strain from this terrible power that is feared. In the monitors Arkansas, Nevada, Florida, and Wyoming it was found that this strain actually lifted the enormous gun turret from its track and caused it to leave the rollers and rails as a locomotive going round a curve at great speed would leave the railroad track.

The same accident happened to the turrets of the Maine at its first gun trials, and it was found necessary to take the turrets out and make some important changes designed to strengthen the flanges and rollers. These changes had been made in the monitors, and it was found that the guns of the Wyoming worked successfully.

There are some other trials to be made with other monitors before it can be certain that their twelve inch guns will not lift the turrets from the tracks.

The civil service commission has received a call from the Philippine government for 150 male teachers to be appointed at salaries ranging from $900 to $1,800 annually, and the examinations will be held on Oct. 19 and 20 in the various cities.

Many complaints have been received here by the insular bureau of the war department from teachers who have gone from this country to serve in the Philippines against their treatment in the islands. The government has taken steps, however, to better the conditions for them, and the difficulties which existed between the teachers and the civil government have been practically settled.

"Josiah," the pet badger sent to the Roosevelt children by a little girl in Kansas, not being protected by the civil service rules, has been forcibly removed from the White house staff.

"Josiah" was a great favorite with the children and was taken to Oyster Bay for the summer. The badger was most playful as a youngster, but as his span of life lengthened his wild instincts grew stronger, and the fighting tendencies for which badgers are famous grew so pronounced that he could not be trusted. "Josiah" will never see the White house again, and he is now an inmate of the New York Zoölogical garden.

FOUR MEN ATTACK WATCHMAN AND ONE IS FATALLY SHOT.

Theodore Ray Wounds Thomas Roach During Struggle at Superior and Townsend Streets at 1:30 A. M.

One of four robbers was shot and fatally wounded at 1:30 o'clock this morning by Theodore Ray, whom they attempted to hold up at Superior and Townsend streets. Ray, who is a private watchman, emptied his revolver at his assailants. The man who was shot is known to the police as a desperate man. They say his name is Thomas Roach and that he is also known as "Buggy" Roach. He is at the Alexian Brothers' hospital with a bullet wound in his abdomen. The physicians say he will die.

Watchman Ray was making his rounds when two men confronted him with revolvers and two more threatened him from the rear. Instead of throwing up his hands Ray drew his revolver and began shooting. One of the men fell to the street at the first fire and the others after shooting at the watchman fled.

The police of the East Chicago avenue station were notified and took Roach to the hospital. Ray was not wounded. He was taken to the station.

Man Caught in Sherman House Has Jewelry Valued at $2,500 in His Possession.

After a struggle early yesterday morning Frank Bering, clerk of the Sherman house, caught a well dressed man as he was leaving the room of a guest. Jewelry valued at $2,500 and $253 in money, taken from the room of L. A. Worth, a centennial visitor from Fort Wayne, Ind., was recovered. The stranger made a hard fight and once succeeded in breaking away from the clerk, whom he tried to throw over a balustrade.

At the station the man gave the name of Charles Foster. Among the jewelry found in his possession and returned to Worth were eight diamond rings, two diamond brooches, a gold pen, two gold chains and watches, and a woman's watch.

The man refused to make any statement. He was identified, the police say, as Chauncey Filley, an Ohio crook and ex-convict. They believe he is responsible for many similar thefts.

While Bering was struggling with the intruder another room in the hotel was entered by a sneak thief and $30 was taken from William Bailey.

Missing Man Thought to Be in Chicago.

Fairbury, Ill., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—J. P. Stephens, the Weston merchant who disappeared after drawing the money from the bank on Saturday, is believed to be in Chicago. He was an inveterate smoker, and Mrs. Stephens fears that this has affected his mind.

AIM AT GIBBONS' "TRUST"

NEW ATTACK ON THE JUSTICE'S MONOPOLY OF CITY CASES.

Ald. Maypole's Council Resolution Intended to Divide Suits Among Different Courts—Favored Magistrate Has Survived Similar Attacks Before—Mayor Explains Why He Gets All the Municipal Cases—Profits Are Said to Be $6,000 to $10,000 a Year.

Justice Walter J. Gibbons—The city "justice monopoly"—may be put on a salary instead of being the recipient of all the city's justice shop patronage.

The new attack on his "monopoly" may result thus, or it may result in all offenders against city ordinances being sent to the police courts to mix with criminals of all types. Mayor Harrison will favor the former, but objects to the latter plan.

By a resolution introduced in the council Monday night by Ald. Maypole it is desired to instruct the law department to bring all civil cases before justices in the towns in which the defendants live.

As Justice Gibbons at present hears all the municipal cases, it is simply an attempt to destroy his profitable "monopoly." It is not a new attempt. Ald. Litzinger tried it once and Mayor Harrison saved the "monopoly."

When the building department was under fire another attempt was made. It likewise failed. An effort was made to prove that suits were started for no other purpose than to get the court fees, and that was unsuccessful also.

Monopoly Withstands Former Attacks.

If the present attack succeeds Mayor Harrison says a hardship will be worked on the citizens. There is no denial of the fact that Justice Gibbons finds his "monopoly" profitable. The statement that it yields him $75,000 a year is ridiculed, but it is admitted that the business is worth $6,000, and possibly $10,000.

"I have been attacked for this practice," said Mayor Harrison, "but the reasons for giving the business to Gibbons are good. The city cannot afford to hire enough prosecutors to take care of cases all over the city. Then, other justices would have to be watched carefully. Gibbons knows that if he does not act satisfactorily the cases will not be taken to him, and he knows that adequate penalties must be imposed."

Traction Results Far Off.

According to the mayor there will be no traction decisions reached until after the next spring elections. R. R. Govin, representative of the eastern capitalists, will return to the city this week, but the mayor says there will be no action until after election.

RIDDLES ST. LOUIS' CLAIMS OF CANAL CONTAMINATION.

Prof. John H. Long Says the Illinois River Is Purer Now than Formerly—Poor Little Bacillus Prodigiosus.

Missouri was "shown" several things yesterday by Prof. John H. Long, witness for Illinois in the interstate suit over the drainage canal. The witness made the bacillus prodigiosus shrink until it was too small to talk about.

Prof. Long summarized the testimony which he gave last week. His conclusions, in substance, were that the Mississippi river carries contamination, and that the Illinois river, diluted by the drainage canal flow and its tributaries, is practically free from germs at its mouth.

"From all my examinations of the waters of these rivers," Prof. Long testified, "I give it as my opinion that no part of the original organic matter leaving Chicago through the drainage canal can reach as far as the Mississippi river.

"My belief is that the water supply of St. Louis is not and cannot be injured by the Chicago sewage.

"Sewage is disposed of in two general ways—by dilution and by oxidation—and inas much as the volume of water in the Illinois river is greatly increased in activity there is an increase in purification from this cause. The final effect, therefore, is a better condition of the water.

"The water of Lake Michigan has had the effect of purifying the Illinois. Beyond question, the water of the Illinois since the opening of the canal is more sanitary than either the Missouri or the Mississippi, and whatever effect the Chicago sewage might have on the upper Illinois is lost before reaching the point of connection with the Mississippi."

Prof. Long then explained that so few of the bacilli prodigiosis reached St. Louis that it showed there was practically no chance of a typhoid germ surviving the trip.

BROKEN LEG RESULT OF PRACTICE FOOTBALL GAME.

Student at St. Joseph's Parochial School, Hammond, Ind., Is Dangerously Injured in Play.

The second football injury of the season in the vicinity of Chicago occurred yesterday afternoon on the gridiron of St. Joseph's parochial school in Hammond, Ind. The teams were practicing and Henry Keilman, who played tackle, was running with the ball. He was heavily tackled and thrown to the ground, with opposing players piled upon him. One of his legs was broken above the knee. He is thought to be injured internally and he suffers greatly.

CHEW CAUSES A STABBING.

Man Creates Much Excitement by Trying to Escape in Crowded Street.

As a result of the refusal of his companion to give him a chew of tobacco last evening, Dennis Sheehan, 61 years old, 103 Throop street, was stabbed in the right side and severely wounded. Sheehan and Charles Earl of New York were at Jackson boulevard and Clark street and quarreled.

The affray caused excitement among persons gathered to view the parade, and a rumor that a man had been killed spread through the crowd. Policemen followed Earl to Adams street, where he was arrested.

FEAR EPIDEMIC IN EVANSTON.

Two Cases of Typhoid Fever in One Residence Alarms Northwestern Officials.

The appearance of two cases of typhoid fever in the same residence in a university neighborhood within the last two weeks has caused fear of an epidemic at Northwestern university. Two weeks ago L. H. Knox, an attorney, 630 University place, became ill and was taken to the Evanston hospital. Yesterday Paul H. Bate, who resides at the same place, was removed to the hospital. Prof. John H. Gray attempted to find the cause for the outbreak of the disease, but was unsuccessful.

SOO IS PEACEFUL; MEN FIND WORK.

Employment for All Idle at Better Wages Likely to Solve Present Troubles.

FOOD GIVEN THE NEEDY.

Soldiers and Police Still Guard the Properties of the Consolidated Company.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—All is peaceful here tonight and from the present outlook there is little danger of further disturbances by the former employés of the Consolidated Lake Superior company.

Outside of the stoning of a train by the men detained at Wilde station on the Algoma Central railroad, there was no trouble today. Nine men were arrested charged with taking part in yesterday's riot in this city. Alfred Dault, one of the men shot yesterday, died this afternoon.

The numerous requests by employment agencies for the services of many of the large number of employés thrown out of work and the absence of destitution have given the men hope.

Mayor Plummer has, with the sanction of the municipality, readily aided the needy, who are declared to be few, but he announced in a statement tonight that with the arrival of a detachment of the militia tomorrow all unemployed men of the company who have refused to accept the offers of work elsewhere will be forced to leave.

Military and Police on Guard.

Since the attack by the mob on the company's offices yesterday the local militia, reinforced by the police, has guarded the plants of the company.

Communication between the two Soos, which was ordered stopped last night, was resumed today. It is planned also to start the street cars on the Canada side tomorrow.

There are 500 woodsmen in the camps of the company, but as a measure of precaution the company, according to William Coyne, representative of the Consolidated, will not allow them to come in until tomorrow, when all of the 310 troops en route will have arrived.

The men, Mr. Coyne says, became angry when told they would be held at the station over night, and began to throw stones at the engine crew. The fusillade of missiles became so heavy that to escape with their lives the trainmen, under pretense of switching the train, after an engine and two coaches had been uncoupled, started down the main track on the Algoma Central road, leaving the foreigners behind.

Date for Sale Is Postponed.

New York, Sept. 29.—Representatives of the Philadelphia stockholders in the Consolidated Lake Superior company had a conference today with counsel for Speyer & Co., and arranged to have the sale of the property, which has been set for Oct. 1, postponed until Oct. 8. In the meantime negotiations will continue with the view of effecting a compromise.

One More Receivership.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 29.—Upon application of the Central Trust company of New York, holding a mortgage on the property of the Michigan Lake Superior Power company of Sault Ste. Marie, one of the Clergue properties, for $2,400,000, Judge Wanty, in the United States District court, appointed a receiver for the corporation in the person of Benjamin Franklin Frackenthal Jr. of Easton, Pa.

Mr. Frackenthal already had been appointed receiver for several other of the Soo companies.

Plans for Reorganization.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 29.—A director of the Consolidated Lake Superior company said today in this city that the plan of reorganization which is being prepared by a committee of the board of directors will be made public in Philadelphia in a few days.

KOSHER RABBI. OUSTED, DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID.

H. Silverman Believed to Have Committed Suicide as Result of Factional War Among the Orthodox Jews.

Deprived of his position as kosher rabbi in one of the packing houses as a result of a factional fight now on between two elements in the orthodox Jewish church, Rabbi H. Silverman, 60 years old, is believed to have committed suicide. Early yesterday morning he stumbled into the front room of his home, 200 West Fourteenth street, and fell unconscious on the floor, where he died two hours later.

A physician who was called found that he had swallowed carbolic acid, and, although the relatives of the rabbi denied that it was a case of suicide, it was said that he had left a letter saying that without the position of kosher rabbi there was nothing left to live for.

Rabbi Silverman has been a kosher rabbi for nearly thirty years. It was his duty to oversee the killing of cattle slaughtered at the stockyards for the use of the orthodox Jews, and in addition to this he made a business of killing fowls for butchers in the Ghetto district.

His authority came from Rabbi Album, who for many years was chief rabbi among the orthodox Jews of Chicago. Differences have recently arisen, and, although Rabbi Album was deposed in favor of Rabbi Jacob David, there are many Jews who still maintain that Rabbi Album is the only accredited chief.

Chief Rabbi David a few days ago issued a circular in which he warned orthodox Jews against the use of meat killed by rabbis who owed their position to Rabbi Album. Silverman was one of these.

FOUR SUITS RESULT OF WRECK.

Passengers Injured in Fox Lake Collision on Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Ask $42,000.

Four damage suits for a total of $42,000, yesterday were filed in the Circuit court against the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company, as a result of a wreck on its system near Fox Lake, Wis., Aug. 17. Three of the plaintiffs, Eugene W. Sullivan, Daniel Mulloy, and Josephine Furlong ask for $10,000 each, and Mrs. Mary Sullivan, wife of Eugene W. Sullivan, sues for $12,000. All were passengers, it is said, and were severely injured.

Want "L" Road on Lake Front.

Plans to move the Wabash avenue side of the Union loop from that thoroughfare to ground east of the Illinois Central railway's right of way on the lake front are being urged, and may be embodied in an ordinance to be laid before the city council. Less congestion and more switching facilities are among the advantages claimed for the project.

SEEK TO PUNISH CRUSADER

BAR ASSOCIATION AFTER W. V. TYLER OF "ALLIANCE."

Unable to Find That He Is a Licensed Attorney, Hence Disbarment Proceedings Are Impracticable—Watching for Him to Try to Practice in a Court of Record—Misrepresentation in Advertising to Be Subject of Action.

Action toward disbarring W. V. Tyler of the Citizens' Mutual alliance was prevented yesterday when the Bar association grievance committee was unable to find that Tyler was a licensed attorney.

The committee decided, however, to make its discovery known to all judges of courts of record and to furnish descriptions of Tyler. If opportunity presents itself the Bar association will seek to punish Tyler for practicing in a court of record.

Meet to Discuss Alliance.

A special meeting of the grievance committee was held last evening in the office of John T. Richards in the Hartford building. Mr. Richards, Russell Whitman, A. W. Bulkley, John O'Connor, and Frank Scott were present.

The Citizens' Mutual alliance, and especially Mr. Tyler, were discussed at some length, but a thorough search of books and records disclosed, the committee said, that Tyler was not a member of the bar.

This discovery left the committee nothing on which to proceed, but the members were unanimous in the belief that the state's attorney should investigate the alliance.

"I'm afraid that there is nothing this committee can do," said Chairman Richards. "I had been led to believe that this man Tyler was a member of the bar."

"If he has practiced in a court of record I believe some action could be taken," suggested Mr. Whitman.

"But we have no means of knowing if he did," answered Mr. Richards. "If he attempts in the future to practice he makes himself liable to punishment for contempt of court."

Charge Fraud in Advertising.

After disposing of the Tyler matter the committee took up the matter of "unprofessional advertising." One advertisement which attracted attention was that a "lawyer with a good practice would try cases quickly, quietly, and confidentially."

The word "quietly" was the cause of much censure, it being held to be misrepresentation. The committee agreed to bring the matter to an early issue by preferring charges against some member of the association to make a test case.

WEATHER GOOD FOR ALL CROPS.

Temperature Generally Favorable and Frosts Have Done Practically No Damage to Corn.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—The weather bureau's weekly summary of crop conditions is as follows:

The temperature conditions for the week ending Sept. 28 were generally favorable, although cool nights were detrimental in the south Atlantic, eastern, and central gulf states, while light to heavy frosts, for the most part causing no serious injury, were reported in the more northerly districts eastward of the upper Missouri valley.

A marked feature of the week was the absence of rain, or the lack of anything except light showers, over much the greater part of the country east of the Rocky mountains, there being only a few areas, of comparatively limited extent, in the upper Mississipi valley, the lake region, and the coast districts of the middle Atlantic states and southern New England, in which the rainfall exceeded the average.

Drought continues in the Ohio valley and with increased severity in Tennessee and the central and west gulf states.

No unfavorable conditions are reported from the Pacific coast, although rain in southern California possibly may have caused slight injury. Southern Arizona and southwestern New Mexico received unusually heavy rains for that region, more than two inches being reported from several stations.

Weather Good for Corn.

The principal corn states experienced weather conditions exceptionally favorable for maturing late corn, and while frosts have been quite general over the central and eastern portions of the corn belt no material damage is indicated. Probably less than 20 per cent of the crop in Iowa is unmatured, and while the proportion yet exposed to injury in South Dakota, Minnesota, and Wisconsin is greater, the immature will make good feed. Farther south only a small part of the crop is still soft. Cutting is general in all sections, and some new corn has been marketed in southern Kansas.

While the conditions have been favorable for thrashing spring wheat in the spring wheat region, reports of dampness of grain in shock as a result of previous rains continue. Harvest is now completed on the north Pacific coast and thrashing has advanced.

Cotton Picking Progresses.

With generally seasonable temperature and practically no rain over nearly the entire cotton belt, cotton has opened rapidly and picking has been actively carried on, a large part of the crop already having been gathered. Cool nights and the general prevalence of drought in the central and western districts have been detrimental, and rust and shedding continue extensively reported, although rust is less prevalent in Georgia.

On the whole the crop has suffered deterioration, especially in the central and western portions of the belt. Little or no top crop is promised. In Texas the plant has almost entirely ceased fruiting, and in some central counties is dying. In North Carolina the conditions have favored the maturity of late cotton, and in South Carolina premature opening has been checked. (The weather map of Sept. 29 shows that good showers fell over a large part of the drought region of Texas and Oklahoma during the previous twenty-four hours.)

Some tobacco remains to be cut in Kentucky and Tennessee, where the late plants has suffered much from drought, but as a whole the crop is practically housed.

OBITUARY.

GEORGE H. PARK, Austin, Ill., died yesterday at his residence, 135 South Park avenue. Mr. Park was stricken with apoplexy Monday afternoon at Twenty-second street and Ellis avenue, while talking to friends. He was born in Newberry, Mass., in 1833, and came to Chicago in 1858, and built the Park Planing mill at Twenty-second street and Archer avenue. In 1888 Mr. Park retired from the business and moved to Austin. For many years he was president of the Cicero school board, and prominent in republican political circles in Cook county. Mr. Park is survived by a widow. The funeral will be Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the residence.

DR. JAMES M. BRYDON, Chicago, one of the oldest family physicians in the city, died early yesterday morning at his home, 3952 Michigan avenue. He was 59 years old and was born in Scotland. He came to the United States in 1865 and studied medicine in Indianapolis. His first practice was at Fond du Lac, Wis. He came to Chicago twenty-five years ago. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the Calvary Baptist church. The interment will be at Oakwoods.

MARCUS EMERSON KELLOGG, Chicago, founder of the Conservatory of Fine Arts, will be buried tomorrow, the funeral taking place at his late residence, 523 South Western avenue, at 1 p. m. He died on Sunday. He was born in Vermont seventy-seven years ago. In 1893 he founded the conservatory and remained at the head of it until 1901.

HENRY DEMAREST LLOYD'S funeral will be held at 2001 Michigan-av., and will be private. The family announces that "friends may come this afternoon to bid him good-by, at flat C, 2001 Michigan-av."

Tries Suicide and Is Arrested.

Suffering from a bullet wound in the right temple, Walter Williams of Pittsburg, Pa., 29 years old, was found in Garfield park yesterday afternoon. According to the police he shot himself in an attempt to commit suicide. After having his wound dressed Williams was taken to the West Lake street station, where he was locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct.

PLAN TO FORCE BULGARIAN WAR

Rising in Eastern Macedonia Started with Sympathy of Regular Officers.

HUNDREDS JOIN REBELS.

Americans Seek to Secure Admission of Red Cross to Field of Operations.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 29.—A telegram received here from the camp of Gen. Zontcheff, the commander in chief of the Macedonian insurgents, at Razlog, fifty-five miles from Sofia, announces that a general rising was proclaimed on Sept. 27 in the districts of Razlog, Nevrokop, Demirbissar, Melnik, and Seres, and that all the insurgent bands in eastern Macedonia had received direct orders to begin operations.

The chief hope of the revolutionary organization now centers in the outbreak in eastern Macedonia, which is expected to assume considerable proportions, as the leaders there are all officers of the Bulgarian reserve. This, the sympathizers with the Macedonian cause hope, will arouse a war feeling in the Bulgarian army and force the government to espouse the Macedonian cause.

Dispatches received here from various sources say Gen. Zontcheff has been greeted everywhere with the greatest enthusiasm, and that all the peasants are flocking to his banner.

Attack on Turks Is Repulsed.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

SALONICA, Macedonia, Sept. 29.—A band of insurgents on Sept. 27 attacked with bombs the Turkish quarter at Razlog and were repulsed with loss.

Orders have been received to stop the military movements, but large quantities of ammunition and fifteen guns were sent today to Demirhissar (forty-five miles from Seres).

The American mission has presented a petition to Minister Leishman and Sir Nicholas O'Conor, the British ambassador, requesting them to secure the admission of a corps of the Red Cross society into Turkey, or, as an alternative, permission for the members of the American mission to dispense charity.

A dispatch from Rilo monastery says the town of Razlog has been in flames since Sunday night.

The insurgents are attacking Butchevo, and severe fighting is reported to be going on between the insurgent bands and the Turkish troops. The sound of artillery is plainly heard at Rilo.

Another fight is reported to have taken place near Okhrida (twenty-eight miles from Monastir), in which fifty Turks were killed and many were wounded.

Prisoners Sent in Chains.

It is reported that all the intelligent Bulgarians of the town of Okhrida were recently arrested on suspicion of communicating with the insurgent bands and were sent in chains to Monastir.

A letter from Philippopolis dated yesterday says the authorities there have distributed rifles and ammunition in all the frontier villages, for use in case of an attack being made by the Turks.

British Representations Made.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 29.—Sir N. O'Conor, the British ambassador to Turkey, made a declaration to the porte yesterday in support of the Austro-Russian scheme of reforms in Macedonia. At the same time the ambassador pointed out the inadequate nature of the reforms and the inefficiency of the measures that have been taken for their application.

Omar Pasha has been nominated commander in chief of all the forces in European Turkey, with his staff chosen by himself.

Protest Meeting in London.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—A massmeeting of protest against the situation in Macedonia was held in St. James' hall here tonight and was presided over by the bishop of Worcester. Resolutions were adopted urging the government to take action looking to putting an end to Turkish rule in Macedonia.

Albanians Slaughter at Will.

A news agency dispatch from Losengrad says two battalions of Albanians quartered in Bulgarian houses in that place for several weeks have robbed and killed Bulgarians at will and maltreated women and girls. In one case the Albanians captured a Jew and cut off his hands. Many women and girls have been taken to Turkish harems. Signs are placed on Bulgarian houses, so they may be known, and when a signal to massacre is given the town is surrounded by troops and no Bulgarians are allowed to enter or leave.

ALASKAN TRIBUNAL RESUMES.

Counsel Who Fainted Recovers and Concludes His Argument in Behalf of Canada.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Christopher Robinson, K. C., of counsel for Canada, who swooned during yesterday's session of the Alaskan boundary commission, had so far recovered that he was able to continue his argument today. Mr. Robinson contended that article 7 of the treaty of 1825 meant reciprocal privileges in Lisiere and that this implied the jurisdiction of Great Britain over certain inland waters and that south of the parallel of 54 degrees and 40 minutes, to which the United States claims that article 7 refers, Russia had no right to grant such privileges.

After Mr. Robinson closed Hannis Taylor, of counsel for the United States, took up the case from the standpoint of international law. He dealt with the status of the two trading companies in Hudson bay, the Russian and American concerns.

Great Britain, he said, has contended that the actions of these companies has not bound the nations interested. Mr. Taylor maintained they were not private companies, but great political agencies, quasi-sovereign in power, and as such subject to international law.

SOCIALISTS DENOUNCE CZAR.

Two Thousand at Meeting in Vienna Listen to Addresses of the Most Violent Character.

VIENNA, Sept. 29.—A meeting of 2,000 socialists was held tonight to protest against the visit of the czar of Russia. Addresses of the most violent character were made. One speaker remarked:

"The czar, whose only instruments of cultivation are the gallows, the prison, and Siberia, comes like a thief, affected by the cries of his crimes, between cordons of troops."

A resolution denouncing the czar's visit as an offense to Russia's liberal population was not allowed to be passed by the official representative.

The meeting broke up with shouts of "Down with the czar."

APPEAL FROM SOFIA Y. M. C. A.

Association Asks Aid for Suffering Macedonians—Week of Prayer Is Urged.

An appeal from the Young Men's Christian association in Sofia has been made to their brother members in Chicago and other cities for aid for the suffering Macedonians and also a special week of prayer for their deliverance from atrocities of the Turks.

After describing present conditions, the appeal continues:

"Civilized Europe sees this, but diplomacy does not wish to know. In her heart there is no mercy, there is no sympathy, no germ of the teaching of Jesus Christ."

CHICAGO WAITER WHO HAS INHERITED BIG ESTATE AND MADE SHOP GIRL A COUNTESS.

Count Romolo Mainardi Ferreri, until recently a waiter at the Hotel Stratford in this city, sailed from New York for Italy yesterday to take full possession of a million dollar estate left him by his mother. The count takes back with him to Italy a wife who was clerk in a Brooklyn department store.

Count Ferreri has lived in Switzerland, France, Egypt, England, and the United States since he left his home thirty years ago. He has worked as waiter at the Auditorium and Grand Central hotels in Chicago and was head waiter at the Sherman house a few years ago. Speaking of his inheritance he said: "I was working as a plain waiter at the Stratford when I heard of my mother's death. Then I took off my apron and jacket, handed in my badge to the head waiter, and went to Italy. There I succeeded in establishing my identity and came into possession of a great part of the estate which I now hold."

CRISIS HURTS ENGLAND.

BALFOUR'S DELAY FURTHER DISCREDITS GOVERNMENT.

Hesitancy Shown by Lord Milner Excites Criticism That Real Statesmen Are Scarce in Conservative Ranks—Choice of Austen Chamberlain for Exchequer Likewise Regarded as Ill Advised—Money Market Greatly Disturbed by the Uncertainty.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—A prolongation of the ministerial crisis seems likely, judging from newspaper comment, to still further discredit the government. It had been taken for granted that Premier Balfour would complete the reconstruction of the cabinet before going to Sheffield to deliver his long expected speech explaining his fiscal policy, which is due on Oct. 1.

It is now seen that that is impossible, and the apparent waiting for Lord Milner's decision is commented on in conservative as well as liberal papers as emphasizing the dearth of first class statesmen in the conservative ranks. A large section of the unionist party is restive under the report that Mr. Balfour is supporting Mr. Brodrick in the latter's determination to remain at the war office.

Lord Milner's reluctance to accept office is attributed among other reasons to hesitancy to commit himself as a party man.

Another point made by the liberal papers is the absence of a responsible chancellor of the exchequer at the moment that the country is experiencing a serious financial crisis, needing the presence of a strong finance minister. The alarming decline in consols and other gilt edged stocks is attributed largely to the enormous accumulation of the national debt as the outcome of the south African war and the settlement in south Africa.

The Daily News ridicules the idea of placing a practically untried man such as Austen Chamberlain in the position of chancellor of the exchequer at a grave crisis, when Great Britain is threatened with a serious loss of credit and a possible shock to the whole banking system.

The conservative press is almost equally emphatic in regretting the protracted crisis.

SERVIAN OFFICERS SENTENCED.

Those Who Were Charged with Conspiracy Against Murderers of King and Queen Hear Fate.

BELGRADE, Servia, Sept. 29.—The trial of the army officers charged with conspiracy against the murderers of King Alexander and Queen Draga was concluded today. Capts. Novakovitch and Lazarevitch, the former being the ringleader, were sentenced to two years' imprisonment and the loss of their commissions. Dr. Velikovitch and Capt. Lotkijevitch, the former aid de camp of King Alexander, each received sentences of a month's imprisonment. Other officers who took a less prominent part tin the conspiracy were condemned to from three months to a year in prison. It is anticipated that King Peter will pardon all the conspirators.

PRISON FOR FILIPINO LEADER.

Native Convicted of Sedition in Aiding the Rebels Is Sentenced at Manila.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

MANILA, Sept. 29.—Dr. Dominador Gomez, president of the workingmen's union and an agitator who has been accused of using the funds of the organization to forward the purposes of the ladrones and revolutionists in various provinces, was arraigned before Judge Sweeney today for sentence on charges of sedition on which he recently was convicted. The judge sentenced Gomez to serve four years and two months in prison at hard labor and pay a fine of 3,250 pesetas.

SOLDIERS STONE OFFICERS.

Fifteen Members of German Regiment Are Arrested for Offense—Discontent Blamed on Socialist Victories.

BERLIN, Sept. 29.—Private soldiers belonging to the Second (Baden) Grenadier regiment, threw stones at their officers recently while riding at Reichertshausen. Fifteen of the soldiers were arrested and have been taken to Heidelberg for trial. Members of this regiment were recently sentenced for assaulting a sergeant named Peters. The army authorities hold the socialist successes at the elections to be partly responsible for the discontent among the soldiers.

DICKENS' BIRTHPLACE SOLD.

Museum to Be Established in House Where Author Spent Early Years of His Life.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The birthplace of Charles Dickens, 387 Commercial road, Landport, near the Portsmouth dockyard, where his father was a clerk, and in which the author spent the earlier part of his life, was sold at auction at Portsmouth tonight and bought in for $5,625 by the mayor, representing the city of Portsmouth. It was announced that a Dickens museum probably would be established in the house.

FEARS FOR AUSTRALIA.

EARL OF LONSDALE SAYS IT HAS TOO MANY LAWS.

Declares Legislature There Has Stifled All Industry by Its Zealous Enactments and Statutes—Burden of Officials Too Heavy for Wealth of the Country—In Discussing Orient He Says Russia Plans to Gobble Manchuria.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 29.—The earl of Lonsdale, who arrived today on the steamer Ventura on his way home from Australia, says that the conditions there resulting from the political situation are both unsatisfactory and alarming. The Australian parliament, he declares, has enacted laws that are disastrous, stifling industry, and the government at the same time is top heavy and overpaid. Instead of having one governor for each colony, appointed by the crown, he believes one governor general for the commonwealth ought to be sufficient head for the government.

His observations in the orient led him to believe that Russia was playing an interesting game in the far east.

"She may withdraw a battalion of troops, but as she does so she sends in a railroad battalion to take its place, and these battalions are there for work more serious than to take care of railroads," he said. "Russia is prepared to gobble all the trade now enjoyed by America. She will oust all the Americans from the Yalu river for one thing, cutting into the lumber trade now being shipped from this coast by opening up the rich timber belt owned by Russian firms in the Yalu district."

The earl will spend about two weeks in the United States before sailing from New York for England.

MARRIAGE DECLARED ILLEGAL.

Attorneys for Claus Spreckels Deny Right of His Daughter to Name of Mrs. Watson.

HONOLULU, Sept. 29.—The attorneys for Claus Spreckels assert that the marriage of Mrs. Thomas Watson, daughter of Mr. Spreckels, to Mr. Watson is void. Mrs. Watson, now of England, is suing her father for the recovery of a block of Honolulu property valued at $400,000, which she conveyed to him soon after her marriage in 1894. The marriage led to an estrangement between daughter and parents, and Mrs. Watson returned the property, which previously had been presented to her. The present suit is based on the fact that Mrs. Watson's deed of conveyance did not bear her husband's signature. Mr. Spreckels' attorneys allege Mr. Watson had been previously married in 1889 and that the divorce he secured in Utah in 1876 was illegal and consequently his second marriage is void.

NEW RUSSIAN WAR MINISTER.

Advices from St. Petersburg State Gen. Sakharoff Will Succeed Kouropatkin—Indicates Change in Policy.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—Official advices from St. Petersburg indicate that Gen. Sakharoff, the chief of state, will soon succeed Gen. Kouropatkin as minister for war. The latter shared with M. Witte, the president of the council of ministers and former minister of finance, the disfavor growing out of the Manchurian complications. The change is considered significant of a modification of the Russian military policy in the far east and along the Russian frontier in Europe, being contemporaneous with a reduction of the military department at Kieff, commanding the Russian frontier. It was rumored in military circles that Gen. Kouropatkin would be appointed governor of the Caucasus.

THREATEN CHIEF OF POLICE.

Helena, Mont., Dynamiters Said to Aim at Official Instead of Against City Jail.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 29.—The threats made by the Northern Pacific dynamiters against the Helena police were directed against the residence of Chief of Police Thomas Travis and not the city jail, as first reported. The letter containing the threats also contained personal threats against Chief Travis and Detective O'Brien. The Travis residence is guarded. The reward of $5,000 offered by Gov. Toole for the capture of the dynamiters expires on Sept. 30, but it is understood it will be renewed.

FISHERMAN FINDS A CORPSE.

Draws Body of Missing Man from Chautauqua Lake in New York—Indicates a Tragedy.

Jamestown, N. Y., Sept. 29.—F. W. Hinkle of Cincinnati, while fishing in Chautauqua lake today, drew to the surface the body of a man. The body was later identified as Aaron Spencer, fifty years a resident of Boomerton. The discovery of the body indicates a tragedy, as Spencer left Lakewood on Sunday in company with Fred Metcalfe of Boomerton. Metcalfe has not since been seen.

SHORTS PINCHED IN COTTON BOOM

MAY STRIKE ON SCHOOLS

Unions Declare They Will Stop Work Unless Nonunion Men Are Discharged.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, Sept. 30.

An advance of 1¼ cents a pound, or $7.50 a bale, in September cotton today gave the shorts a terrific drubbing. The price closed at the highest, which is 13⅝ cents a pound. Spot cotton went up 1¾ cents to 13 cents for middling uplands and 13¾ cents for middling gulf. This is the biggest one day's advance in spot that ever has been recorded on the exchange. The movement is looked upon as being in the nature of a dramatic ending to the bull clique's operations.

Cotton Makes Record Jump; Shorts Pinched.

The shorts have been rushing the actual cotton forward, but the course of today's market for September contracts showed they had failed to bring enough here to cover their commitments. It is reported tonight that settlements were made by various of the local shorts with the bull clique at 13 cents a pound to an approximate total of 20,000 bales. Settlements also are reported to have been made by the bears in the Liverpool market for a total of 5,000 bales at 14 cents a pound, or $70 a bale.

It is known that some of the largest dealers in cotton on the local market who were caught by the bull clique's operations suffered large losses. The New Orleans men had practically complete control ever since last June and the corner which they engineered in the old crop months and which extended over into the first new crop month—September—affected the markets of the world. It resulted in the shutting down of mills both here and abroad and the reshipping to this country of American cotton which had reached Europe. It is reported in trade circles that the bull clique, which is now closing up its corner operations, has gone short on the later new crop months.

The total running stock of cotton now here amounts to 100,000 bales, so the advance in spot cotton of $8.75 a bale is equivalent to a gain in value in this stock of $875,000 in twenty-four hours.

The Consolidated Stock exchange firm of Taylor & Mandeville suspended today. Failure of customers to meet their margins in yesterday's sharp break is believed to account for the failure. The firm is composed of Henry B. Taylor and J. Arthur Mandeville. Taylor was a member of the board of managers of the Consolidated exchange.

Walking delegates today notified the building department of the board of education that unless all nonunion men now employed on school buildings are immediately discharged a general strike will be ordered and all work on school structures be brought to a sudden stop. Last July, when a committee from the United Board of Building Trades assured the board of education that the unions would not interfere with the school work, forces of mechanics, both union and nonunion, were put at work and many men were employed on repair work in the hope that additional room might be made available for part of the 70,000 children whom strikes and lockouts have deprived of school room.

Unions Threaten Strike on School Buildings.

This work has been progressing as rapidly as possible and, all told, there are about fifty jobs on which work is being done. All the union men on these jobs are likely to quit unless a few nonupion men are discharged. The Brooklyn jobs will be more seriously affected, because more men are employed there.

The wedding of Robert Farquhar to Miss Marion Jones, the daughter of ex-Senator Jones of Nevada, was celebrated at noon today at Grace church, the Rev. Charles Walkley officiating. The bride, who was escorted to the chancel of the church by her father, was gowned in white satin, trimmed with Mechlin lace. Miss Georgina Jones, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and was frocked in yellow chiffon, lace trimmed. Chester Aldrich was Mr. Farquhar's best man.

Robert Farquhar Weds Daughter of Ex-Senator Jones.

The church ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast for the relatives and a few intimate friends only at the residence of the bride's parents at 237 East Seventeenth street. American beauty roses were used as decorations at the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Farquhar are booked to sail to Europe tomorrow. After traveling in Italy and France they will on their return make their home in New York.

Counsel of George W. Beavers, the former head of the salary and allowances division in Washington, after a consultation today with Assistant United States District Attorney Wise, announced that the hearing in the Beavers case scheduled for tomorrow had been adjourned until Oct. 12. The reason for the adjournment was not given, but it is understood that the counsel for the defense wished to have all of the hearings on the three indictments go over until after a decision had been had in connection with the motions to punish Postoffice Inspector Little and United States District Attorney Youngs of Brooklyn, and the latter's stenographer, Miss Wren, for contempt of court in failing to obey the subpœnas of United States Commissioner Hitchcock and attend the hearings. These motions are to be argued before United States Circuit Court Judge Lacombe on Friday.

Beavers' Hearing Is Set for Oct. 12.

The bill of complaint in the action brought by Frau Cosima Wagner, widow of Richard Wagner, and her son, Siegfried Wagner, to prevent the production here by Heinrich Conried of the sacred music drama, "Parsifal," was filed today in the United States Circuit court.

The body of the boy found under a pile of boards and canvas on the Joy line pier yesterday was identified at the morgue today as that of Fidora Litarra, an Italian, 12 years old. The boy left home Saturday morning and was not seen alive again by his family. The boy had no enemies so far as his brother knew. The autopsy showed that death had been caused by asphyxiation. The ribs on the left side were bent, but not broken, and had been forced against the lungs so as to prevent the boy from breathing. There was no fracture of the skull or of any other bones.

Light on Murder of Italian Boy.

Bishops Mackay-Smith and Burgess assisted.

Dr. Clarence G. Bowers of Green Point, 25 years old, of athletic build and sound in mind and body, has disappeared somewhere between Jersey City and Westville, N. J., and his relatives and friends are mystified. He started Saturday evening with G. D. Landis to visit the latter's father in Westville. On the train they tried to cross the platform from one car to another. The train lurched around a curve and Bowers was hurled headlong from the car. A searching party returned along the track as soon as the train could be stopped, but found no trace of the missing man.

Doctor Mysteriously Disappears.

MURDER CHARGE FOR MOB

CORONER'S JURY AT LYNCHBURG, TENN., NAMES 27 MEN.

Killing of Negro Allen Small During Raid on County Jail Declared Deliberate, Malicious, and Premeditated—Fourteen Are Arrested and Warrants for Others Issued—Three Prisoners Turn State's Evidence and Will Be Witnesses at Trial.

Lynchburg, Tenn., Sept. 29.—The coroner's jury has returned a verdict to the effect that the negro, Allen Small, who was killed last Thursday night during a raid on the Moore county jail, was deliberately, maliciously, and premeditatedly murdered, and twenty-seven men are named in the verdict as guilty of the crime.

Fourteen of the mob are under arrest and warrants for the others have been issued.

Three of the prisoners have turned state's evidence, and have been released on bond on condition that they will appear as witnesses for the prosecution.

Delaware Mob Not Indicted.

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 29.—The grand jury today announced that it had decided to ignore the bill against those charged with being concerned with the burning at the stake of George White, the negro who murdered Miss Helen Bishop.

Cassatt Resigns an Office.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 29.—Andrew J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, has resigned as third vice president of the Public Service corporation, and A. B. Carlton, president of the United Electric company before it was absorbed by the Public Service corporation, was elected in his place.

EASTERN PLAYER LEADS GOLFERS.

Mrs. Caleb F. Fox Makes Remarkable Score in Women's Championship.

COVERS COURSE IN 94.

Mrs. Barlow of Philadelphia Is Second—Miss Anthony and Miss Carpenter Tie.

Playing some of the best golf in her career, Mrs. Caleb F. Fox of the Huntingdon Valley Country club and champion of Philadelphia, led the field in the qualifying round of the women's national championship on the course of the Chicago Golf club at Wheaton yesterday. Her score of 94 was the feature of the day, and one of the few surprises in the six hour session preliminary to the real work of the tournament. With a field containing the majority of the leading players of the country it was expected that at best there would not be more than four scores under the century mark, and no one had nerve enough to predict a count of six strokes under. The figures are thirteen strokes better than the best previous mark recorded by a woman in competition—107 by Miss Bessie Anthony last year.

Not being content with taking first place, Philadelphia also took second, Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow of the Merion Cricket club, runner up last year to Mrs. Fox in the city championship, finishing three strokes behind the leader. At this juncture Miss Bessie Anthony, consistent as ever, and Miss J. A. Carpenter put a stop to the prize getting proclivities of the eastern contingent by tying for third prize, for which they will have to play off.

Weather Conditions the Best.

Better weather conditions could not have been provided for the fifty-nine aspirants for the championship who started to negotiate the 6,000 yards of rolling course. The southwesterly breeze was not strong enough to handicap the players and warm sunshine enabled them to lay aside their heavy wraps. Velvety greens and a fine fair green left nothing to be provided, and the fact that the scores were higher than in previous tournaments is only a tribute to the championship character of the links. Of the thirty-two players who qualified eleven are from the east and twenty-one from the west, but in proportion to the number of starters from each section the percentage is much in favor of the east.

Pairings for Today.

Two rounds will be played today, and as the pairings were drawn by lot several of the matches will have a material bearing on the final result. Miss Bessie Anthony and Mrs. Barlow will come together in the morning and the winner will have to meet the winner of the Biddle-Fox match in the afternoon. Play in the morning round will start at 10 o'clock, the draw being as follows:

Mrs. C. L. Dering, Midlothian, vs. Miss M. Higgins, Midlothian.
Miss F. E. Griscom, Merion, vs. Miss E. Collins, St. Louis.
Miss Robertson, Glen View, vs. Mrs. P. Manchester, Glen View.
Miss E. Young, Calumet, vs. Miss F. Osgood, Brookline.
Mrs. R. H. Barlow, Merion, vs. Miss Bessie Anthony, Glen View.
Miss L. Biddle, Riverton, vs. Mrs. Caleb Fox, Huntingdon Valley.
Mrs. W. B. McIlvaine, Onwentsia, vs. Miss F. Everett, Exmoor.
Miss J. A. Carpenter, Westward Ho, vs. Mrs. A. T. H. Brower, Chicago.
Mrs. Elliott Rodgers, Edgeworth, vs. Miss L. A. Wells, Brookline.
Miss G. Bishop, Brooklawn, vs. Mrs. L. McNair, St. Louis.
Mrs. H. A. Beidler, Lake Geneva, vs. Miss H. Bishop, St. Louis.
Miss K. C. Harley, Fall River, vs. Miss H. Kenny, Minikahda.
Miss M. Anthony, Evanston, vs. Miss Florence Borden, Fall River.
Mrs. W. A. Alexander, Exmoor, vs. Miss Jane Durel, Edgewater.

The Misses Spence are both English, coming from Liverpool.

In practice Mrs. Fox had never made the course in less than 112 strokes.

Mrs. McNair, Miss Osgood, Miss Higgins, Miss Everett, and Miss Harley all drove well.

This afternoon there will be a consolation handicap at eighteen holes for nonqualifiers.

Vice President Martin, Secretary Heebner, and Director Thomas Taylor Jr. ran things smoothly.

Miss G. Bishop of Brooklawn and Miss Helen F. Bishop, who is entered from St. Paul, are sisters.

Ralph Cracknell, the Boston critic, thinks that Boston, Philadelphia, and Bridgeport have sent their three best players.

Mrs. Clement E. Griscom gave the eastern players lots of encouragement and there was lots of merriment in the camp.

Two rounds in one day are not to the liking of the contestants, especially with a random draw in which several of them will have two hard matches to play.

Miss Osgood, the Boston champion, was weak in her putting, taking twenty-three strokes on the home journey. Miss Fox was particularly strong in this department.

The play off of the tie for the last three places resulted in some grotesque golf. Miss Robertson got a clever six, but Mrs. Beidler, Miss Kenny, and Miss Ainslie gave weird exhibitions and took ten strokes each. At the second hole Miss Ainslie was bunkered and took eight, the other two getting sixes.

Professional caddies were much in evidence. Miss Griscom had J. H. Archfield of Haverford and Mrs. R. H. Barlow was advised by R. M. Thompson of Merion, a North Berwick boy. Among the local players out were Richard Leslie, James Herd, David McIntosh, Chester Horton, and James Watson.

Dernbach Wins Medal.

Adam Dernbach won the finals and gold medal of the Milton Golf club at Wheaton yesterday, defeating W. J. Fox by 5 up and 4 to play in thirty-six holes. Dernbach won every match down to the finals by default. His medal score for eighteen holes was 84.

GAMES FOR THE BIG ELEVENS.

Today's Contests on the College Gridirons Bring Leading Teams Into Action, with Two Exceptions.

Chicago-Monmouth at Marshall field.
Northwestern-Alumni at Sheppard field.
Minnesota-Macalester college at Minneapolis.
Illinois-Missouri Osteopaths at Champaign.
Iowa-Coe college.
Harvard-Bowdoin at Cambridge.
Yale-Tufts at New Haven.
Princeton-Swarthmore at Princeton.
Penn-Franklin and Marshall at Philadelphia.
Columbia-Wesleyan at New York.
Cornell-Alfred at Ithaca.

A goodly number of midweek games today will bring into action nearly all the big teams of the country, only Michigan and Wisconsin still preferring to continue practice contests with their own scrubs rather than with some willing victim among the smaller colleges. Locally both colleges have games, Chicago playing Monmouth at Marshall field, while the Northwestern team meets an alumni eleven in the annual contest on Sheppard field.

The Northwestern game is likely to prove the more interesting of the two, both as a social event—which it always is—and as a real football game. The alumni eleven is to be made up of many of Northwestern's former stars, who, if they were in their old time condition, would show some teams stronger than Northwestern a thing or two about how the gridiron game is played. Van Doozer, the great half back, is to be there together with Hunter, Perry, Thorne, Dietz, Daly, Davidson, and Johnson. And it is not impossible McCornack's candidates may come out second best.

Chicago's game with Monmouth can hardly prove more interesting than a practice game, unless "the old man" puts into the field for the first half a collection of comedians such as amused the rooters last Wednesday. Minnesota will take on another little college, Coach Williams' men lining up against the team of Macalester college.

Coach Stagg treated his men to a scrimmage yesterday, the first they have had since Saturday's game. Two teams of almost equal strength were pitted against each other, the old men being placed on both elevens. One touchdown was made by Hora, who was playing on full back, the team of which Catlin and Kirby were the halves, while Lee Maxwell played quarter. Both squads showed up better on defense than on offense.

Two new men were out—Hood, a crack third baseman from the University of Nebraska, and Thomas. Hill and Schnur did not show up, being busy with examinations.

The training table has been started with the men assigned to Hitchcock hall as the first "guests."

Graduate Manager Charles H. Kilpatrick of Wisconsin was here for a conference with Stagg. A contract was drawn up by them for submission to their respective athletic boards, providing for a series of four annual football games. In 1904 and 1906 the games are to be on Thanksgiving day in Chicago. In 1905 and 1907 the games are to be played some time in November in Madison, Milwaukee, or Chicago at the option of Wisconsin.

Kilpatrick also discussed with Stagg the cross country run which is being planned for next Thanksgiving morning. Michigan proposed to Stagg a dual contest. Stagg would like to make the run an intercollegiate event, which Wisconsin would like to enter.

Kilpatrick said Wisconsin was going to have a better team this year than many people think. He said that there were 65 men out for practice on Monday and that 100 will be on the field during the first week of college.

IMPROVEMENT AT EVANSTON.

McCornack's Northwestern Squad Has Excellent Practice and Team Is Developing Fast.

Football practice at Northwestern yesterday was the best so far this season. The team is developing rapidly. McCornack put the men through a short, hard scrimmage last night in which the scrubs made one touchdown on the regulars. Sherlock, half back on last year's team, was put in at end on the scrubs and broke up the interference in spectacular style. He also succeeded several times in breaking through and tackling the first team's backs for loss behind the line.

Near the end of the scrimmage he received an injury on the head and had to be carried from the field. He will not be out for practice for several days. Driscoll, a new man from the dental school, who weighs 173, was played at right tackle and showed up well.

A double header will be played today, the opposing teams being an alumni team and West Division High school. The regulars will be played first against the alumni and followed by the scrubs against West Division. The lineup of the alumni team will be: Left end, Daly and Davidson; left tackle, Dietz; left guard, Thomas; center, Pierce; right guard, Thorne; right tackle, McClusky; right end, McChesney and Sawyer; quarter back, Hunter; left half back, Perry; right half back, Van Doozer; full back, Johnson.

BUCHANAN IN TROUBLE.

UNSATISFACTORY EXHIBITION ON INCUBATOR AT HARLEM.

Boy Meets with More Interference in Mile and a Sixteenth Event than a Messenger in the Parade, and His Mount Finishes Third to Fingal and Marshalsea—Is Called Into the Stand to Explain and Case Is Taken Under Advisement.

Jockey William Buchanan, who only recently received a license from the Western Jockey club, after having been out in the cold all summer, as a result of suspicious rides at New Orleans last winter, got himself into serious disfavor with Col. Hamilton, the presiding judge at Harlem, yesterday afternoon through his ride on Incubator in the last race.

The race was at a mile and a sixteenth and after various vicissitudes, Fingal the second choice, won, with Marshalsea, a rank outsider, second, and Incubator third. Incubator seemed to have some dormant speed stored away, but he had trouble in getting to a clear spot where he might show it. In fact, he met with more interference than a messenger boy did in getting through last night's parade downtown. But whereas a messenger boy is always anxious to hurry, there were some unkind enough to insinuate that Buchanan was looking for the interference he found so often. As the angry backers of the horse expressed it, "the boy found every pocket in sight and some others."

Judge Hamilton was inclined to take this view and called Buchanan into the stand. The boy's only explanation was that he had heard before the race that some of the other jockeys had threatened to bump him. The jockey's case was taken under advisement. Some of the trainers think Incubator was not up to a good race. It is claimed he was heavily backed, despite the fact his price advanced from 7 to 5 to 11 to 5, and this was one of the things which aroused unfavorable comment. Fingal, the winner of the race, was the medium of a heavy play.

Our Bessie added another mile and a quarter victory to her list of successes over a distance of ground. In against Dr. Stephens, Postmaster Wright, and Little Elkin, she rated behind Dr. Stephens for nine furlongs and then came away and won handily. Ferrell, who is developing into a good rider, handled her most cleverly.

The track was improved and will be fast today. There was a good attendance.

LAKESIDE MEETING GIVEN UP.

Reports That Dates Would Be Filled at Worth Are Erroneous—Indiana Track Will Be Abandoned.

Racing around Chicago this season will close with the regular Worth meeting. John Condon said yesterday that the report that the dates originally assigned to Lakeside would be filled at Worth or some other local track, were erroneous.

"We decided to cut out the meeting altogether," says Mr. Condon. "We have found that as a rule few good horses remain for a meeting so late in the year, and that with the first cold day the good horses are carted to Latonia or elsewhere. Then, the newspapers have jumped on us so much for the Lakeside meeting that we concluded to give up the dates."

TRINITY BELL UNDER SHADOW.

Morris Park Stewards Investigate John A. Drake's Betting on Monday's Race—Wishard Sells Horse.

New York, Sept. 29.—[Special.]—The stewards of the Westchester Racing association decided today to investigate the race won by John A. Drake's Trinity Bell yesterday, when the mare, after a number of poor races, suddenly developed great speed and was backed down from 20 to 1 to 6 to 1.

The first move by the stewards was taking up the layers' sheets on the race. Several bookmakers estimated the Drake combination had taken at least $30,000 out of the ring. In line with this statement was the fact Drake wagered $500 at 12 to 1 and $500 at 10 to 1 with Bill Cowan, taking $11,000 alone from his cashier.

With another book Drake made three separate wagers, one of $100 at 15 to 1, another of $100 at 10 to 1, and a third of $300 at 7 to 1. When the horses were at the post William Bissert, one of Drake's commissioners, offered a layer $1,000 at 5 to 1, which was promptly turned down.

So little did Wishard think of Trinity Bell's chances he accepted an offer of $500 for her before the race, win or lose, from J. E. Madden, acting in behalf of T. C. Hitchcock Jr. The check was handed over today. Today's summaries:

First race, September selling hurdle race, 1¾ miles, over seven hurdles—Amur, 153 pounds [Mara], 5 to 1, won; McGrathiana Prince, 153 [Pending], 20 to 1, second; Draughtsman, 153 [G. YANGER LOSES BOUT ON POINTS.

CONTEST GOES TO LIMIT.

Californian Changes Style of Boxing and Assumes Aggressive All the Way.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Eddie Hanlon of this city was given the decision over Benny Yanger of Chicago at Mechanics' pavilion tonight at the end of twenty furious rounds.

The verdict met the entire approval of the spectators, as there was never a time when Hanlon seemed not to have a good lead.

At the outset Hanlon assumed his old fighting crouch, but changed his style considerably, making a more aggressive contest, going to his man at all times instead of waiting for him. He used a right swing at the body which he landed on Yanger's ribs most effectively, and altogether improved his showing with "the Slasher" 50 per cent.

Yanger pursued his usual style of stabbing the 'Frisco boy with straight lefts when trying to cross with the right. Because of Hanlon's peculiar turtle like defense he found it hard to reach a vulnerable spot. He made a fine fight and fought back when it seemed as if he was almost gone.

Yanger Down in Fifteenth.

In the seventh and fifteenth rounds particularly, Hanlon took his most decided brace and seemed to be on the point of winding up the contest. In the fifteenth he dropped Yanger with a hard right on the jaw and Yanger came up, after taking the count, decidedly wobbly. Before he could steady himself he received another on the spot which sent him rolling.

Hanlon stepped in to finish the fight. Yanger, however, never lost his head, and, although unable to fight back, he managed to hold on and last out the round although he went to his corner with his legs shaking.

The toughness and remarkable recuperative powers of the Chicago boy were manifested at this stage of the contest, for he came up in the sixteenth round fighting like a demon, and if Hanlon had any the better of this round at its conclusion it was nothing more than a shade.

But Yanger had made his best fight and had shot his bolt. From the sixteenth on he was constantly obliged to clinch. Every time Hanlon landed one of those terrific blows of his he seemed to wilt, but his cool head never forsook him, and when he was not able to keep Hanlon from landing effectively by jabbing he clinched and so saved himself until the end.

Nearly Out in Twentieth.

In the twentieth, however, it was by sheer good luck that he was not knocked out, for Hanlon had him staggering all over the ring and holding on for dear life. As time was called he was holding, making only a pretense of fighting, and the referee's motion to separate the men was evidently a welcome one to the tired Chicago boy.

The decision was received without the usual protests, Hanlon's victory being a clean cut one. As Hanlon left the ring, after shaking hands with his opponent, he had a badly bruised nose and a red left eye to show for the fierce bout through which he had passed.

Yanger's body and back were a deep red, testifying to the number of triphammer jabs Hanlon had landed on his ribs and kidneys. He also had a badly swollen mouth, and was perceptibly weak as he stepped through the ropes to descend from the ring.

Chicagoan Leads at Start.

Hanlon in this fight, for the first time abandoned his crouch. In the beginning of the sixth round he stood up and fought. Prior to that and up to the ninth Yanger had the better of it on points. He reached Hanlon time and again without a return. Hanlon up to this period showed no advantage. The ninth was the first round which could be called a Hanlon round. From this time on to the sixteenth he held his own. In the fifteenth he knocked his opponent down with a right hook on the jaw and seemed to have Yanger at his mercy.

By hanging on, however, Yanger managed to last through the round, although Hanlon tried desperately to land a knockout punch. In the seventeenth, eighteenth, and nineteenth Yanger seemed to have recovered. The last minute of the twentieth round he was again floored with a right and left hook on the jaw, and it looked as if the call of time saved him from a knockout.

Benny Shows Gameness.

Yanger fought with the greatest gameness and proved much the cleverer of the two, although Hanlon showed much improvement. There was never a moment's rest during the whole of the fight. Hanlon was always after his man and gave him little respite.

John Hertz, Yanger's manager, thought he should have had a draw, as he claimed his protégé had the better of it in the greater number of rounds. Yanger, on leaving the ring, was cheered by the crowd, even by the admirers of Hanlon.

Yanger said: "I have nothing to say. The referee gave the decision to Hanlon and that ends it. There is nothing more for me to say."

Hanlon said: "He is the toughest man I ever fought. He can stand more punishment and recuperate more quickly than any other man I have met. He is a tougher man than 'Young Corbett,' but he cannot punch as hard. This is the only advantage the champion has."

In the first preliminary Harry Sheridan and Jack Evans fought five fast rounds to a draw. The second bout, between Billy Otts and Frank Raphael, resulted in the latter being knocked out in the second round.

WISCONSIN TEAM DOES WELL.

Madison Varsity Eleven Scores Three Times on the Scrubs in Fifteen Minutes of Play.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—By fierce straight line work and plunges outside tackle, the Wisconsin varsity retrieved the defeat of yesterday and scored on the scrubs three times in fifteen minutes, today. Thousands of students watched the practice and left the field at the end, encouraged over the work of the men.

The varsity men went into play to give the scrubs a good drubbing and played a fierce game, and as soon as one back was tired another was put in his place. All gains were short, and several times the scrubs forced the first team to punt.

Findlay made the longest gain for the varsity, carrying the ball from left tackle for a gain of twenty yards. Baine drew applause from the crowd by the way he went into the play, while Vanderboom carried the ball in old time form. Bush was in his old place at right end for the first time this season and played through the entire scrimmage.

STAKE TO ALTA AXWORTHY

WINS THE HORSE REVIEW PURSE AT OAKLEY MEETING.

Two Year Olds Trot Three Fastest Miles Ever Made by Their Age in Race—Grace Bond Stumbles in Stretch in Second Heat—Caspian Proves Best Horse in $5,000 Ohio Event, with Billy Buck Scratched Because of Lameness—One Bad Looking Race.

[BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.]

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—The best race ever trotted by 2 year olds was put up at the Oakley track today by Alta Axworthy and Grace Bond, the pair of fillies contesting every foot of the three miles trotted, neither having as much as a length the best of it in any of the finishes, and most of the time they sped around the course like a double team.

The time of the miles was 2:14¾, 2:15¼, 2:15¾, the fastest three heats ever trotted by 2 years olds, and the first mile was only three-quarters of a second slower than the world's race record for 2 year old fillies.

Alta Axworthy, bred and owned by Al Thomas, an ex-Chicago trainer, was favorite on the strength of her western victories. Grace Bond stepped into the lead the instant the word was given, and before the quarter was reached Alta was at her wheel. The time there was :33¾. The next furlong was done at a 2:12 gait, Grace still a shade to the good. There was no change all the way home, the heat being won by a neck in 2:14¾.

Stumbles Near the Wire.

A slightly slower pace marked the second mile, the half being reached in 1:07¼. Grace Bond was winning at the distance stand when she stumbled and almost fell to her knees. The mistake cost her the heat by half a length. She made another fine effort in the third heat, but in the last hundred yards the Axworthy filly beat her out. California Cresceus, Major Cuthlein, Jessie Benyon, and Bequeath were distanced in the first mile; Madge Wildfire and Alice Edgar in the second, and The Hermit in the third, so that Alta Axworthy took down first, third, and fourth moneys in the $3,000 stake.

The $5,000 Ohio stake for 2:09 trotters was marred by the withdrawal of the star entry, Billy Buck, which is too lame to race. The horsemen thought Caspian the next best and he so proved, winning the first and second heats easily in 2:09¼, 2:10½, with Hawthorne second each time. The mare beat him back the third mile in 2:09¼, and The Roman, driven by Budd Doble, also finished ahead of him. The race was then at an end, it being one of Andy Welch's creations, scheduled to stop at the end of the three miles, the horse then standing best in the summary to be declared the winner. Under this ruling Caspian won, but not until after Hawthorne had shown she could beat him.

2:08 Pace Looks Bad.

The 2:08 pacers went four interesting heats, and the favorite, Council Chimes, finally won, although his victory was not creditable. He led to the home stretch in the first mile and then broke, Baron Rogers coming from behind and taking the heat with consummate ease in 2:07¼. He finished third in the next heat, which fell to Council Chimes in 2:08¼, the contender all the way being the Chicago stallion, Allerson. In the third mile Council Chimes was fairly outpaced in the home stretch by Larry Ginter, which carried him to a wild break.

It now looked bad for the Chimes horse, but in the next heat the only other starters, Ginter and Baron Rogers, allowed him to stroll to the quarter in :33½. With this loaf the son of Chimes managed to get home in 2:09¾. It was a bad looking race.

It was rumored today that Ed Geers, who leaves the employ of the Hamlins on Nov. 1, had been engaged by J. Malcolm Forbes to train his horses during 1904. The reported price was $22,000, it being added that an offer of $20,000, made by Tom Lawson of Boston, was under consideration by Geers. The driver would only say:

"I expect to go to Memphis when my contract with the Hamlins ends and open a public stable. The Forbes horses I am training were offered to me by wire, it being simply asked if I could handle them."

LITTLE SHAMROCK IS FIRST.

Wins Two Races of the Series for Webb Cup, Defeating La Rita, Hoosier, and Outlaw.

Little Shamrock, the twenty-one foot cabin class yacht purchased by Fred A. Price last Saturday, rewarded its owner yesterday by defeating La Rita, Hoosier, and Outlaw in the races of the Columbia Yacht club for the Thomas H. Webb championship cup. The courses were Van Buren street gap to four mile crib, to Carter Harrison crib, and back to the gap.

In both races Little Shamrock outreached the others on the first leg, nearly held its own on the run on the second leg, and signally defeated the fleet on the beat home, winning the forenoon race by one minute and forty seconds, and the afternoon sail by two and one-half minutes. The judges were Commodore J. F. McGuire and W. C. Helmbuecher of the Columbia Yacht club.

The final race of the series will be sailed this afternoon at 2:30 p. m. over the same course. Fred A. Price, Abe Burrill, Edward T. Balcom, William Avery, and Fred Billings composed Little Shamrock's crew, and their work was in marked contrast to that of the crew that handled the boat in the Lipton cup races.

Michigan Gets Hyde Parkers.

Michigan is getting its share this year of the star athletes who last year made Hyde Park famous as the champion "prep" school of the country. Tom Hammond, the big full back, who is making good with Yost's squad, will have as his companions Becker, center on last year's team, and Harry Hammond. The latter has already gone to Ann Arbor, while Becker leaves today for the Michigan school. The following games for the preparatory school teams are scheduled for today: Hyde Park vs. De La Salle institute; Calumet High vs. University High school.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

New York, 10; Detroit, 4.
Cleveland, 7; Philadelphia, 5 [ten innings].

The American league season ended yesterday with the final games in the schedule, but the baseball year is not yet ended. Instead of disbanding at once many of the teams will remain in action for another fortnight in all probability to engage in post-season series with rival clubs, which will give the fans something to talk about before settling down for the winter's dope on "next year."

The season has been a successful one for the American league clubs, in spite of the great disappointment furnished by the Chicago team and the handicap under which the new club in Gotham has struggled along. The Chicago team drew large crowds early in the season when it was in the race, and the patronage at the New York American league grounds has been increasing in the latter part of the year.

Philadelphia has not failed to back up its champions, although they failed to land the flag again. Boston has turned out immense week day crowds for its pennant winners, and Cleveland has been a money maker all the year. In spite of the immense salaries paid some of the stars secured in the big raid on the National league last fall, before peace was finally declared, five clubs in the young organization have done better than break even. These are Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, and Chicago. In Chicago and New York the margins have been small, but they are on the right side, the early attendances on the south side offsetting the smaller ones after the White Stockings fell out of the race. In New York President Gordon asserts that the Highlanders have more than paid their way, although of course this does not include the tremendous expense of making a playing field out of the highlands.

Boston, Philadelphia, and Cleveland are the big winners financially. Detroit has not lost enough so that it is heard about, and St. Louis and Washington have been the heaviest losers of the league.

The winning of the pennant by the Boston club has been a popular one in all the cities which did not have pennant aspirations of their own, for Collins' men by their steady consistent work in the two previous years have made many friends. The manager himself has a host of them, and Chicago fans in spite of their disappointment, find plenty of disposition to extend heartiest congratulations to Jimmy Collins and his men.

The post-season series will begin today in Philadelphia and tomorrow in this city and Boston. The first game for the world's championship is scheduled for Boston tomorrow and the initial contest between the White Stockings and the Colts for tomorrow on the west side grounds. In addition there will be series between the Cincinnati and Cleveland teams for the championship of Ohio and between the two St. Louis teams, in continuation of their argument which commenced last spring.

MANY TEARS AT A TRIAL.

John Kniat Sees His Infant for First Time When His Hearing for Murder of Leon Hintz Is Begun—Touching Scene Follows—Victim's Mother Bowed by Grief as She Tells of Boy's Death — Man Cries on the Witness Stand.

His appearance in Judge Gary's court as a defendant in a murder charge gave John Kniat his first opportunity to hold his baby boy in his arms. The infant was born after Kniat was arrested, and when Mrs. Kniat, holding the child in her arms, and followed by three other children, one of whom was carried by a neighbor, entered the courtroom yesterday afternoon there followed a scene that almost disrupted the court.

The defendant turned about in his chair, with his arms outstretched, and the mother gave the baby to him. Then, overcome by her own emotions, she threw her arms about her husband's neck and wept. The two other children, the elder of whom was not more than 6, clung to their mother and wailed at the unusual scene, and the infant added its voice to the furore. Several minutes elapsed before Judge Gary could make his voice heard, and it was with difficulty that bailiffs separated the family and led the mother and her children from the room.

This scene at the opening of the trial was followed by a number of other pathetic incidents, interspersed with repeated attempts of Mrs. Kniat to enter and remain in the courtroom. Several times the bailiffs led her out, but again she entered, and the court lost patience.

Family Ordered Out of Court.

"Take the woman and children from the room," ordered the court, "and see that they do not come in here again. Their presence has a tendency to interfere with the proceedings."

Thereafter Mrs. Kniat and the children remained in an ante-room until the afternoon adjournment, when they were again allowed to meet the husband and father.

The events of the afternoon showed, however, that, great as was the grief of the unfortunate wife, hers was not the only sorrow. Leon Hintz, the 16 year old boy, was the victim of the homicide, and there were tears in many eyes as Mrs. Theresa Hintz, the aged mother of the dead boy, told the jury of her ineffectual attempts to save him from Kniat. Kniat and young Hintz quarreled in a saloon in the village of Posen on the evening of Nov. 16 last, and renewed the quarrel in front of the boy's home. The mother heard them.

Mother Tells of Son's Death.

"I ran between them and tried to push Kniat away," said she. "'If you have any trouble with Leon tell his father and he will make him behave,' I said. Then, before I knew what he was doing, Kniat drew a knife, and, reaching over my shoulder, stabbed Leon, and ran away. Leon fell into my arms, and died with his head on my shoulder."

The mother was bending over the boy and crying when Charles Delinski, a neighbor, heard her. He took his dog to the place, and the animal traced Kniat into a field, and held him there until neighbors arrived and arrested him. Among the crowd was Joseph Smuczynski, village clerk. Smuczynski, a man of large physique, created another scene yesterday when he cried on the witness stand. He had talked with the defendant shortly after the arrest.

"If I killed him, then you can hang me," said Kniat to the village clerk, the latter testified. "I only struck him with a snuff box."

"You struck him with a knife, and I saw him lying there dead," Smuczynski replied. "You killed the boy, when you might have spanked him."

Whatever of the conversation followed the jury did not learn, for at this point in his recital Smuczynski began to cry and could not sufficiently compose himself to resume his narrative.

DECLARES CITY INSPECTORS NEVER SAW WRECKED PLANT.

Witness at Western Electric Inquiry Blames Building Department—Lack of Lateral Braces Blamed.

Officials of the city building department and of the town of Cicero may be called on to fix the responsibility for the failure properly to inspect the Western Electric company's new machine shop in Hawthorne, which collapsed last Saturday, killing one man and injuring several others.

The inquiry into the cause of the accident instituted yesterday by Coroner Traeger brought out evidence that the structure had never been inspected by either the city or country authorities. The building is located south of Twenty-second street, between Forty-sixth and Forty-eighth avenues, and Deputy Building Commissioner O'Shea declares that it is in Hawthorne.

It created considerable surprise, therefore, when Attorney C. R. Francis, representing the contractors, the William Grace company, told the coroner that the building stands almost wholly within the city boundary. According to other evidence no city inspector ever appeared on the ground till after the accident, when Deputy Hughes was sent to examine the ruins.

"Lack of lateral and knee supports caused the collapse of the structure," according to several witnesses, one of whom was F. P. Pontius, 3510 Bowen avenue.

Mr. Pontius declared that no lateral braces were used and that it was the first building he had ever seen constructed in that manner. He said there was nothing to take the place of the lateral supports and that only a few cables were used to support the steel structure while it was in course of erection. A weak bolt could have caused the collapse of the frame work, he said, as at the time a high wind was blowing.

Other witnesses who made similar statements were Emil Schwan, 11 Homer street; Benjamin Sutter, 2256 Forty-third avenue; Thomas Robertson, 734 West Monroe street; and James Sparr, 235 West Madison street.

DUNNING PATIENT INJURED: CASE BEING INVESTIGATED.

Aged Man Badly Cut and Bruised and Supt. W. H. Podstata Begins an Inquiry Into the Circumstances.

Another investigation is on at the Dunning insane asylum, Supt. W. H. Podstata being determined to learn how Philip Farley, a patient, received a number of bruises on the head. The case was kept secret until yesterday, although Farley was injured on Saturday.

An examination of the patient made yesterday by Dr. Podstata disclosed that the man's cheek was cut on the left side, and there was a discoloration below the right eye. The patient had complained that he had been kicked, but it was thought he was laboring under a delusion. He had also complained of internal injuries.

"I have made only a partial investigation so far," said Dr. Podstata last evening. "It seems that Farley and another patient became involved in a quarrel and that Fred W. Albert, one of the attendants, attempted to separate them. Whether he abused the old man or not I do not know, but the investigation into the case will be resumed tomorrow."

Dismissed After Twenty-three Years.

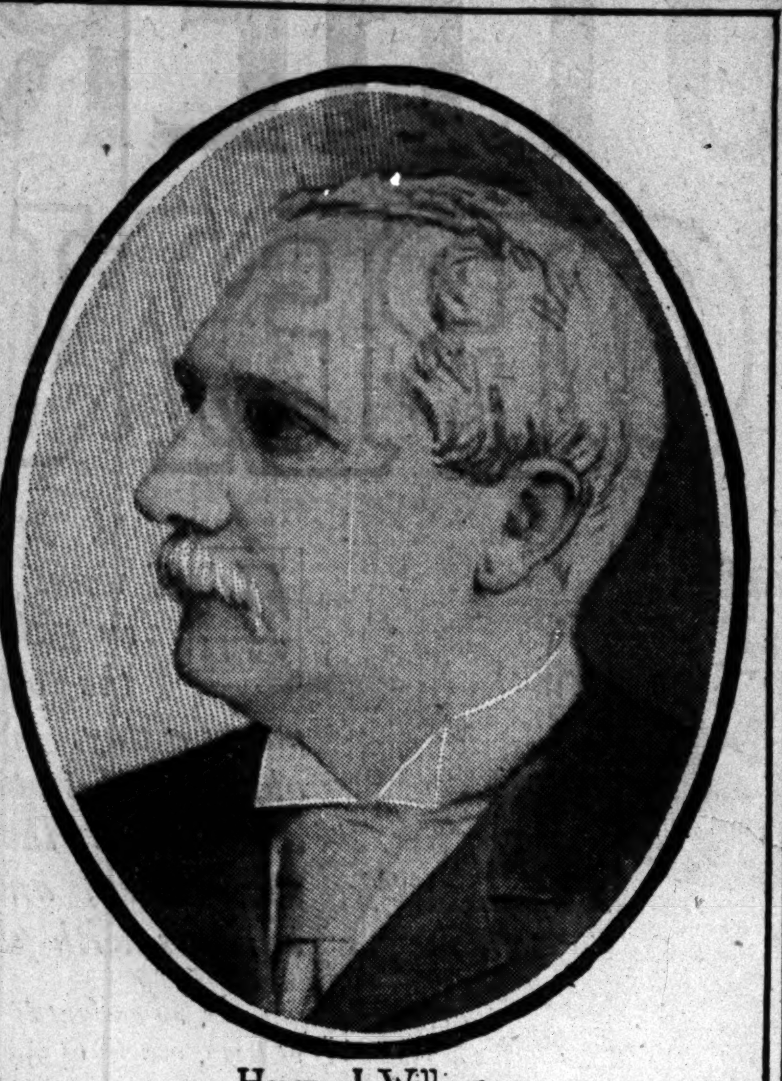

After serving twenty-three years as summons clerk in the sheriff's office, Oscar Knight, a republican, was notified to send in his resignation yesterday afternoon. Within two hours after receiving the notification Mr. Knight had forwarded his resignation to Sheriff Barrett and it had been accepted. Mr. Knight is 63 years old and was recently married.

PIONEER MERCHANT, WHO DIED.

Henry J. Willing

HENRY J. WILLING DEAD.

PIONEER MERCHANT SUCCUMBS TO HEART DISEASE.

End Comes at Jefferson, N. H., After a Long Period of Poor Health and a Few Weeks' Illness—Member of the First Drainage Board and Trustee of Various Charitable and Educational Institutions—Widow and Two Children Survive.

Henry J. Willing, pioneer merchant of Chicago and for many years a prominent figure among business men, died yesterday morning at Jefferson, N. H. Mr. Willing had been ill for three weeks with heart disease, and his death was not unexpected. For some years his health had not been good, and, largely on this account, he had practicaly withdrawn from business and spent much of his time in traveling.

With his family he had been staying at the Waumbek hotel, Jefferson, for some time, and his wife and children were with him when he died. Interment will be at Manchester, Vt., tomorrow.

He was born in Westfield, N. Y., July 19, 1836. In 1843 his father died, and, when the family moved to Chicago, three years later, he began his struggle for recognition in the business world in the employment of U. P. Harris.

After several changes in the next three years he settled down in 1851 to a permanent position in the dry goods house of Thomas B. Carter & Co., with whom he remained until 1859, when he joined the forces of Cooley, Farwell & Co., where he remained until 1865. In that year he became connected with Field, Leiter & Co., and was soon afterwards admitted to the firm. In 1883 Mr. Willing sold out his interest in the firm, then Marshall Field & Co., and retired from business.

Worker for Good Government.

In efforts to secure good government for Chicago and to uphold the cause of law, order, humanity, and religion, Mr. Willing was a foremost worker. Though having large financial interests to look after, he always gave his time and money to encourage public enterprises tending to promote the welfare of the people. Though offered many public offices he would accept none until he was finally prevailed upon by his friends to be a candidate for the drainage board when that body was first elected. He was elected, and in the preliminary work of organizing the board Mr. Willing took such an active part that his already failing health forced him to retire. In politics he was a republican.

As a member of the Presbyterian church he has served as an elder in the Second and Fourth churches. He was at one time the vice president of the Young Men's Christian association, and was at one time a trustee of the McCormick Theological seminary.

Served on Many Boards.

He has served on many charitable boards and with numerous civic bodies. He was a director of the Chicago Home for Incurables, and of the Newberry library. He was a member of a number of social and historical clubs and societies, among which are the Chicago Historical society, the American Historical society, the Chicago branch of the Archæological Society of America, and the Union League, Chicago, and other clubs. He was interested in the encouragement of art, and had served for some years as a director of the Art institute.

In 1870 he was married to Miss Frances Skinner, a daughter of the late Judge Mark Skinner. Two children, Evelyn Pierrepont and Mark Skinner Willing, are living. A sister of Mr. Willing, Miss Elizabeth Willing of 54 Twentieth street, left Chicago yesterday for Jefferson. Mr. Willing's Chicago house at 110 Rush street has been closed all summer.

OFFICERS HELD FOR KILLING.

Indictments Found Against Two Patrolmen for the Death of Patrick Lavelle.

Indictments for manslaughter yesterday were voted by the grand jury against Patrolmen James Kennedy and Maurice J. Carey as a result of the death of Patrick Lavelle. The policemen are charged with beating Lavelle so that he died from his wounds. Both officers were held by the coroner's jury.

Lavelle was in a crowd of boys at Forty-sixth street and Marshfield avenue Aug. 18. When the policemen undertook to disperse the crowd there was a fight. Lavelle was injured and died a few days later.

Despite the efforts of Miss Lottie Halleck, his sweetheart, to save him, Joseph Jacobs was indicted for the murder of Charles Basler, a rival for the hand of the girl. The homicide occurred Aug. 23, in St. John place, near Lake street, and was precipitated by the appearance of the girl in the company of Basler. Miss Halleck told the jury that the decedent was an unwelcomed suitor.

Other murder indictments found by the jury were: Oscar Johnson, charged with killing Alexander Lamb at 222 West Lake street, Aug. 21; William Rone, charged with shooting Emma Chatmon, at 2310 Dearborn street, Aug. 12.

Acting on evidence presented by William W. Scott, a private detective, the jury voted eleven "blind pig" indictments.

DAY OF ATONEMENT FOR JEWS.

Yom Kippur to Be Celebrated in the Various Synagogues This Evening.

With songs of confession and prayers of penitence, the Jews will inaugurate the annual feast of Yom Kippur at twilight this evening. To the orthodox Jew it is the "Sabbath of Sabbaths." In the Ghetto no work of any sort will be performed, and the synagogues will be crowded with worshipers this evening. Tomorrow from dawn till dusk the faithful will remain in the synagogues in continuous prayer.

W. B. Conkey Sells His Magazine.

W. B. Conkey yesterday sold Conkey's Home Journal, published in Hammond, Ind., to the Woman's Magazine company of St. Louis. The two magazines will henceforth be combined. Conkey's Home Journal was established in 1897.

Ever Give Your Thinker a Thought?

Funny things happen in this world and now and then some of them make one an interested observer, for instance: Several years ago a man pursued a systematic course of investigation to discover what kind of elements the body would take up from the vegetable kingdom out of which to make gray matter in the brain and nerve centers throughout the body; also how to prepare this food so that it would be easily digested and allow Nature to make use of these elements. So far the proposition was all right. Question—How to bring all this about?

It took over two years work to solve the problem successfully. After it was solved the food was given to many people and the result watched carefully.

When all results were proven beyond doubt the food was put on the market under the name of Grape-Nuts. Then followed public announcement in the newspapers and magazines that such a food was in existence and that it would perform its intended work.

People all over the world realized the need of such a food and began purchasing it liberally. It attracted so much attention that a long list of imitators sprung up all over the country. They boiled wheat, roasted it, stewed it, chopped it, mixed it with rye, malt, oats and perhaps hay—we are not sure—gave it a fantastic name and told the public it was a "Brain food."

Then, from these imitators, came the offering of spoons, knitting needles, chinaware, pictures, doll babies and even pianos to induce people to gorge themselves with the various and sundry things.

Fortunately the most of these imitation foods are harmless and decently clean so that no real harm is done except that people who pay out money to secure a food for special service have a right to expect an equitable return for that money.

Investigation proves that in practically all cases where imitations are put upon the market the men who place them are untrained and have no knowledge of the real scientific basis of food making. If they did have, they would produce original articles. The very fact that they make imitations is prima facie evidence that they have no professional ability to originate valuable articles themselves, but must get under the eaves of some originator.

Up to the present time no prepared food has appeared, to the knowledge of the writer, that is made upon the solid, fundamental, scientific basis of Grape-Nuts.

In this celebrated food the right parts of the wheat and barley are selected, they pass through various and sundry mechanical processes (absolutely no chemical treatment). In these processes the starchy elements are slowly transformed into a sugar now known as Post Sugar. In this form it is ready for immediate assimilation and transmission to the blood without taxing the digestive organs. By the blood, the elements which Nature uses for rebuilding the soft gray matter in the brain and nerve centers are carried to the respective parts and there made use of, while other elements known as carbohydrates are carried to the muscles and tissues and there deposited and held in readiness for use when energy and warmth are demanded. Remember that simply raising the arm requires the expenditure and giving off of warmth and energy. Now then we must have the elements that supply warmth and energy deposited in these tissues and muscles else we cannot release them and make use of them. These are the missions of Grape-Nuts, and the person who desires to make use of the proper rebuilder of brain and nerve centers, and keep them in first-class working order, and also make use of a supply of warmth and energy, can absolutely rely upon securing this service if they feed regularly on Grape-Nuts.

There's a reason and a profound one for the use of Grape-Nuts. The food is already cooked at the factory and can be served instantly with rich cream. It is delicious and can be made into a great variety of toothsome dishes after the recipes found in the recipe book enclosed in each package.

Attention is also invited to another very small but "meaty" little book in each package under the title "The Road To Wellville."

MANDEL BROTHERS

GRAND FALL OPENING

THE "new" in the world of fashion rules the hour. From the great world centers of art and culture, from every point where excellence has earned a right to representation in the greatest style exhibit of the year, we have made selections for our opening event.

It's the culmination of months of careful planning and research, and far surpasses in scope and general merit any previous event of the kind ever held in Chicago. It occurs in all parts of the store

Today and tomorrow

It might aptly be termed a great world congress of styles—for, in all truth, there's not a fashion thought worthy of expression in feminine apparel that has not been given a place in this great exhibit.

Words are inadequate to portray the beauty of this magnificent assemblage of new fall merchandise, and you'll marvel at the variety of styles.

We've timed this opening display to suit your needs, giving every one an opportunity of seeing the best types in fabrics or apparel before the rush of the buying season commences.

The most prominent features of the occasion will be the display of:

IMPORTED GOWNS.
WRAPS AND COATS.
THE NEW "FASSO" CORSETS.
THE NEW WAISTS FROM PARIS.
THE NEW SILK WAISTS.
THE NEW SILK PETTICOATS.
MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S APPAREL.
EXCLUSIVE FURS.

Mandel Brothers have among their corps of millinery and costume artists some of the cleverest designers of the French capital. They have grown up in an atmosphere of art. To them the creation of the beautiful has been the impelling motive of their life work.

Twice yearly they go back to the salons and the boulevards, and keep pace with all that Paris is doing for the advancement of Fashion's domain.

Empire Room,

Fifth Floor,

and all parts of the store.

WE want everybody to see Mandel's in gala attire. You'll recollect the occasion with pleasure for many a day. Selling is not the primary object of this opening exhibit, but we realize that thousands will be unable to come later, and that they must combine business with pleasure.

So, on account of the vast concourse of visitors from out of town, as well as those of our own city who want to make their attendance a part of a shopping tour as well, we will make special endeavor to wait upon customers promptly.

Today and tomorrow

At Mandel's, the great Autumnal style feast.

This is Centennial week. Crowds of people are here from all parts of the country to share in the celebration of Chicago's wonderful growth as a city. For them this opening event is opportune indeed.

We want every one to feel welcome to wander at will through our spacious aisles, and from floor to floor. On every side there will be many things to admire.

The store has been decorated especially for the occasion. An atmosphere of cordiality pervades every section.

NEW SILKS AND VELVETS.
EXCLUSIVE DRESS FABRICS.
THE NEW FALL WAISTINGS.
THE NEW PARIS DRESS TRIMMINGS.
THE TREFOUSSE GLOVES.
IMPORTED HOSIERY.
NEW FALL BELTS.
NEW FALL SHOES.

We point with pride to our own creations—products of designers employed exclusively by Mandel Brothers, working with an appreciation of correct American taste, but with the intuitive skill and artistic perception of the Parisian.

It's a positive fact that Mandel styles rival the best in the world, a fact we will demonstrate in countless ways during this opening exhibition.

Millinery Parlors,

The assortments are enormous. For the past month every transatlantic steamer has brought us large consignments. All unseasonable merchandise has been cleared away to make room for this splendid array of new goods, and now throughout the entire store there is a quickening into life on every hand. Every foreign idea is represented by the best in its line. Whatever you see here you can know has received Dame Fashion's emphatic approval.

DEATHS.

Marriage or death notices will be cabled in condensed form, without extra charge, for publication in the Paris edition of the New York Herald if advertisers so request, by writing on their notices when handing them in: "Cable to the New York Herald European edition."

SOMETIMES THERE ARE REASONS why a man cannot make known to those houses with which he would like to be connected the fact that he would be glad to consider a proposition from them, and yet he feels sure that if those houses knew his circumstances one of them at least would have a position for him.
For the benefit of such men we have a unique and original method of securing the desired place, in such a way that it is offered to them without their apparently seeking it.
All transactions with us are confidential. We work for the benefit of all who ask our aid.

SEPTEMBER PIANO SALE.

FINAL CLEARING BY MANUFACTURERS.

W. W. Kimball Co. About to Close Annual Sale.

This has been a rare event to hundreds of piano seekers. Sweeping reductions in prices and easy terms of payment on the product of a home factory have all contributed to make this sale among the greatest opportunities ever given at the KIMBALL WAREROOMS.

During this sale the class of buyers has been such as to leave a variety in design and representing practically all the good makes, many of which have been taken in exchange for new Kimballs. These have been carefully repaired in our own shops and marked for final clearing.

Following are a few examples:

ARION UPRIGHT; full cabinet grand; 7 1-3 octaves; carved; a good piano; attractive design. Sold for $325. Used but little and in perfect condition; now $165.

CAMP & CO. UPRIGHT; ebonized case. Sold when new for $275. Has been carefully repaired in our own shops. Price now $145.

HALLET & DAVIS UPRIGHT; ebonized. Has had considerable wear, but we especially recommend it for the price. Sold when new for $375. Guaranteed in good order, for $125.

CHICKERING UPRIGHT; ebonized case. Has been carefully repaired in our shops. When new, $450. Now $160.

KIMBALL UPRIGHT; English oak; full cabinet grand size; 7 1-3 octaves; three pedals; late design of case. Sold when new for $375. Present price $275.

KNABE UPRIGHT; largest size; 7 1-3 octaves; rosewood case. In fine condition and a good piano. Sold when new for $475. Present price, $250.

KIMBALL UPRIGHT; full size; of latest design; all the late improvements. A beautiful instrument throughout; used less than two months. Original price, $475. Now $350.

In addition to the above, quite a number of new pianos of various designs and in the different woods will be taken from our show windows on Monday morning and closed at a very liberal reduction. Exposure to the sun has brought slight traces of injury to the finish on some of them, but the wearing qualities are perfect.

We are making room for our new designs and for our fall stock. Take advantage of the remaining few days and investigate this sale if you want a piano.

The above are only a portion of the remaining bargains, and they will all go by October 1st.

Cash or Easy Payments.

W. W. KIMBALL CO [Established 1857].

AT THE VOSE STORE.

VOSE MAKES BUT ONE PIANO—THE VOSE. Vose sells a score of standard makes of upright pianos—among them the Ludwig, Merrill, and Howard.

EVERY VOSE PIANO IS BACKED WITH AN absolute guarantee. And every piano of other make that Vose sells is backed by the same guarantee. Vose sells only pianos built to bear the Vose guarantee.

WHEN YOU BUY A VOSE PIANO, YOU GET perfect tone quality, perfect piano construction. When you buy any other piano at the Vose Store, you get the best in its respective class.

YOU PAY NOTHING FOR THE VOSE NAME, the Vose quality, the Vose guarantee; you pay simply the lowest market price for the piano you select. You pay less than you would pay elsewhere for really inferior instruments.

GOOD, RELIABLE UPRIGHT PIANOS AS LOW as you can afford to pay; better pianos for more money; Vose Pianos up to as much as anyone ought to pay for a piano. To judge the values, you must see the pianos. Vose rents new pianos for $3.50 a month, and up.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

SPECIAL CLEARANCE SALE OF SLIGHTLY USED PIANOS.

Opportunity to buy a Steinway, Knabe, or other well known piano at very small cost.

Here and there in our stock are pianos that are not quite of the latest model, or which have had some slight use, or have been taken in exchange. All these Steinways, Knabes, and other instruments have been placed one side and marked for immediate sale. We wish to avoid carrying even one of them over into next season's stock.

Piano seekers would do well to examine these pianos before purchasing an instrument at ordinary valuations. We enumerate a few only:

Steinway small upright, ebonized case, good as new. Steinway small upright, same as above, walnut case. Steinway medium size upright, mahogany case, rented short time. Steinway, same as above, in ebony case. Steinway cabinet grand upright, ebony case, in excellent condition. Steinway small upright, in good playing order. Knabe cabinet grand, mahogany case, used for concert purposes only. Knabe cabinet grand upright, very slightly shopworn. Knabe medium sized upright, mahogany case, rented but a short time, in every way good as new. Knabe cabinet grand, in perfect condition, and many others.

Also closing out sale of our entire stock of Mason & Hamlin pianos, as we desire to discontinue the agency owing to the assignment of the Mason & Hamlin Co. An opportunity to secure one of these magnificent highest grades instruments at a marked reduction.

We are also showing some attractive bargains in a carload of specimen uprights from good makers, bought up recently in New York by our eastern buyer. They are of intrinsically good musical value, and will be closed out at prices between $185 and $235.

Also a room full of new and slightly used uprights, your choice at $195, either cash or long time payments. Many of these pianos have been held at $300. Several leading makes are included. A number of very fine pianos from a musical standpoint will be found in the collection.

Visitors are always cordially welcome to our salesroom; 24 great makes of pianos are shown side by side. New fall styles now on exhibition. Many beautiful models not to be found elsewhere. From 8 a. m. until 6 p. m. groups of piano customers will always be found upon our piano floors, but we have such ample facilities and such a large corps of salesmen that we can sell twenty different instruments simultaneously without the least delay.

EASY PAYMENTS—Pianos may be secured from us on very easy terms. No advance in price when paid for by installments. Pianos of all descriptions included in this offer.

Buyers at a distance should write for special bargain list and also our schedule of freight rates on pianos.

We ship pianos everywhere.

Inexpensive pianos bought from us may be exchanged later toward the purchase of a Steinway or Knabe.

STILL AFTER SUBSIDIES.

The Washington correspondent of THE TRIBUNE telegraphs that agents of the ocean steamship trust are collecting in the government departments data to be used in an attempt to revive the ship subsidy bill when congress meets. This was to be expected. The man who has once set out on the hunt for a subsidy never abandons it. If the International Mercantile Marine company had proved to be an amazing success its guiding spirits would have appealed to congress for a subsidy. As it has not been a success they are all the more anxious that the general government shall come to their aid and provide profits which can be secured in no other way.

The national government would have its hands full, and would soon be at the end of its resources, if it were to attempt to aid all the lame ducks that would like to be fed out of the national treasury. The steamship trust, the shipbuilding trust which recently went to pieces, and several other ill-advised enterprises will gladly welcome material assistance from congress. None of them will get it. The influence in congress of the men prominent in the world of finance and industry who are eager to be subsidized is sometimes potent and sometimes it amounts to nothing. When the people are a unit in their opposition to a measure the financiers favor, congressmen, however desirous they may be to oblige their friends in banks and counting houses, dare not run counter to the people.

THE TRIBUNE correspondent says there is not much danger of subsidy legislation at the next session. That may be taken for granted. It will not be expedient to dabble with such legislation on the eve of a presidential election. There will not be much danger after the election. A proposition to subsidize a trust, even when it is a weak creature that cannot make money without "grants in aid," is offensive to the public and hence hardly can get through congress at any time.

WORN OUT BY TOIL.

Yesterday it was reported that Bishop McLaren had retired from the active prosecution of his episcopal duties. The diocese of Chicago will henceforth be more directly under the control of his coadjutor, Bishop Anderson.

When Bishop McLaren came to Chicago in 1875 his diocese was rent with controversies which were so outrageous as to pass beyond ecclesiastical jurisdiction and make their appearance in the civil courts. It was Bishop McLaren's authority that crushed these controversies and that unified the diocese. "Happy is the diocese that does not find its annals in the personal columns of the daily papers." Any diocese of which Bishop McLaren was the head would be able to claim the blessings of this dictum. His personality would quell the stubbornest faction that ever rebelled against discipline.

The Episcopal church in this diocese has been fortunate in its bishop. He has managed its affairs quietly and discreetly. He has never courted publicity. He has devoted himself exclusively to the work to which he was specially called, and the church has prospered under his ministrations. At last he has worn himself out in the service, and can labor no longer. That was inevitable, but it is to be regretted that the bishop was not given a few years more of useful activity.

TAXED TO THE UTMOST.

Sunday was a big day for the Union Traction company. Also, it was an anxious day. It furnished a strong argument for the immediate settlement of the transportation question.

The number of cash fares received by the Union Traction company on Sunday was 500,000. The number of transfers received was 400,000. This meant that the income of the Union Traction company was increased by a large sum. It also meant that the facilities of the Union Traction company were strained to the point of danger.

Usually the north side cable system carries about 300 cars. On Sunday it carried about 370 cars. The consequence was the cables were subjected to a severe test, and that certain engines were keyed up to almost twice the horse power warranted by their rating.

The officials of the Union Traction company spent Sunday in the frame of mind in which the officers of a ship spend the period of a great storm. They could not tell when or where their machinery might give way. A break would have meant a great deal of worry, a great deal of humiliation, and a great deal of expense. They put in their time watching every point of their system for the first indication of trouble. What confidence can be placed in equipment which is fourteen years old and which is being forced to twice its natural exertion?

No radical change is possible, however, until the traction ordinance is passed. Then a new investment of capital can be made and the natural capacity of our traction system can be increased. Then a gala day crowd will not drive traction officials to nervous prostration, and, in reaction, to wild exultation.

THE CHICAGO BANKS.

John W. Gates is quoted as saying:

> You can't praise Chicago banks too much. They are gilt edged. They have kept out of these inflated underwriting schemes and other questionable investments. The weak sisters in this panic have been: First, Pittsburg banks; second, St. Louis; third, Philadelphia; and fourth, Cleveland. But take off your hat to Chicago.

This is not undeserved praise. Some of the New York banks have been conservative, but all the Chicago banks have been so. Perhaps the men who manage them have not been so greatly tempted as those in some other cities. There has been no such local speculation here as in Pittsburg, where there has been a great deal more than is good for the financial health of the community. There has been here no wild real estate, industrial, or mercantile boom. No promoters of speculative enterprises have been active in this city.

The Chicago bankers have had their temptations. There have been numerous occasions when they could have made extensive loans in New York and profited by the transactions, but they have preferred to keep their money at home. That has seemed to them the more prudent and in the long run the more profitable policy. Since 1896, when there was a panic of no small dimensions in the local stock market, the Chicago banks have adhered rigidly to a conservative policy. They have frowned on speculation. They have not backed syndicates. They have limited their energies to looking after the business interests of Chicago. They have taken good care of them, and in doing so have made money and added to their resources. As the latest statement of their condition shows, they are in splendid shape. Mr. Gates is quite right when he says the Chicago banks are the best, and those of New York come second. The stock market would not be in the sad state it is if all the New York banks had imitated the policy of the Chicago institutions, and had extended no aid to promoters and underwriters.

AN OBJECT LESSON FOR STRIKERS.

The strike of the textile workers in Philadelphia, which began in June last, has ended in dismal failure for the strikers. The losses are estimated at $12,000,000 for the employers and $8,000,000 for the employés, 112,000 in number. The employers can stand it infinitely better than the employés. The employés have irreparably lost the income of three months' labor, many of them are in debt, and those who have gone back return to their old wages. It is said the strike has injuriously affected the fall and winter trade so that many who have gone back may find themselves without work this winter just when they need it most. Another serious blow to the employés is the incentive which strikes like this give to the introduction of labor saving machinery. Two or three different kinds of these machines have already been set in successful operation, each one of which displaces six skilled workmen. There were some gains in the strike, but they did not benefit the strikers.

What has happened in this textile strike has happened in many others, and there will be still heavier losses in some cases if the striking mania increases and workingmen blindly follow leaders whose personal interest it is to order strikes and foment trouble between employers and employés, rather than conservative men, who believe in keeping agreements. Mr. Marshall Field warned workingmen some time ago that if they persisted in their present course of tying up industry they would do more to precipitate business disaster than all other causes combined, and that they would be the principal sufferers. Mr. John W. Gates, in the interview printed in yesterday's TRIBUNE, expressed the same idea in these words: "What with strikes and blackmail by the unions, it now costs $2,000,000 to build a $1,000,000 building. This means that the public pays in higher rents, for the builder must get his interest on his investment. Unless labor leaders get some common sense they will paralyze all trades and their followers will find themselves out of jobs." It is "up to" the working men to open their eyes and see where the road they are traveling ends.

THE TERRIBLE BOLL WEEVIL.

The bull market in cotton is largely due to the advance of the cotton boll weevil. This pest, no method of checking whose ravages has yet been found, is continuing its steady march eastward, has now entirely crossed Texas, and is hanging on the borders of Louisiana, to the consternation of the planters of that state. Nine-tenths of all the Texas cotton counties have felt the force of the blight, and but a narrow and decreasing amount of uncontaminated area remains in the seaboard counties. Six weeks ago the popular estimate for the Texas production was 6,000,000 bales. The estimate now is 2,500,000 bales. There is no chance for a top or second crop.

Last year cotton was the greatest American export, $316,000,000 worth of the raw product being exported from this country. If the weevil should get into Louisiana and cross the gulf states into Georgia a fearful blow would be dealt to the increasing prosperity of the new south. The cotton parasite bids fair, unless checked, to become an international calamity, for the continuance of its depredations would mean hard times not only to southern cotton growers and their negro field hands but also to northern manufacturers, to the mill owners and mill hands of Lancashire, where one-sixth of the population of England is assembled, and to the cotton spinners of France and Germany. The agricultural department is trying to find a way to fight the boll weevil. There is so much at stake that it must succeed. The world depends on the United States for cotton.

A BUSINESSLIKE LAW.

The Georgia legislature recently passed a vagrancy law which is working admirably not only in the case of shiftless negroes but shiftless whites, for it applies to negroes and white persons alike. Stated in the fewest words, it makes people work who otherwise would not work. Those who will not work in the shops or the fields or at some regular kind of labor are promptly arrested and made to work for the cities or counties upon the roads.

According to all reports there has never been a time in Georgia when the farmers were more in need of help than now, and the same conditions exist in North and South Carolina, Alabama, and some other southern states. It is said that in North Carolina alone more than 100,000 white and colored laborers have left the rural districts to get work in the city mills and factories. White labor has almost entirely deserted the farms, and negroes are scarcer than ever in the cotton fields. This is not altogether due to the exodus of negroes to the cities, but to the laziness of those who are left. There are enough shiftless, indolent negroes to do the work, and the new law compels them to work, either in the fields or on the roads. As the negroes prefer the fields the results of the new law have been excellent. The Atlanta Constitution says that farmers testify that one good effect of the law has been to impress upon the negroes the advisability of getting to work. It says: "Harvest time fever, superinduced by the microbe of laziness, is by no means so general or so virulent as it once was. The shiftless whites and the shiftless negroes are busily getting busy." Here is another great advantage growing out of the operation of the law. When the lazy floating population and the chronic loafers are at work they are not in mischief, consequently the volume of crime diminishes. The gospel of work has long been needed in that section, both among whites and negroes. If the other southern states, like Georgia, could devise methods for setting the lazy element of their population, both white and black, at work, they would be much better off and something would be done towards settling the race problem.

GOOD NEWS FROM THE PHILIPPINES.

The returns of foreign trade for the Philippines for May have just reached Washington and show the biggest foreign business ever done in the history of the islands—a total of $6,972,982 for the month, exclusive of government supplies and gold and silver. The figures are not enormous to an American, but the cheering thing about them is that they are the highest on record, showing there is a growth. The growth is steady, too. April's figures had been the biggest on record till May's came in sight.

The three things which the islands most need now are:

1. The reduction or, preferably, the removal of the duties (75 per cent of the Dingley rates) now levied in this country against Philippine imports. The effect would be, probably, the immediate doubling of last May's foreign trade figures.

2. The building of highroads and railroads as fast as possible. This is probably the greatest thing which could be done for the islands.

3. The replacement of the present reactionary and incompetent Spanish hierarchy and Spanish and native priests in the islands by an American hierarchy and American and native priests.

PERMANENT MUZZLING.

When the city council is asked to extend the annual dog muzzling period from six months to twelve months we shall all feel sorry for the dogs. John G. Shortall, however, who is president of the Humane society and therefore a specialist on animal comfort, says that he knows a muzzle which makes it possible for a dog to feel comfortable. This muzzle expands and contracts as the dog opens and closes his mouth and gives the dog as much freedom as is compatible with the safety of his human companions.

Last year fourteen Chicagoans died of hydrophobia. A regular annual hydrophobia death rate of fourteen would be humiliating. The experience of European cities seems to prove conclusively that if dogs are muzzled all the year round the hydrophobia death rate is not only reduced but annihilated. The annual hydrophobia death rate in certain European cities is nil. And what was the price paid for this reform? An uncertain amount of canine discomfort. The dogs themselves, if they could speak, would probably offer to make the sacrifice.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1903: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

LORD CRAWFORD, who is one of the most useful and learned members of the English peerage, has just presented to the British museum in London a wonderful collection of several thousand specimens of birds, fishes, reptiles, butterflies, and insects, besides skulls and skeletons galore. These were secured during his recent long cruise on board his steam yacht Valhalla, which was undertaken for the purpose of visiting the most remote portions of the Pacific and Indian oceans, places indeed that lie out of the beaten track of the ordinary sailing vessels.

Lord Crawford took with him several naturalists and other scientific companions, and indeed his cruise, which extended over a period of nearly two years, has from a scientific point of view been the most remarkable thing of the kind since the famous cruise of the Challenger.

Lord Crawford's family, the Lindsays, of which he is the chief, is one of the most ancient in Scotland, and a few years ago he celebrated the 500th anniversary of the creation of his earldom of Crawford, Sir David, thirteenth lord of Lindsay, "a valiant knight," having been "created, proclaimed, and belted earl of Crawford at Perth, April 21, 1398, his lordship being at the same time erected into a regality."

Since then there have been twenty-five earls of Crawford, the present one being the twenty-sixth, and it is curious that from the earliest times they have all had some nicknames, the second earl having been called "the Consanguineous," by Henry VI. The fourth earl was known as the "Tiger," the ninth was surnamed the "Interpolated Earl," the twentieth was "the Gallant," and was the first colonel of the famous Black Watch regiment.

It was one of the present Lord Crawford's ancestors, the twenty-third earl of Crawford and sixth earl of Balcarres, who received thirteen bullets through his coat at the battle of Ticonderoga. George III. introduced him to the American Gen. Arnold: "Ah! the traitor?" he asked.

Whereupon a challenge from Arnold ensued.

The earl consented to a meeting on the field of honor. Arnold missed him, whereupon the earl walked away.

"Why don't you fire?" cried Arnold.

"At you!" the peer exclaimed contemptuously over his shoulder. "No, sir; I leave you to the executioner."

It was the present earl's father whose body was stolen from its tomb at Dunecht, near Aberdeen. He had died at Florence and his remains were entombed during one of the fiercest storms ever known in Scotland in this mausoleum that he had built for himself. A year later it was ascertained that the mausoleum had been broken open and that the sarcophagus in which his body had been placed was vacant.

Every endeavor made to ascertain what had become of the remains proved futile, when at length six months later the corpse was discovered by mere chance concealed within half a mile's distance of the tomb.

Eventually the body snatchers were arrested and were sentenced to long terms of imprisonment, though to this day a mystery prevails, at any rate as far as the public is concerned, as to the motives of their ghoulish act of desecration.

The mausoleum now has been destroyed and the late earl rests along with many other Lindsays in the Lindsay mausoleum near Haigh hall at Wigan, while Dunecht itself has been sold to Mr. Pirie of the firm of paper makers of Aberdeen of that name. The observatory there, which was so notable a feature, is, however, no longer in existence, the earl, who is one of the leading astronomers of Europe, having presented its superb equipment and all the instruments and telescopes to the crown of Scotland.

With his ruddy locks, beard, and mustache, his keen face, aquiline nose, freckles, and blue spectacles, with which he is popularly believed to have been born, Lord Crawford presents a personality which is quite aggressively Scotch. He does not, however, affect the kilt, but invariably is seen dressed in blue, generally in a blue sack coat with his left hand always concealed in the left pocket.

His eldest son is known south of the Tweed as Lord Balcarres, though in Scotland as the master of Lindsay, and already has made a name for himself in the house of commons. He is a manly young chap, is popularly known as "Bal," and never touches a drop of wine or spirits.

Like his father, he is descended from that Sir William Bradshaigh of Haigh, who lived in the reign of King Edward II., and played the leading rôle in a romance that has furnished the theme to many a novelist. During his absence in the holy land with the Crusaders, his wife sought and found another husband, and on his return the Crusader husband, hearing of the second marriage, immediately proceeded to slay the usurper, the lady doing penance by walking barefoot once a week to a cross near the town of Haigh.

Lord Lamington, who has just been appointed to succeed Lord Northcote, the new governor general of Australia, as governor of Bombay, is not without administrative experience, having already served a term as governor of the Australian colony of Queensland, where he endeared himself to the Australians and appealed to their sporting instincts by acquiring the difficult art of breaking buck jumpers.

Indeed, he is, I believe, the only one of King Edward's transpontine satraps and assuredly the sole member of the house of lords who can boast of this accomplishment.

His title is of altogether modern creation. For his father, Cochrane Baillie, owed his peerage to Lord Beaconsfield.

The story goes that when the two were lads at school together young Disraeli, who already indulged in dreams of future greatness, said to young Cochrane:

"When I'm prime minister of England, Cocky, I will make you a peer."

This proved to be a prophetic utterance, as Cochrane Baillie was in due course nominated to the house of lords by Lord Beaconsfield for services rendered to the conservative party.

The present lord was one of Lord Salisbury's private secretaries and has traveled extensively, having "done" not only Mexico but also Russian Armenia, from Tiflis to Ararat, and Siam, from the upper waters of the Mekon river, through the Shan states, to the French possessions in Tonquin, traversing countries previously untrodden by any European, and claims to be lineally descended from the Scotch hero, Sir William Wallace, a Baillie having married a daughter of Wallace, their son marrying Isobel Seton, who brought with her as her dower the castle of Lamington in Lanarkshire.

Lord Lamington will be remembered in the United States as having attended Lord Curzon as best man on the occasion of the present viceroy of India's wedding at Washington to Miss Mary Leiter, and he professes to prefer the sound of Scotch bagpipes to every other form of music, a confession which, while not altogether comprehensive, has managed to endear him to his fellow Scotchmen.

While on the subject of Scotland, I may mention that the new lord mayor of London, who will enter upon his duties as chief magistrate of the British metropolis on Nov. 9, hails from the land of cakes, like Lord Crawford and Lord Lamington. He is Sir James Ritchie, a brother of the Rt. Hon. Sir Charles Ritchie, who has just resigned the chancellorship of the exchequer in the Balfour administration rather than identify himself in any way with the tariff views to which the cabinet has been more or less committed by Joseph Chamberlain.

Sir James Ritchie is one of the merchant princes of London, the owner of a line of steamers doing an immense shipping business. It is a nephew of his, Richmond Ritchie, who is married to Anne, daughter of William Makepeace Thackeray, the author.

Pert Impudence.

Judge Osborne has sentenced Curtis Jett to be hanged "between sunrise and sunset, Dec. 18, for killing James Cockrill, at Jackson, Ky., July 21, 1902." Judge Blanton, attorney for Jett, replied: "Well, judge, there will be many sunrises and sunsets before he has been hanged." The world has had about all the impudence it cares for, from that particular source.—Albany (N. Y.) Argus.

THE ROUND TABLE

The Round Table does not aim at being a "questions and answers" column. Its purpose rather is to furnish a meeting place for the readers of "The Tribune," where they may discuss current events. Communications must be written on one side of the paper, must be signed, and should be short.

Labor Scarcity Out West.

Waukesha, Wis., Sept. 25.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Having noticed Mr. Davis' letter in today's TRIBUNE regarding the scarcity of laboring men in the west, I write to say that I have spent seven months in traveling over California and Kansas, and in both of these states farm hands are so scarce that a great loss in crops is threatened, owing to the inability of the farmers to harvest and store them. In Kansas I saw a great many women working in the fields, pitching and raking hay, etc. Wages are high all over the west. This is especially so in California. In that state there is not only a great scarcity of farm hands, but a scarcity also of carpenters, bricklayers, masons, workers in iron, etc. If any man out of work will go to any of the western or northwestern states he can find work at much higher wages than he can get in the east.
W. WILSON.

There's plenty of work here, too.

Nobody Checks Water Waste.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am a sufferer from water famine. I cannot get what I need because my neighbors use water they don't need. I have found that one of the most inexcusable wastes of water, and one of the most easily checked, is the using of water on sidewalks and lawns during the hours between 7 and 9 in the morning and 6 and 8 in the evening, when there is the greatest demand and the greatest scarcity. I walk down one of our principal boulevards every morning and noticed this morning five men in four blocks using water lavishly after 8 o'clock to flush the sidewalk. I have spoken repeatedly of this to park policemen, and they say that they have no authority to remedy the matter and one or two have said that it is not their business any way. It is not once in two months that I see a city policeman on the boulevards at any hour, and as a consequence no one regulates this waste of water, though it is plainly against the ordinance.
PEDESTRIAN.

There is too much divided jurisdiction on the boulevards between park and city police. Certainly somebody ought to be charged with the enforcement of the water ordinances.

Let Virginia Choose Whom She Will.

West Point, Miss., Sept. 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—There has been much discussion all over the south regarding your editorial published last summer entitled, "Let Virginia Choose Whom She Will," and saying that Virginia would probably have a pedestal in the hall of fame vacant if she were not permitted to place on it the statue of Gen. Lee. Southern opinion is that Virginia should do just that thing. His absence will make him ever present and in superhuman size—the theme of the throngs who will visit the spot through the long generations to come. Eyes will long to gaze on the forbidden statue which, if there, would excite only a passing notice, and in many none at all. Hence it would be that the indifferent or ignorant thousands passing the spot in perennial streams would have the desire aroused to see the missing effigy and to know of the man it symbolizes. It would add to his notoriety and increase his fame. The inquiry would not stop on the spot. It would go with such persons to their homes all over the earth.

But above any and all such considerations, in my humble opinion, as an old confederate private soldier, I think the attitude of the south in the face of such objections should be absolute silence and a kindly but dignified withholding of any offerings of the kind to the hall of fame. There is something humiliating in discussing it. F. G. BARRY.

Those people who originally planned to petition congress to keep Gen. Lee's statue out of statuary hall have, we believe, abandoned their intention—at least nothing was heard of it in the late encampment of the Grand Army in San Francisco. The south should send its heroes to statuary hall where, standing in enduring marble beside the heroes of the north, they may together be a symbol of perpetually enduring reunion.

Theron, the executioner..Rowland Buckstone
Hieronymus, a priest......Malcolm Bradley
Sigurd, captain of the guard..............Percival T. Moore
Archbishop ....William Harris
Cardinal ....Willard Hutchinson
Perpetua, the executioner's daughter..............Cecilia Loftus

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Justin H. McCarthy's new four act play, "The Proud Prince," was given its first presentation tonight at the Detroit Opera house, E. H. Sothern taking the part of Robert of Sicily, son of Robert the Good. His part is a fascinating study of character, an extraordinary instance of inward spirit working upon outward man, powerful and convincing as acting, impressive in its spiritual import, a model of theatrical elocution, and a symmetrical bodying forth of a clear cut and consistent conception of an ideal. Mr. Sothern's interpretation of the part met with approval.

Mr. Sothern's principal support is Miss Cecilia Loftus, to whom is assigned the part of Perpetua. She is not always easily followed by reason of failure to send her voice to all parts of the theater, but otherwise her portrayal of the rôle was pleasing.

Miss Mary Hall, as Lycabetta, has the gem part among the women as an acting part. Her work is finished in the true sense of the word as applied to art.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Hetty Green is being entertained at Newport.

Charles Santley, an English singer, aged 70, has departed for a tour of South America. His voice is in good condition yet, it is said.

Judge E. Ray Stevens of the Ninth judicial district and Edwin S. Mack of Milwaukee have been added to the University of Wisconsin law school.

The Austrian government sent a private car for Lord Milner on his arrival from south Africa, but there were no officials to meet him at the station in Vienna.

It is cited as a remarkable fact that M. M. Parker, a fearless inhabitant of the national capital, made a trip covering 500 miles through the New England states, reaching home in safety.

Thomas E. Sauls, who recently celebrated his one hundredth birthday at Webb City, Mo., has seen every president of the United States except Washington and Roosevelt. He is a veteran of the Seminole, Mexican, and civil wars.

Tales of a Buck Private
In the matter of a Missionary.

WHEN O'Reilly enlisted in B company of the good old Fourth in the fall of 1898 he was a fine, tall, upstanding young chap of 19. He and the other rookies spent four months out at Fort Sheridan, while fat captains and eager young lutes sweated them over the parade ground and half cursed and half prayed good soldier sense into their heads—and backs and legs and arms.

They went over to Manila on the Grant, by the east route, and they were the first soldiers of the United States who ever crossed the Atlantic on a warlike errand. That was one thing they were proud of. Another was the fact that old "Pap" Lawton was on board the transport—Henry W. Lawton, the knightly soul whom every soldier loved.

Young O'Reilly was a Chicago boy, right enough, reared on the west side of town, but he had been born down in Texas, right across the road from the "territory" and had spent so many years down there that he still knew the off side of a bucking broncho and what to do when a steel cylinder, with a bad man at the other end of it, stares you in the face. Then, too, he stood four inches taller than 6 feet, and there was that in his gray eyes which seemed to warrant a pleasant and exciting time to any member of the famous Trouble family who might be out looking for his relations.

Anyhow, O'Reilly drifted into Lawton's native scouts and at the head of a bunch of twenty-five Tagalogs he tramped all over Luzon and certain other more or less savage and wild eastern islands, finding trails and generally acting as advance guard for the soldiers behind him. There is a ragged scar on O'Reilly's right hand which is one of his souvenirs of that service.

HE LINED UP ELEVEN TREMBLING SAILORS.

Up in the hill country there lived a thrifty little Tagalog who sold rice to O'Reilly, without putting poison in it, as all true patriots were bound to do. Such unpatriotic conduct aroused the ire of one true patriot, who sharpened his bolo, which had originally been the tire of a wagon wheel, and laid for the rice seller. The patriot had cut thirty-two large slices off the rice merchant when O'Reilly and one of his natives, both unarmed, interrupted him. He considered their conduct rude and before he had been beaten into unconsciousness he had given O'Reilly the gash of which he still wears the scar. And he has also the bolo in question. As its Filipino owner was hanged for murder in Manila a month later, he had no further use for it.

When the three years of his enlistment was out O'Reilly had $300 and the malarial fever. As a certain way of getting rid of both of them he went over to one of the little Japanese hot springs and lived for a month. Then he started home for Frisco, but the first three transports he sailed on ran into rocks or sandbars and had to put back into Japanese ports, so that finally O'Reilly made up his mind that fate intended that he should stay in the land of the mikado. By this time he was troubled neither by malarial fever or hard cash. It was necessary to raise the wind.

O'Reilly found that the Japanese were all doing their best to learn the English language. The cities of Japan were full of little night schools in English, where the adults were studying and the English classes in the public schools were the most popular of any. So O'Reilly became a professor of English and a rich young Japanese of the old school took him up to the old Japanese city of Kiota to look over the ground with the idea of opening an English school there. Those were O'Reilly's dress suit days, with Japanese theater parties to attend and pretty little flowerlike Japanese maidens to talk to.

From Kiota he went down to Kobe and there occurred the matter of the missionary. The missionary was the Rev. Mr. Waxim and he was the general superintendent of the Kobe Seaman's institute, a sort of gospel club for the sailors of all the world whose big grim warships lie outside in the harbor, while Jack goes ashore to fill up on saki—rice whisky—and make things lively at the Seaman's institute.

The Rev. Mr. Waxim was a ladylike person who did not enjoy dealing with the intoxicated jacky in search of trouble, so he contented himself with holding church service two or three times a week and hired an assistant to keep the institute in order during the rest of the time.

O'Reilly had opened a school in Kobe and sixty little Japs were attending the O'Reilly English academy, when the Rev. Mr. Waxim was one day struck with the lofty stature of its principal and offered him a job at 100 yen and found month to take over the active superintendency of the Seaman's institute. O'Reilly explained that he was not fully qualified to act as a sky pilot, but the Rev. Mr. Waxim said he would attend to that end of it himself. He merely wanted O'Reilly to stroll around the institute, look large and impressive, and see that visitors to the institute did not break too much of the furniture. O'Reilly accepted, gave up his school and was duly installed at the Seaman's institute.

At that time the two English warships, the Ocean and the Albion, were in harbor and members of their crew were loose in Kobe, much to the excitement of that favored city. The first evening of O'Reilly's reign over the institute he was assailed by a saki soaked fireman from the Albion, who bitterly denounced O'Reilly as a bleeding, blooming Yankee, and urged him to come out into the alley and have his face kicked in.

O'Reilly picked up the cockney in his arms, carried him out of doors, and deposited him in a deep puddle of dirty water.

Next evening O'Reilly sitting in his little office at the institute heard a sudden outbreak of diabolic noise in the assembly room outside. He rushed out into the big room. On top of the keys of the open piano stood the fireman from the Albion and one of his pals. They were dancing on the keys with their heavy boots and to the discord they were singing a ballad which consigned everything American, and especially the stars and stripes, to the bottomless pit.

Nine other jackies were at work. Six of them were engaged in the pleasing occupation of tearing up the wooden benches, on which they were supposed to sit while the Rev. Mr. Waxim prayed for them, and thrusting them through the windows of the institute, sashes and all going out before their thrusts. The remaining three were dancing jigs on the institute tables. When the busy eleven saw the tall O'Reilly come in they stopped their work and gave their whole joint and undivided attention to the matter of calling him names. They referred to his ancestry in a most unflattering way, they alluded to all citizens of the United States as cowardly pigs, and they wept because there was no star sprinkled flag at hand on which they might expectorate.

O'Reilly, feeling that he must conduct himself as befits an apprentice sky pilot, reasoned with the raging eleven, but he reasoned in vain. Presently they found a bookcase full of hymn books and other similar literature. This they opened, and when the pacific O'Reilly would have approached nearer they bombarded him with a shower of hymn books and bibles, displaying the greatest possible accuracy of aim.

"That," says O'Reilly, with simple modesty, "that made me some sore."

Upstairs flashed O'Reilly, to where in his satchel rested a long army six shooter, loaded with bullets that might have felled a bull elephant. A moment later he stuck his nose into the cataclysmic assembly room. But ahead of his nose he stuck his gun. Down from their perch on the piano hopped the fireman of the Albion and his pal; the dropped benches from the tarry mitts of the other nine.

"Fall in," called O'Reilly in the martial voice of a new lieutenant fresh from the Point. "Guide right! 'Shun!"

On a creck in the floor of the assembly room lined up the eleven trembling sailors, with their wide springing trousers and their blue shirts. Their elbows touched and their knees touched also—trembling they were with fear of that immature out awful hand cannon.

Then began O'Reilly, and with a fluid eloquence, trained from experience with cowboys, scouts, and his old west side gangs, gave the eleven his deepest and most profound thoughts on the subject of the English nation as a whole, with particular reference to the case of each of the degenerates before him.

Then O'Reilly drilled them up and down that assembly hall. They picked up all the hymn books, swept and gathered up the broken glass, put everything back as nearly as possible where they found it.

Last of all, with a few brief but vehement parting remarks, O'Reilly, stationed at the door, marched by him out into the night, and each jackie as he passed was compelled to salute his superior officer in the most approved naval fashion.

Next morning came the Rev. Mr. Waxim greatly shocked. But O'Reilly was ready with his resignation.

"You should have used moral suasion on them," said the Rev. Mr. Waxim. "What will the missionary society say?" H. M. H.

IN THE SOCIETY WORLD.

MARRIAGE OF MISS LORLE NOTTER TO MR. JAMES HARROLD.

Ceremony Takes Place in Woodlawn Park Presbyterian Church—Wedding of Miss Catherine Dewey to Mr. William Coren Brown at Residence of Bride's Parents—Mrs. William A. Vincent to Introduce Her Niece, Miss Catherine Cullom Ridgely.

Miss Lorle Leona Notter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Notter, 6127 Woodlawn avenue, was united in marriage last evening to Mr. James P. Harrold.

The Woodlawn Park Presbyterian church was the scene of the service, which was read at 8 o'clock by the Rev. E. H. Curtis. Miss Florence Lillian Notter was her sister's only attendant, while Mr. Harrold was assisted as best man by Mr. James S. Reid of Rockford. Serving as ushers were Mr. George Briggs, Mr. Philip Brown, Mr. William Crumb, and Mr. J. Clark Dean.

Pink asters and masses of palms and greens made up the church decorations, and while the guests were being seated an organ recital was given.

The bridal gown was fashioned of duchesse lace with bands of pearls. A tulle veil was worn, and the bouquet carried was a shower of white roses. Miss Florence Notter was costumed in white pongee trimmed with cream lace. She wore, also, a large picture hat of the same material, the brim of which was wreathed with a long white plume.

There was no reception, only the bridal party being entertained at the Notter home after the ceremony. The house was made additionally attractive by a profusion of garden and wild flowers, with ferns as a background. Mr. and Mrs. Harrold left for a wedding journey. They will be at home after Dec. 1 at 6157 Lexington avenue.

The wedding last evening of Miss Catherine Bulkley Dewey to Mr. William Coren Brown was a quiet affair, taking place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Dewey, 5039 Washington avenue. The ceremony was said at 8 o'clock by the Rev. Joseph Vance of the Hyde Park Presbyterian church, only relatives and a few close friends being present. The bride was attended by her two sisters, Miss Grace Dewey being the maid of honor, and Miss Helen Mae Dewey as bridemaid. The groom's brother, Mr. Frank Brown, acted as best man, and the groomsmen were Mr. Allen A. Dewey, the bride's brother, and Mr. Henry Rathbone.

Miss Grace Dewey was in white, and Miss Helen Dewey wore pink, their frocks being of josé cloth brought from Manila. They both carried bridemaid roses. The colors of pink and white were carried out in the floral decoration, and an orchestra played.

After a trip east the bride and groom will make their home at 148 East Fifty-fourth street, but will receive on Tuesdays in November at the Dewey home.

The wedding of Miss Helen Beecher Robbins to Mr. R. C. Rittenhouse will be celebrated at noon today at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Robbins, 6358 Normal avenue. There will be no attendants and only the members of the families will be present to witness the vows, which will be heard by the Rev. H. E. Robbins, an uncle of the bride. The bride will wear her traveling gown. After a wedding breakfast the newly married couple will leave for a trip east. After Nov. 1 they will be at home at 5739 Rosalie court.

The engagement is announced of Miss Alice R. M. Toner, 157 Oakwood boulevard, to Mr. Charles Harrison Stanhope of Springfield, Ill.

The marriage of Miss Jessie Scott to Mr. Samuel Bingford Thomas will take place at the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Don A. Moulton, 4635 Ellis avenue, Saturday, Oct. 10. Miss Florence Scott and Mr. Willard Scott, sister and brother of the bride, will be the only attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas are to drive through the Berkshires on their wedding journey, and will reside on their return at 70 Forty-eighth street.

Dr. and Mrs. George W. Whitefield, 5324 Jefferson avenue, will give a large reception on the afternoon of Monday, Oct. 12, to be followed in the evening by cards.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Weaver, 4742 Drexel boulevard, will entertain the Weaver-Wells bridal party at a dinner Wednesday evening Oct. 7. There will be sixteen guests.

Mrs. William A. Vincent, 47 Astor street, will introduce her niece, Miss Catherine Cullom Ridgely, daughter of William Barret Ridgely, at a tea in November. Miss Ridgely will later make her début in Washington, her grandmother, Mrs. Shelby M. Cullom, to present her.

Mrs. Augustus Byram, Mrs. Harold A. Howard, Mrs. C. L. Burns, Miss Muriel Byram, and Miss Marjorie Burns are at the Holland house, New York, after spending the summer in the Adirondacks.

Miss Algenia Trude has returned from a visit to Miss Mabel Braun at Lake Geneva.

STUDENTS HAVE A CLASS RUSH.

Armour Institute Sophomores and Freshmen Have Annual Struggle in South Side Streets.

For over an hour yesterday afternoon a crowd of nearly 200 students fought and pushed and yelled in the streets surrounding Armour institute. It was the annual class rush of the school and the freshman class only a week old was attempting to punish the sophomores for the indignities which have been heaped upon its members during their first week in the institute.

The rush started just after noon, when nearly 100 sophomores marched to the institute carrying a banner on which was painted the figure of a donkey to typify the freshman class. In Thirty-third street the fight began.

Except for a few black eyes, bleeding noses, and bruised heads none of the students was seriously injured.

PLANS NEW HARBOR OF REFUGE

Plans for a new harbor of refuge just north of Waukegan have been drawn by Engineer James Galloway of Chicago and will be submitted to the river and harbor committee at Washington. The plans call for an expenditure of $750,000 for the erection of a breakwater extending 7,000 feet into the lake. An angle of 350 feet at the end will protect vessels from a northeast blow. The work as projected will be distinct from the Waukegan harbor, and is designed solely for the protection of vessels caught by storms in the long stretch of shore between Chicago and Milwaukee.

WANTS POWER OVER SUSPECTS.

Chief of Police O'Neill, in a letter to Supt. Frank L. Randall of the Minnesota state reformatory, advocates a movement toward the enactment of laws giving the police and other officials the right to detain all suspected persons long enough to make plain their identity. A law in Pennsylvania, the chief said, gives magistrates the right to commit to jail, even for 90 days, any person arrested in a crowded thoroughfare and who afterwards shall be charged with being a professional thief.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

Conducted by the School of Domestic Arts and Science of Chicago.

"It is the same hand that works and that prays, not a different one; unless it can do both it has not fulfilled its highest opportunity; and it is given to you to train such hands that they in their turn may go into the world with the spirit that dignifies labor and that brings worship into every day life."—President Hazard of Wellesley College to the graduating class at the Boston School of Domestic Sciences.

LESSON NO. 38—Home Life.

TEXT—"God could not be everywhere, therefore he made mothers and fathers."

THERE is a sort of practical every day knowledge which every mother should acquire—and that few attain. Every paper and magazine recognizes this lack in women and tries to supply it with recipes for domestic science, cookery, simple medical remedies, and adaptations for scientific knowledge to every day life.

The wise woman keeps her eyes and ears open for such suggestions, but tests them thoroughly before using them in the family. She studies the physical requirements and peculiarities of husband, children, and servants, and wards off indigestion here, and neuralgia there, by a change of diet, clothing, or temperature, a little wholesome hard work or a holiday into the country or to the city. She knows just what to do before the doctor comes, in case of a fall, or burn, or sudden illness, and just when to stop doing, which is a rarer knowledge.

All these things are trifles perhaps but human happiness consists not in great pieces of good fortune that happen, but in the little comforts and advantages of every day life.

As mothers and housekeepers we are in many cases victims of tradition; some of us are apt to think it more important to do as mother did than to stop and consider if there be not a better way—made almost necessary by the changes and conditions of today.

Filial regard and home training combine to make women conservative. We perhaps make too much of housekeeping and not enough of homemaking.

Life is too short and far too valuable to surrender it all to the mere creature wants. We should not sacrifice the health or comfort of our loved ones, but strive to add to their pleasure, and in no way can this be better accomplished than by saving time, labor, temper, and nerves by keeping our minds open to the things science is continually placing in our hands.

Progressive housekeeping means a willingness to accept new ideas, a willingness to do old things in new ways, if they are better, and teach our children so to do—especially the girl of today, who will be the woman of tomorrow.

The home life in one important particular is a failure in many families from the fact of the elimination of the masculine element in the rearing of children, and in many cases the expenditure of the household funds.

There are families where the children rarely see their fathers except on Sunday. They are in bed before he returns home, and he leaves in the morning before they arise.

The entire discipline, education, matter of clothing, and everything pertaining to the children are in the almost exclusive care of the mother. It is a mistake in many ways. First, the responsibility is too great for the mother, and much of the work she is unfitted for, as she can only give them the feminine outlook and they need quite as much the masculine. It is bad for the father, for he misses much that he can never attain to in the lives of his children in later years. They should grow up together, the father and mother both in the companionship of their children.

Fathers are held up as bugbears, and the threat, "your father shall hear of this," is often the only thing they hear of him. It is unfair to him, and hurtful to the child to think of him only as a disciplinarian. Impress upon the child the fact that the father is the giver of their pleasures, that it is through his labor and self-denial that they are able to have the pleasures and comforts of life.

If possible the children should see their father upon his return home, then banish them if need be, but let the family all meet together at least once a day, so that the conditions might not exist that I read of recently. The children were accustomed to only seeing the father on Sundays, and realized little of what fatherhood meant. For some misdemeanor the father punished one of the little ones, who went screaming to his mother with the startling tale, "Mamma, mamma, that man that stays here over Sunday slapped me."

Then, can we not in our homes be more outspoken in our avowals of love and affection for each other?

It is such a happy thing to be assured of love and devotion. Many of us go through life believing that those who care for us can guess how deep is our appreciation of them without our putting it into so many words. I believe that we miss much that is heart cheering because of this reticence.

The work you fain would do
The house you think to build some future day
Build soon; life drifts away;
Fill now; life has its needs.

Household Hints.

To Market, to Market—

To buy a pineapple or two—which are as good this minute as they are made—and then home again, home again to make the pineapple fanchonettes invented by the French madame and loved by the British matron. Bake pastry, pricked in many places, on the outside of inverted tins. When ready to serve fill with cooked pineapple and cover with meringue. Set in the oven until colored delicately. For the meringue beat the whites of three eggs until exceedingly light; continue beating and add gradually three level tablespoonfuls sugar; then fold in three level tablespoonfuls more of sugar.

Or, if you are in a cake baking mood, you can make this altogether ravishing filling for a layer cake: Prepare a boiled icing of two cupfuls granulated sugar, whites of two eggs, half a teaspoon cream of tartar, one cupful boiling water. Boil the sugar and water till it forms a thread, beat the eggs to stiff froth, add cream of tartar and the sirup, a little at a time, beating all the while; beat till cold and thick, flavor with orange juice; spread over the layers of the cake, sprinkling with grated pineapple, which has been sweetened to taste with powdered sugar. Pile the layers one on top of the other and cover the top with the filling.

Or, if you are not in a cake baking mood you can conjure a bewitching dessert into being with the help of some whipped cream. Flavor the cream with juice drawn off from the pineapple, which has been shredded; sweeten to taste and add a little liquor from a bottle of preserved cherries. Heap the cream in the center of a platter or flat dish and wreathe with macaroons. Ornament with the cherries, dotted here and there over the cream.

Pineapple snow is one of the most attractive of the products of the ice cream freezer, and is made first of all with enough pineapples to yield a quart of juice. Rub together twelve eggs and two pounds of sugar. Cook to a soft custard, strain, and beat briskly until cold. Put in a freezer can and work quickly so as to have it as light and as snowy as possible. Serve with cream sweetened and flavored with a little of the fruit juice.

Kitchen Floor Beauty—

For "An Iowa Housekeeper," Douds, Ia.: A hard pine kitchen floor that "was oiled and varnished when new, but is now badly worn," may be treated in either of two ways. In any case plane it first to regain smoothness.

One way: First apply a mixture called wood filler that contains a stain of any shade desired. This must be rubbed in strongly and allowed to dry for about twenty-four hours before the finish is put on. The finish is not a varnish but an elastic floor finish, and can be bought in half-pound tins or more at any reliable paint shop. It is wax softened with turpentine and perhaps some other drier added. When first applied it should be rubbed the other way from the grain of the wood to fill the cracks and pores of the wood. After rubbing the wrong way begin to polish with a weighted polisher. You can make the weighted polisher by taking a wooden soap or starch box and putting into it four bricks. Nail up and cover the whole with a piece of old brussels carpet, stretched and tacked together on top. A long wooden handle must be fastened to this by which it must be pushed forcibly in the lengthy process of polishing. After the polishing give the final treatment with a long handled brush which is inclosed in a canton flannel bag. You can also use this finish for hardwood floors. The treatment comes from high authority.

Second way: Fill in the cracks, etc., of the wood with putty, cover with floor paint, which is heavier than other paint, and then apply oil and varnish if you like, or jap-a-lac, or a hard wood finish. Many housekeepers treat their floors in this way and find the results most satisfying.

Table Talk—

Query: Why, how, and wherefore is it that at the annual breakfast of the X. Y. Z. association, at the afternoon tea, the luncheon to Miss A. B. C., and the dinner to the foreign notable table talk shines and scintillates like the stars of heaven while around the family board silence punctuated now and then with isolated monosyllables is en regle?

It need no more be garrulous any more than it need be a history of pains and afflictions.

As first aids read the newspapers. The mention of stirring current topics may be all that is needed to kindle an animated conversation which will outlast the whole dinner.

There is a story of a man, our Tom, who languidly drew out his chair at the dining table, saying as he seated himself, "I've had an awfully mean sort of a day," and withdrew into his cell and never came forth throughout the discussion of the soup and the fish. Perhaps it was because roast pork was the last joint that night that some one sitting opposite ventured, "Tom, do you remember the answer to that old conundrum: 'Why is the letter K like a pig's tail?'" Tom did not remember, but he laughed long and roundly when he heard that it was because "it ends up pork."

And it is quite worth one's while to respond to the stimulation even if only to look cheerful and to laugh.

It Is Something of a Trick—

To buy the beef for dinner. The best beef is of a clear red color, slightly marbled with fat, of a clear white. When the beef is too old or too poorly fed to be good it looks dark red or bluish, with yellow fat. The sirloin and ribs, especially the sixth, seventh, and eighth, make the best roasting pieces.

The ribs can be removed and used for stock and beef rolled or skewered firmly, making a piece easily carved and almost as presentable the second day as the first. For steaks sirloin is nearly as delectable to the tongue and much more delectable to an economical woman's purse than porterhouse, which furnishes only a trifle for eating and the remainder for the stock pot. If the beef be extremely young and tender steaks from the round may be used.

The Virginia fashion of beef à la mode, of course a delightful fashion, is using six or eight pounds of beef from the round cut thick. Remove the bone, and for eight pounds allow half a pint of good vinegar, one large onion minced fine, half a teaspoon each of mustard, black pepper, cloves, and allspice, and two tablespoonfuls brown sugar. Cut half a pound of salt fat pork into lardons or strips two or three inches long and about half an inch square. Boil the vinegar with the onion and seasoning and pour over the strips of pork, and let them stand till cold. Then pour off the liquor and thicken with bread or cracker crumbs.

Make incisions in the beef at regular intervals with a carving steel, and push in the strips of pork. Fill the hole from bone with the rest of the pork and the dressing, and tie the beef firmly into shape. Put two tablespoonfuls of dripping or lard in a frying pan and brown the meat on all sides, which takes about half an hour. Put the meat on a trivet in the kettle, half cover with boiling water; add a tablespoonful salt, teaspoonful pepper, an onion, and a small carrot, cut fine, and two or three sprigs of parsley. Cook extremely slowly, allowing half an hour to the pound.

NO WORK FOR TEACHER WHO SEEKS REINSTATEMENT.

Woman Threatens Suicide Unless She Secures Employment, but Supt. Cooley Is Forced to Rule That Her Qualifications Are Such That There Is No Place for Her on the Chicago Force—Inquiry Started as to the Wages of Stenographers.

"Please do answer, but don't write in any way that will take the heart out of me. It is when one loses heart that one gets despondent—and then suicide."

Such is the closing paragraph of an appeal received by President Graham H. Harris of the board of education from a woman who for twelve years taught in the Chicago public schools, and who now pleads for reinstatement.

President Harris forwarded the letter, without recommendation, to Supt. Cooley, who replied that he did not think it would be possible to do anything for the woman.

And Now the Answer.

So President Harris will inform the woman that there is no opening at present.

"I scarcely know what to say to her," said Mr. Harris yesterday. "Another disappointment may drive her to suicide, and yet we cannot reemploy her. I feel sorry for the poor woman, but we can do nothing for her."

The former teacher, who has appealed to the city where she taught for twelve years, lives in Cleveland, O. Her name is A. Eliza Lacy and she resides at 1273 Euclid avenue in the Ohio city.

"For twelve years," she says, "I was a teacher in the schools when Mr. Pickard was superintendent. I am now in destitute circumstances and have to beg for money for a pair of shoes, but have not got it. I think you will feel sorry to know that one who was a teacher in your city so long is so destitute. I am not very strong, and then these days they give all lucrative places to the younger people.

"I will probably go to the infirmary. Please give this more than a moment's thought. I would write to the superintendent. I like what I have read about him. But I have written to him about other things and hate to write him too often. Mr. Pickard always speaks well of me."

As to Stenographers.

President Harris has mailed letters to employers in all parts of the city asking them what wages they pay their stenographers. He explains that the board is required to secure its stenographers from the civil service commission and that none of the applicants has met with favor in the office of Supt. Cooley. He declares that it has been claimed that the board is not willing to pay high enough wages to offer inducements to high class stenographers, and desires to find out whether or not there is ground for this claim.

The next civil service examination for stenographers will be held on Oct. 8.

MISSIONARIES AID TO CUPID.

Chinese Girls Must Be Provided with Husbands, Miss Todd Tells Mission Women.

Missionaries in China, and in Thibet, also, must be matrimonial agents, according to Miss Grace Todd, who addressed the convention of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday afternoon at the Garfield Boulevard church, Garfield boulevard and Emerald avenue. Miss Todd recently returned from Chunkhing, west China.

The missionary told the delegates that the birth of a girl child in Chunkhing is esteemed as a misfortune and the little ones are bound and sold as wives to boys they never saw. To obviate this the missionaries agree to see that all girls given them to educate be married before they are 20 years old. The need for women teachers in Thibet was emphasized.

The following district officers were chosen: President, Mrs. H. W. Williams; vice presidents, Mrs. J. M. Latimer, Mrs. Elsie Waddell, and Mrs. C. H. Smith; district organizer, Mrs. E. A. Weatherson. The remainder of the former officers were reelected.

COOKS LEAVE CLUB WOMEN.

Wilmette Plan to Improve Servants Results in General Exodus of Kitchen Maids.

Because the Wilmette cooks objected to being taught by the Wilmette Woman's club to live according to rules laid down by theorizing housewives, there is a cook famine in the village.

Most of the Wilmette servants are drawn from the region of Gross Point and Niles Center, where the inhabitants are Germans. The girls were accusomed to spend Thursday afternoons at their homes, and on Saturday nights they would attend big country dances.

But the good women of Wilmette organized a servant girls' class and planned little lectures on cooking and hygiene for Thursday afternoons and Saturday nights. The girls did not like the meetings and sought other places to work.

"Yes," said Mrs. Sam Dingee, a member of the Wilmette Woman's club, "the girls didn't seem to appreciate the lectures. The plan was not a success."

APPLES FOR 1,100 CHILDREN.

Ald. Stuckart Gave Fruit to Many Youngsters at All Saints' Church Playground.

An apple shower given for 1,100 children last night on the playground of All Saints' church, Twenty-sixth place and Wallace street, was a feature of the centennial contributed by Ald. Henry Stuckart. The playground is a new one, equipped by the church for the use of the children of the neighborhood. Ald. Stuckart provided twelve sacks of apples. The fruit was to be distributed at 7:30 o'clock, and two hours earlier the children began to arrive. They overflowed the ground and filled the street outside of the inclosure. Despite the fact that it required an express wagon to carry the apples, the supply was inadequate, and the Rev. Father Gillan said as many more could have been used.

SEES A HAZING AT EVANSTON.

Watchman Says Fifty Students Tied Freshman to Post and Painted Him Green.

Fifty students of Northwestern university hazed a freshman early yesterday morning, according to William Miller, the negro watchman at the university. Miller, who did not learn the name of the victim, says the boys gathered at 3 in the morning, went to the student's boarding house, and called him out. They then took him to the campus, bound him to a street sign post, stripped him to the waist, and painted him with green paint. After this they ducked him in the lake.

TELL OF WORK AMONG JEWS.

Fourth Conference of the Hebrew Mission in Session in Chicago Avenue Church.

The fourth conference of the Hebrew mission yesterday morning began a two days' session in the Chicago Avenue church, Chicago and La Salle avenues. W. E. Blackstone, founder of the mission, delivered the opening address and told of the work.

The mission was founded in September, 1887. The special object is to teach Christianity to the Jews, particularly in Chicago. The institution, 22 Solon place, is near the heart of the Ghetto, in which live nearly 45,000 Jews. The work is supported by general contributions.

In the evening the Rev. Louis Meyer of Hopkinton, Ia., spoke on "Zionism." Today the attending missionaries will relate their experiences.

SMALL ADVANCES FOLLOW THE RALLY IN STOCKS.

Wheat Shorts Somewhat Disturbed by Recent Sales of Contract Grade to St. Louis, and September Gains 1 1-4 Cents, Going to Premium Over December—Claims of Greater Damage to Corn by Frost than Supposed Keep Coming.

The grain list was generally firmer in tone because of the rally in stocks, which encouraged those holders who had sold out on the weakness of the stock market and their uneasiness over the money situation the day before to take back their lines.

Wheat was helped also by the recent shipping business from here to St. Louis in No. 2 red winter, St. Louis advices putting the sales so far at 460,000 bu. There was little if any more of it done yesterday because of a sharp advance in September, which was in particular demand, not only by cash houses, which were removing hedges, but by speculative shorts, and the strength in September was the feature of the market. It had an advance of 1¼c to 77½c, selling over December soon after the opening, and though it dropped back to a discount of ⅛c there was another rally late in the session, and it closed at the top price of 77½c, a fraction firmer than the December, which had sold from 77c to 77⅝c, and closed at 77⅜c bid, a gain of ¼c. The May was about as strong as the December in the end, though at one time less than 1c premium, closing at 78⅝c sellers.

While the sharp advance in September shut off the shipping business with St. Louis, there was a good milling demand from the interior, with sales of 45,000 bu No. 2 red at ⅜c over December, and there was a sale of 90,000 bu No. 2 hard to the seaboard. Export business at the seaboard was reported quiet, sales being 120,000 bu. Clearances were 253,000 bu.

Manitoba Wheat Moving.

The advancing tendency in the market was checked by reports from Duluth that 500 cars of wheat had been received at Winnipeg, suggesting the possibility of an early and liberal movement of the Manitoba crop. There was a big increase also in the world's stocks for the week, 7,669,000 bu, although the figures compared with a slightly larger increase last year, one of 8,701,000 bu. Northwest receipts were larger than a year ago, 1,157 cars at the two points compared with 1,070, and there was a more liberal movement in the southwest also, Kansas City getting 365,000 bu, compared with 242,000 bu last year. Total primary receipts were 1,705,000 bu, compared with 1,803,000 bu last year, and 1,697,000 bu two years ago. There was an increase for the week in local stocks in public and private houses of 232,000 bu, a total of 7,116,000 bu. Contract stocks are now 2,441,000 bu, a decrease for the week of 64,000 bu.

The Liverpool market was irregular, ¼d lower to ⅛d higher; London, ⅛d to ¼d higher; Paris unchanged to ⅛c lower, and Antwerp unchanged. The speculative feature of the market was the steady demand for December by St. Louis houses, Spencer, Bennett, and others. There was an idea the buying was against sales in St. Louis, but that market was fully as strong as this. The advance was checked by open selling by Armour, who bought May at 1c premium, and is now believed to be out of the spread of long December and short May.

Best Corn Prices Early.

Corn rallied ⅜c to ⅝c under the joint influence of the strength in wheat and recovery in stocks, another bullish factor being the light estimate for today, 255 cars, a suggestion that receipts may be about to fall off. But the weather continued fine except for showers in the southwest. The weekly crop bulletin declared no material damage done by frost, and there was heavy selling on the advance by provision interests, Wells, and others, causing a reaction. The close was unchanged for September to ¼c higher for December and May. The cash demand was not as brisk as it has been, cash prices ¼c higher and shipping sales 200,000 bu. There were 568 cars in, with 70 contract and 825,000 bu inspected out of public and private houses, including 330,000 bu No. 2 corn out of store. Local contract stocks increased 570,000 bu for the week to 3,373,000 bu. Total stocks in all positions are 6,948,000 bu, an increase of 1,331,000 bu. Primary receipts were 989,000 bu, compared with 401,000 bu a year ago. Clearances were 126,000 bu, and export sales at the seaboard 64,000 bu. Bradstreet's reported an increase of 1,049,000 bu in stocks east of the Rockies, compared with an increase of 1,212,000 bu last year.

Oats Trade Dull.

Oats were ⅜c higher at their best, with the strength in other grains and on some bidding for May by Patten brokers, but lost most of their advance, closing unchanged to ⅜c higher. The September was relatively weak, a reflex of the dull shipping demand. Cash prices were unchanged and sales 125,000 bu. The general trade in futures was light. Country sales continnue light, as do the receipts, 160 cars inspected in and 100 estimated for today. Clearances were 25,000 bu and export sales at the seaboard 100,000 bu. Bradstreet's reported an increase of 1,047,000 bu in world's stocks, compared with a decrease of 593,000 bu a year ago.

October Lard in Demand.

Heavy buying of October lard by the National Packing company, about 10,000 tcs, was the feature of the provision market, and with the strength in hogs, which were 10c higher, made the early tone strong and induced scattered coverings. The demand was supplied by brokers supposed to represent Swift, and of the 12½c advance only 5c was held at the close. September lost 50c early on light trade and higher demand, selling back to $10.00, but rallied to $10.50 at the close on moderate buying. Ribs were up 12½@15c at best, closing 5c to 10c higher, and pork gained 5c to 15c. There were 12,000 hogs here with 26,000 estimated for today. Western points had 45,000, compared with 47,000 a year ago. Shipments of meats were lighter than last year, 2,675,000 lbs, compared with 3,347,000 lbs, but those of lard were heavy, 3,115,000 lbs, compared with 1,583,000 lbs. Liverpool prices were easier, bacon 6d lower, and lard off 1s. The cash trade was moderate, export business especially slow.

Shorts in September rye were unable to do any covering under 60c. At that price, which was 4c above the close of the day previous, holders supplied all demands. Other months were neglected. At the close December was 53c bid and 53½c sellers. May, 55½c bid and 56c sellers. On the sample market No. 2 sold at 59c and No. 3 at 57c.

Barley was dull, with mixing grades fully 1c lower. Low grade feed or mixing sold at 46@47c when in good order. Malting quotable at 48@50c for low grade up to 59@60c for choice.

Timothy seed was easy with buyers not over anxious to take hold despite the fact prices were shaded. September was $3.05 bid and $3.10 sellers. January nominally $3.15. Cash lots sold at $2.60@2.85, mostly at $2.75.

Clover was quotably higher on the basis of $10.75 for October delivery.

Flaxseed was weak for cash, No. 1 northwestern selling at $1.01, or 2c lower. Futures neglected. September and October, 96½c bid. May was $1.04 sellers. Receipts at Chicago were 12 cars; Minneapolis, 56 cars; Duluth, 143 cars.

DEMAND FOR BUTTER SLACKENS

Dealers Forced to Shade Prices for the Best Makes to Meet the Views of Buyers.

The demand for butter has fallen off to that extent where dealers yesterday found it necessary to shade prices on the best makes ½c in order to keep their stocks closed out. There was little change to note in other lines. Receipts of peaches and grapes were small, but buyers were slow to pay advanced prices. Trade, generally speaking, was quiet. INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

Recent mail advices to the J. Rosenbaum Grain company from H. S. Cramer of Berlin say of the probability of imports from this country: "Home receipts are so superabundant they not only cover the needs at the time being but also leave sufficient stuff for a brisk export business to Scandinavia and Denmark. Those symptoms confirm the reports of surprisingly rich yields and all that has come on the markets so far proves of a quality much superior to the average of last year's crops. Consequently the import business for foreign wheat and rye is badly affected. The only business has been and is constantly being done in feeding barley from Russia, which country has raised a bumper crop in this article. The high level on which the prices for corn have kept have naturally caused a bigger demand and consumption of barley at the expense of the corn business, which, like that in wheat and rye, is so small as to offer scarcely any interest. The wheat demand is exclusively confined to strong gluten wheats in small quantities."

A good deal more was heard yesterday of cornfields where unexpected damage from frost is appearing. A letter from a farmer in Burt county, Neb., under date of Sept. 27, says: "I have been examining my cornfields today and find that where on the 20th inst. the plants only gave indications that the leaves and husks were cut by frost the kernels now show positive frost damage and the grain is shriveling as though it had been picked ten days ago. My corn was planted about May 15, and I think that 50 per cent of the corn in this section is fully as late as my corn. The weather is dry and windy, with heavy morning frosts. It is a surprise to me the way corn is shrinking, and it will show more in the next ten days. I think you will find evidence of frost damage more widespread and complaints increasing during the week to come."

The Liverpool correspondent of the Modern Miller says: "Considering that Germany and France have reaped crops of wheat in a wet season, the wheat in those countries will be weaker than usual. Although both these countries will not need any more wheat than last year, yet through what they have harvested being in such a poor and weak condition, they will have to import either strong flour or wheat to enable decent sized loaves to be made. It is possible that France may buy considerable quantities of dry hard wheat and export part weak flour to the united kingdom for the mixing trade. This its millers are able to do because they get the duty returned on the flour they export."

Shippers who have grain at Buffalo are finding great difficulty in getting cars to transfer the grain farther east. The situation is already beginning to interfere with the cash business from this market. Shippers who have been trying to find out what is the trouble with the railroads report a general feeling that there will be as great a congestion in freight traffic this winter as there was last, the railroads having and expecting to have more business than they can handle. The difficulty in getting cars interfered seriously last year with the grain traffic from here, and shippers hope the future will be brighter than some of the railroad men are predicting.

The committee appointed by President Chandler to smooth out the differences between local shippers and New York buyers over terms of grain shipments, James Pettit, W. H. Merritt, and Robert McDougall, had its first session with the New York committee, Messrs. Pfarrins and Parker, yesterday afternoon. The New Yorkers have given up their first contention that they would not buy on Chicago terms, but the conferences are expected to result in more harmonious relations and probably mutual concessions.

The sharp advance in September wheat in this market was supposed to have shut off the business in cash No. 2 red to St. Louis, shorts here being more anxious for the September than the St. Louis buyers, reducing the shipping margin. Reports from St. Louis were to the effect 460,000 bu No. 2 red had been bought here for shipment to that market the last three days. The threatened increase in the St. Louis contract stocks had no effect on prices in that market, however, the September and December both advancing ⅝c.

A Winnipeg letter to Harris-Gates under date of Sept. 28, says: "We are having favorable weather now for thrashing and the grain is getting into splendid condition. Unless we have some more bad weather I look for heavy receipts of Manitoba wheat during the next two or three weeks. The wheat is coming out of the stacks in good condition, and, except where poor stacking was done, it is grading No. 1. Anything, however, that was in the shock during the recent storm will not grade better than No. 2."

Minneapolis was the only weak market for September wheat yesterday, but the Minneapolis September premium has been excessive. The close there was 83⅛c, a decline of 2½c, but the price was still 7⅝c premium over December. The Duluth September gained ½c, increasing its premium over December slightly to 5¼c. At St. Louis there was an advance of ⅝c, just equal to the advance in December. New York September gained ⅝c, increasing its premium over December from 1c to 1½c.

Former President William S. Warren returned to the floor yesterday after a three months' vacation in Europe, the picture of health, and was heartily greeted by the members. Mr. Warren laughingly declined to express any opinion on the European crops or markets, or the price of wheat. "I left Europe a bull on wheat," he said, "with the Chicago price 81⅜c, but when I got to Sandy Hook it was 76⅜c. My opinion has been knocked out of me and I must wait to get a new one."

As an evidence of the way tight money can affect carrying charges of grain a trader quotes the following "spreads" in 1893. On April 29 July wheat sold 3½c premium over May. On June 30 September was 7½c over July, dropping to 6⅛c the following day. On Aug. 31 December was 6¼c over September, and the average premium during the last half of the year, when there was any near or immediate prospect of deliveries, was around 6c.

Some of the southern Illinois red winter wheat millers report Kansas flour underselling the soft winter wheat flour in their territory, selling fully 40c a barrel cheaper than they can afford to sell at current prices for wheat.

The weekly crop bulletin on corn surprised the trade a little by estimating the amount of corn unmatured in Iowa at "probably less than 20 per cent of the crop."

CAN EARNINGS ARE LARGE

NET PROFITS FOR LAST FIVE MONTHS ARE $1,731,203.

Estimated That for the Current Fiscal Year They Will Not Be Less than $3,000,000 After Charging Off $450,000—Surplus Is Now Over Two and a Half Million Dollars — Changes in Prices of Steel Rails, Steel Billets, and Tinplate.

For the first five months of the current fiscal year of the American Can company, beginning April 1, the profits were $1,731,203. The company issued in New York yesterday an official statement of earnings on account of the suit brought in New Jersey to enjoin the payment of the 2½ per cent dividend payable today.

While the profits for five months announced yesterday equal $4,154,880 per annum, without providing for depreciation, still such earnings as that are not to be expected, for the business of the last three months includes the packing season, by far the best quarter of the company's year. But from other sources it was learned yesterday the profits for the present fiscal year are expected to be between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. It transpires that the earnings this year have been extremely good by comparison, because the period of reconstruction is over.

If in the next seven months the company should earn as much as in the last five the profits would be $3,462,000. Last year the company charged off $548,528 for depreciation of securities in the company's treasury. This charge was made after the annual meeting. In the balance sheet submitted at the annual meeting the profits for the fiscal year ended March 31 were given at $2,662,274. The amount mentioned was subsequently deducted, and in the balance sheet issued yesterday the profits at the end of the last fiscal year were placed at $2,113,746.

The condition of the surplus account of the company on Aug. 31, 1903, after reserving the dividend to be paid today may be set out as follows:

Profits five months fiscal year	$1,731,203
Dividend, 2½ per cent on preferred	1,030,832
Surplus five months	$700,371
Add previous surplus	2,113,746

Estimated Profits Over 7 Per Cent.

If, as suggested above, the earnings for the next seven months should equal those of the first five months of the current fiscal year, and if $400,000 should be charged off the earnings would still be in excess of 7 per cent on the preferred stock, as may be shown as follows:

Net earnings fiscal year (estimated)	$3,462,406
Depreciation	400,000

As the surplus profits for the year will be influenced by the amount charged off the latter item may be less than $400,000, since the plants of the company have been modernized in every sense. Further, the balance sheet yesterday shows the item of new construction and improvements to be $2,370,364, against $1,808,339 at the time of the annual meeting. In the last five months therefore there has been added to new construction $562,025.

The statement issued will probably prove surprising to most of the holders of American Can shares. While they have been told in an indefinite way that the earnings were good, no one outside the confidence of the management had expected such a showing. An official said yesterday that the profits were large because the drain on the company's treasury for dismantling plants, improving others, and building new ones had ceased.

Boxboard Litigation.

Lawrence & Hughes, counsel for the United Boxboard and Paper company, say with reference to the injunction granted Monday in the suit of John A. Shutts by Vice Chancellor Stevenson at Jersey City, that the injunction was continued until the trial of the suit without opposition, as it relates to transactions long ago completed, so far as they ever took place. The suit is not regarded by the company as injurious to its interests. The opposition to the making permanent of the injunction will be made on the trial of the suit.

General Financial News.

Since last Friday the United States subtreasury has taken $163,000 from the New York banks.

The report that Mr. Cassatt had resigned or was about to resign the presidency of the Pennsylvania railroad company was authoritatively denied yesterday afternoon.

It is reported that employés of the United States Steel corporation who last January subscribed for the preferred stock at 82½ will be permitted to withdraw their subscriptions and the amounts paid in if they have not completely paid for the shares subscribed for.

At a directors' meeting of the Chicago Pneumatic Tool company held on Monday in New York a quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent was declared. Books close on Oct. 5 and the dividend is payable on Oct. 20.

Chicago and the Market.

A canvass of the leading local commission houses yesterday showed that the business done was of an ordinary character. One house reported its customers had covered a good many short contracts. A still larger house said the short interest carried by it had not covered. In most cases the buying and selling was about even. In one instance the investment buying was given as fair. At the other houses the cash transactions were reported to be small. There has not been such good buying by Chicago houses on this break as was the case in the week of Aug. 10.

Bearing on the weak market on Monday the following message was received yesterday by the financial department of THE TRIBUNE from the head of a Chicago commission house now in New York:

"The liquidation yesterday I think without doubt came from the traction crowd, some of the members of which are Philadelphians, and one or two of prominence in New York. I heard yesterday morning that they were in straits, but did not realize that their holdings of Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania were so large. The question now is will there be any more weak spots similar to Pittsburg and the one mentioned, not forgetting a lot of others of hardly as much importance.

"Every banker here says there is nothing weak among the New York banks, but they always say this. I believe, however, that they are more nearly telling the truth now than generally. I feel quite confident from a number of little things that the Standard Oil crowd wants to see lower prices, but does not wish a panic. I am inclined to believe you will find they have a large interest in Pennsylvania before this trouble is over. When it is over there should be an institution started for the relief and benefit of poor brokers, for unless I am greatly in error we shall see a period of stagnation which will beat all records. The most disappointing feature of the situation, I think, is that the business outlook of the country is not good, and we are going to run into what will seem like a period of hard times as compared with the big business we have had since 1897."

Local Stocks.

In the local stock market American Can shares were active and strong. The preferred advanced from 27 to 29½.

The Biscuit shares were firm, advancing with the general list. Swift & Co. was steady. Boxboard preferred showed a gain of 1½ points. The buying generally seemed to be influenced by the turn in the New York market.

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—There was revulsion of feeling in the stock markets today, and the Boston market profited well by this change in attitude. The recovery in Copper Range exceeded 2 per cent. In other directions, notably General Electric, the gains were larger, but interest largely centered around Copper Range and Amalgamated. Miscellaneous issues all showed recovery of strong fractions to over 1 per cent.

IN THE FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—Money was in active request and scarce today, the market being entirely dependent on the Bank of England, which has been charging ½ per cent above the bank rate for advances. Discounts were firm. Operators on the stock exchange were gloomy and waiting for the outcome of the settlement, though the feeling of anxiety was allayed. The consols settlement disclosed a heavy supply of stock, resulting in a slump, but they closed steadier, the low prices inducing purchases. Americans opened flat, but recovered in the mid-afternoon. The improvement became more pronounced during the last hour, and Americans closed strong.

Enjoins United Boxboard Company.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Vice Chancellor Stevenson of Jersey City today enjoined the United Boxboard company until the final hearing from disposing of any of the bonds issued under the mortgage to the Morton Trust company in exchange for notes issued by that concern. The injunction further restrains the company from paying $368,465 to Dean & Shibley for alleged organization expenses, and from transferring on the company's books any stock given any of the defendants as a bonus with the bonds in exchange for its notes.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS
Examination for the Degree of CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT
The Board of Examiners appointed by the UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS for the examination of candidates for the degree of CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT will hold an examination of applicants for said degree in the Faculty Room of the College of Medicine of the University of Illinois, corner of Honore and Congress streets, Chicago, Ill., on the first Monday of November (2), 1903.
All candidates must file their applications for examination with the University Committee on Accountancy, Urbana, Ill., at least fourteen (14) days before the date of the examination. Application forms and copies of the rules covering the examination may be obtained from the Board of Examiners or from the University Committee on Accountancy.
The examination will be in the theory of accounting, the practice of accounting, auditing, and commercial law as affecting accountancy.

RALLY IN STOCK PRICES.

ENTIRE LIST TURNS UPWARD AND SHOWS STRENGTH.

Situation Is Complete Reversal of Conditions Prevailing on Day Previous—Pennsylvania, Which Was First in Decline, Becomes Chief Factor in Strong Recovery—Wall Street Not Prepared for Improvement—Support Comes from Powerful Elements.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—[Special.]—The stock market practically was a reversal of that of Monday. For a few moments after opening the prices showed some hesitation, but shortly after trading began an upward movement started which with a few interruptions lasted until the close of the day. The final prices in most cases were the best or about the best of the day. The average net gain came near being as large as had been the average decline of Monday.

The leader in the market throughout the day was Pennsylvania, which out of a total a little short of 900,000 shares supplied more than 120,000 shares and showed a net gain in these transactions of 3⅜ points. Wall street in general was not prepared for the great show of strength which the market made today.

The beginning of the day seemed worse than on Monday. London sent over prices which, with a single exception, showed declines from Monday's New York close, which ranged from ⅛ to 2¼ per cent, the latter in Anaconda. The exxception was Pennsylvania, and as it turned out it was this stock that all through the day led the advance. The strength in this quarter before long was reflected in other railway issues, and a little later was the cause of industrials being taken up. Amalgamated Copper and Sugar were among the active and conspicuously strong stocks today.

When it became apparent the whole tone of the market really had changed, explanations immediately were sought. It was said there had been a conference of bankers and the buying of stocks was the result of an agreement to support the market.

It was asserted, too, that conflicts between important financial groups had been settled. An attack had been made on the market with a definite object in view, and this object accomplished the pressure on stock was removed.

Among bankers it was the opinion that while support doubtless had been given it was not the result of any specially laid plans. That the improvement which came today was not restricted to any part of the market, but included practically every stock dealt in, a glance at the list will show. Not a single active stock showed a loss.

Steel stocks also were active, common showing a total of 45,000 shares, and preferred 47,000. In early trading they both sold to new low levels, 14⅞ for common, and 58⅝ for preferred, but they later shared the general improvement. Common closed at a net gain of 1¼ points, preferred 2¾ points. Bonds escaped a new low record and closed at 70, a net gain of 1⅛ points.

Money on call steady; lowest 2½ per cent; highest, 3; ruling rate, 2½; last loan, 2½; closing bid, 2½; offered at 3. Time money dull and unchanged; sixty days, 5½ per cent; 90 days, 6; six months, 6. Prime mercantile paper, 6@6½; sterling exchange easy with actual business in bankers' bills at 486.10@486.15 for demand and at 482.20@482.25 for 60 days' bills; posted rates, 483 and 487; commercial bills, 482; bar silver, 59⅝; Mexican dollars, 45½; government bonds easier; railroad bonds firm.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Operations in dry goods are restricted in the extreme and are likely to continue so during the next two weeks at least. The activity in the jobbing district is considerably lessened, and although reports from the country are to the effect that a fair business is still in progress the financial situation is not inspiring buyers to purchase a yard more than is absolutely necessary.

Coffee—Futures opened steady at unchanged prices, but turned firmer and more active as the session progressed on cables from Brazil reporting unfavorably upon the growing crop. Spot market also shows some improvement and this encourages purchases of futures. Closed steady, net 5 to 10 points higher.

Metals—Tin—In London, spot closed £112 7s 6d, futures £113; locally, spot, $25.45@25.60. Copper—In London, £54 7s 6d, and futures, £54 10s; locally, lake and electrolytic, $14.25@13.50; casting, $13.12½. Lead—£11 in London; locally, $4.50. Spelter—In London, £20 15s; here, $6.00. Iron—49s 6d in Glasgow, 48s 6d in Middlesboro; locally, No. 1 foundry, northern, $17.00; No. 2 foundry, northern, $16.50; No. 1 foundry, southern, and No. 1 foundry, southern soft, $15.50.

Cattle Trade in Most Glutted Condition Seen for Many Months—Hogs a Little Stronger.

It has been many months since the cattle trade saw such a glutted condition as now prevails at the yards. The receipts of Monday, 44,445, were the largest by more than 2,000 that were ever received there in one day, and of this number fully 20,000 were left unsold at the close of business on Monday. Added to these was a run of 12,000 fresh cattle for Tuesday, making approximately 32,000 cattle on sale. The demand was slack and not half the offerings were sold. Receipts of hogs were only 10,000 and the market averaged a little higher. Actual receipts of sheep will be around 18,000. The market was steady to firm.

Cattle.

Of the 12,000 fresh cattle arriving for Tuesday's trade there were fully 4,000 western rangers and 2,000 Texans. There was absolutely no reliability to the demand, and it was estimated that not more than 8,000 of the large number on sale found outlet, which leaves enough stale cattle to supply the demand for Wednesday, and when it is considered that the car report favors 20,000 fresh the outlook for a clearance is anything but flattering. Prices on fat cattle are fully 25c to 35c lower than the close last week, while on native she stock 30c to 50c will not more than cover the decline. The trade in western and Texans is no less demoralized than in the natives, and the yards are full of stale holdings of this kind of cattle. The market cannot be quoted otherwise than demoralized, on a basis of the following quotations:

Fancy steers	$5.40@5.90
Good to choice steers	5.00@5.40
Common to fair steers	3.80@4.90
Choice cows and heifers	3.75@4.00
Good to choice cows and heifers	3.00@3.50
Fair cows and heifers	2.75@3.00
Canners	1.75@2.25
Stags	3.75@4.65
Cutters	2.50@2.80
Good to choice bulls	3.75@4.50
Common to fair bologna bulls	2.75@3.40
Good to choice stockers and feeders	4.00@4.30
Medium stockers and feeders	3.25@3.75
Inferior stockers and feeders	2.50@3.00
Choice calves, 100@150 lbs	6.75@7.50
Common to choice calves, 175@400 lbs	3.00@5.50

Hogs.

On the light receipts the hog market showed a slightly stronger turn, and, with the exception of the light bacon sorts, droves generally cost a little more than on Monday. Good strong medium weight shippers cost $6.20 to $6.25, and were around 5c higher than cost of same kinds on the previous day, while in the packing and mixed lines, notably on heavyweights, prices were fully 10c higher than close of the previous day. Supplies were pretty well absorbed at these prices, but the close was weak. Indications favor about 25,000 for Wednesday. Quotations:

Good to choice, 240@400 lbs	$5.90@6.30
Common to good, 245@440 lbs	5.60@5.85
Good to prime, 190@235 lbs	6.15@6.35
Assorted light, 150@180 lbs	6.25@6.40
Mixed, 200@245 lbs	5.60@5.95
Light mixed, 200@245 lbs	5.80@6.10
Pigs	5.25@5.75

Sheep.

The market for fat sheep and feeder grades of all kinds was fairly active at fully steady prices, but common sheep and lambs were neglected and weak. Choice lambs, most native and westerns, sold at slightly stronger prices. Quotations:

Good wethers	$3.25@4.25
Fair to good ewes	2.75@3.30
Fair to good lambs	4.50@5.25
Common lambs	3.75@4.25
Good to choice bucks	2.00@2.50
Feeding sheep	3.00@3.60
Feeding lambs	4.20@4.65

OBJECTS TO THE RATING BUREAU

President Washburn of Home of New York Throws Down Gauntlet at Underwriters' Convention.

President Washburn of the Home of New York threw down the gauntlet for his company against the rating bureau and stamping secretary system in his annual address yesterday morning at the Auditorium before the thirty-fourth annual meeting of the Fire Underwriters' Association of the Northwest.

For some time his company has been opposing the establishment of any more stamping offices for passing on rates and policies, and some of the companies in the west have announced that they were opposed to the appointment of any more stamping secretaries until it could be learned whether the Home would coöperate or not. President Washburn's statement on this point furnished the sensation expected from his address, as he declared that the system was wrong in principle and practice, threatened the destruction of the American agency system, and apparently left no loophole for the company to escape continued opposition to it.

The attendance is the largest in the history of the organization, which is the most important of the kind in the world. The membership is 598, and eighty-three new members were elected during the day. The annual address by President John Marshall Jr. of the Fireman's Fund reviewed the conditions of the business, and foresaw danger in the disposition of some of the companies to cut rates because they had had a year of comparative prosperity. He dwelt on the necessity for education in insurance, and his principal recommendation was for the classification and utilization of the association's library.

Many prominent company officers were present to hear President Washburn's address, which was on "The Underwriters' Problem." He showed the superiority of the stock to the mutual system for fire insurance conditions, and of companies with a general rather than a local business. The central point of his paper was the need of one supreme authority in the company, as against the usual system of departments, rating bureaus, and stamp clerks. He held that these transferred the conduct of the business from the company managers to outsiders, whose only interest was in the salary they drew, making the officers simply recording clerks and the agents simply solicitors. Mr. Washburn also suggested that the boards and compacts gave support to the unfounded claim that fire insurance was a trust. He held that the underwriters' millennium would come only when the proper relations existed between the companies and the public, between the business and the lawmakers, and between officers and agents. J. K. Livingston of Detroit, special agent of the Pennsylvania, who read the only paper of the morning, on "Some Present Opportunities for the Special Agent," took issue with President Washburn's pessimistic view of the special, and held that modern conditions were merely multiplying his opportunities for usefulness.

At the afternoon session Walter W. Conklin of St. Paul, special agent of the National of Ireland, read a paper on "A Few Pointers for Special Agents and Others," giving advice to both specials and managers as to their mutual relations. Ex-Congressman J. H. Acklen of Nashville, Tenn., spoke on "Hostile Insurance Legislation; the Cause and the Remedy." He held the cause to be ignorance and demagogism, and suggested organization and coöperation among the companies as the remedy, advising them to work through local attorneys, as the railroads do. Neal Bassett of Chicago, special agent of the Firemen's of New Jersey, discussing "A Plea for Education," argued that the companies could well afford to contribute to the establishment of courses of technical training for fire insurance engineers. Charles F. Hardy of Topeka, Kas., state agent of the Insurance Company of North America, spoke on "Field Men's Organizations in Anti-Compact States," urging that the coöperation of all classes of companies be secured, and that the reduction of the fire hazard, as well as the maintenance of rates, be considered.

The program closed with a paper by D. A. Rudy of Indianapolis, state agent of the German of Freeport, on "A Future View of Coöperation and Schedule Rating as Mirrored by the Past."

Reports from St. Joe are that the local agents there resorted to threats of prosecution under the anti-conspiracy act to stop the operations of a party of field men who were trying to start a rate war there. Since rates were declared off on preferred business at Kansas City and St. Joe the local agents of the latter place have been standing together and trying to prevent demoralization. Several field men representing large companies insisted that their agents should make a fight, and started in themselves to replace cut rate policies. The agents took legal advice and threatened them with conspiracy to ruin their business, which put an end to the crusade.

Members of the nonunion field clubs in the west that have been coöperating with the union organizations on rates and practices are waiting for a ruling from the governing committee of the western union on the scope of its new relief rule. This cannot be furnished till the new governing committee is appointed and has organized, and President Blackwelder of the union says that so many members are still in the east that it will be several days before he can make his appointments.

The nonunion coöperating organizations say that if the relief rule is to be applied against any of them there will be a summary end to all coöperation. They hold that they have rules and committees for regulating variations from rate by companies in both organizations, that infractions are not limited to either side, and that these committees have so far shown themselves able to cope with any cases arising in which members are interested.

If the relief rule is to be applied against the rate cutting companies that do not affiliate with either organization, the nonunion companies have no complaint to make, as they regard them as the common enemy.

The suit of the International Salt company against the ten prominent members of the Chicago board of trade, who were underwriters on Tennant's Lloyds, which retired from business several months ago, to recover under their policy on its South Chicago plant, burned last April, was heard by Justice Underwood yesterday. The Lloyds disclaimed liability on the claim that the warranty clause had not been complied with, but judgment was rendered against all the underwriters. They have announced their intention of carrying the case to the highest court.

H. M. Coudrey & Co. of St. Louis have been appointed general agents for Missouri and southern Illinois of the Sea and Lake of this city.

S. H. Woolard, state agent and adjuster of the American Central in Kansas, has been appointed a member of Gov. Bailey's staff.

DEFENDS STATE SUPERVISION.

President Vorys of Commissioners Replies to Criticism at Convention in Baltimore, Md.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—A defense of state supervision of insurances was contained in the annual address of President Arthur Vorys at the convention of insurance commissioners here today. He said:

State supervision of insurance has both its friends and its enemies, and in addition there are those who regarded the forty-nine insurance departments "an unmixed good and a mixed evil." None, however, asserts that the convention tends to weaken the effectiveness of the departments in safeguarding the public or tends to increase the useless burdens and vexations of companies.

From the personal contact and intercourse and the exchange of views at these annual conventions came a mutual enlightenment and education of incalculable value to each department. This has been reflected in the recommendations made by the commissioners to their respective legislatures.

Shall an insurance company be permitted to transact any business other than insurance? If so, what other business? Shall its intercorporate relatives be limited? If so, how? Shall insurance be divided into limited fields of operation? If so, what are their proper boundaries? Uniform statutory rules in all the states, settling these questions would clarify the situation for the companies, abate the confusion of the public, and lessen the distraction of the commissioner.

The first discussion was in relation to a uniform bill relating to fraternal beneficiary associations, prepared by the committee on fraternal insurance. The recent passage of a similar bill by the national fraternal congress necessitates close comparison and discussion of the insurance commissioners' bill and the question of its adoption comes up tomorrow.

Illinois was represented by J. J. Brinkerhoff, who is the secretary of the convention. In all there were thirty-eight commissioners, deputy commissioners, and actuaries present.

Mayor McLane welcomed the commissioners. There will be a banquet tomorrow evening. The convention will last three days.

Problem for Boston Board.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—At a meeting of the Boston board of underwriters today a committee consisting of George P. Field, James Bruerton, E. C. Brush, Edward D. Blake, W. H. Rogers, R. A. Bolt, and A. M. Bullard was appointed to consider what action was advisable in view of the increased liability indicated by a decision of the Massachusetts Supreme court in the case of the Advertiser building, which holds the insurers in the added cost of repairs incident to the operation of building laws.

Losses in Cincinnati Blaze.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—The loss by fire yesterday to the rear carriage factory of the J. H. Louis company, situated at 29 East Ninth street, was $7,500, with $5,500 insurance in the following companies: Colonial, $500; New York Underwriters', $1,000; New York Fire, $1,000; Lumbermen's, $1,000; Firemen's Fund, $1,000; Cooper of Dayton, O., $500; and American Fire of New Jersey, $500. The loss to the companies will of course be total.

Henry A. Fiske Takes New Post.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Henry A. Fiske, manager of the Underwriters' bureau of New England, has resigned to accept a position in the home office of the Phœnix Insurance company of Hartford.

Indiana Insurance News.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—The Knights and Ladies of Honor have purchased a site in North Pennsylvania street, between Vermont and Michigan streets, for $18,000 and will build a large home office building.

Fifty-two barns have been burned by incendiaries in Posey county, near Mount Vernon, Ind., since Jan. 1. Most of them were insured in the Posey County Fire association, and this mutual may be forced to disband. One barn was added to the list this week.

FARLEY GOES BACK FOR TRIAL.

Horseman Interested in Local Racetrack Raids Unable Longer to Resist Extradition.

Unable longer to resist extradition, Edward Farley, the horseman whose name has figured in several raids on local race tracks, yesterday was taken to Detroit, Mich., where he is charged with entering a "ringer." Attorney Cantwell, his counsel, declared the man was kidnaped, but the records show that he was surrendered to the Michigan authorities on an order of Judge Chetlain.

Farley's departure from Chicago was accomplished after a long legal contest, in which State's Attorney Deneen's office struggled to keep the horseman from the clutches of the Michigan authorities until after the cases against the local race track men were disposed of. He is a material witness. Further prosecutions now will cease, it is believed. Attorney Cantwell said he would drop the crusade. It is understood the defendants will go into court, plead guilty to the charges, and pay fines of $100 each, as in the first cases called.

POOL CASE TO GRAND JURY.

Officials of the Federal Plumbing Company Held in $1,500 Bonds by Justice Cochrane.

In the Ratcliffe perjury case before Justice Cochrane yesterday afternoon examination was waived and W. A. Ratcliffe, O. D. Peck, and A. D. Sanders, officers of the Federal Plumbing company, an alleged "pool," were held to the grand jury in bonds of $1,500. Out of the fifteen witnesses summoned five were absent and were compelled to appear in court after writs of attachment had been served upon them and were assessed the costs of the constables' fees. Paul Blatchford, one of the witnesses, was, it is said, in attendance at Judge Walker's court as a witness in a case involving some labor troubles.

Sweethearts Reunited

Seemingly Insurmountable Difficulties Overcome.

Young Man's Despair Changed to Joy.

The world has little sympathy for the unsuccessful lover. He is doomed to live down his sorrow by himself. In every other instance the man who tries hard and fails receives sincere sympathy. The successful lover is the subject of the felicitations of all, no matter how easy the conquest proved.

A lover sometimes tries hard and yet fails. As, for instance, in this case, where the man did his best, but lost because he went at it wrong, and won when he was not so strenuous, but went at it right.

For the present the names of the young people must be suppressed. The young lady feels she must not be blamed under the circumstances for first saying "No" and later "Yes." The young man is as willing to marry the girl now as he ever was and feels that her former refusal has worked to his lasting benefit. No one can blame a fastidious girl from refusing to marry a pimply faced man. Those peaked little fellows, coming and going and changing their color from day to day, now appearing here and then there, and then all over, are sure to knock all romance into a "cocked hat." However, the young man thinks Derm-Aseptic was invented just in time. He used the matchless skin lotion that removes pimples, cures chafing, is soothing after shaving and makes the skin clear, smooth and velvety. Derm-Aseptic is always successful if used for one or two weeks according to directions. You don't have to spend a fortune to find out that you are on the right road; in fact, you don't have to spend a cent. Ask your druggist: "Does Derm-Aseptic remove pimples? What do your customers report to you?" After you have used Derm-Aseptic be sure not to forget to report to the druggist yourself. In conclusion, girls, do not dismiss a good man because of a bad complexion. Tell him to use Derm-Aseptic. It is to a bad complexion what the correct numbers are to the combination lock on a vault door.

What Physicians Say About Derm-Aseptic.

Derm-Aseptic Co., Chicago, Ill.
Truly yours, H. B. Bessac, M. D.

Bristow, Ind. T., July 9, 1903.
Derm-Aseptic Co., Chicago, Ill.
Gentlemen: I used Derm-Aseptic in an obstinate case of pruritis rudendi covering almost the entire body and effected a complete cure. The case was one of twenty years' standing.
Yours truly, J. Z. Scott, M. D.

Derm-Aseptic Co., Chicago, Ill.
Dear Sirs: I used a small bottle of your Derm-Aseptic on a case of chafing under the arms with beneficial effects. Yours truly,
Jno. M. Thompson, M. D.

Mt. Pleasant, Ala., July 13, 1903.
Derm-Aseptic Co., Chicago, Ill.
Gentlemen: The small bottle of Derm-Aseptic which I used gave very satisfactory results. Very truly, D. D. Cole, M. D.

Benton, Ill., Aug. 12, 1903.
Derm-Aseptic Co., Chicago, Ill.
Dear sirs: You will please send me three bottles of your Derm-Aseptic. I have used a small bottle on a case, which it improved very much.
Please find money order enclosed.
Yours truly, J. D. Smith, M. D.

Derm-Aseptic Co., Chicago, Ill.
Gentlemen: Derm-Aseptic has given satisfaction. Yours truly,
J. E. Cage, M. D.

Lewiston, Idaho, July 13, 1903.
Derm-Aseptic Co., Chicago, Ill.
Gentlemen: I used your Derm-Aseptic in a case of very obstinate character and it gave almost immediate relief. I shall not fail to recommend it in every instance possible.
Very truly, W. B. Reese, M. D.

Cottondale, Tex., July 10, 1903.
Derm-Aseptic Co., Chicago, Ill.
Gentlemen: I am well pleased with your Derm-Aseptic and hope to have the pleasure of prescribing it in my practice here: I am,
Very respectfully yours,
J. J. Lasater, M. D.

Conrad, Iowa, July 9, 1903.
Derm-Aseptic Co., Chicago, Ill.
Gentlemen: I am well pleased with Derm-Aseptic. Yours respectfully,
W. H. McClain, M. D.

SEEK TO PROVE MURDER PLANS.

State Shows Movements of J. H. Tillman Before He Killed Gonzales.

PISTOL IS DESCRIBED.

Witness Says He Saw It Loaded and Given to Defendant on Day of Shooting.

Lexington, S. C., Sept. 29.—[Special.]—Evidence tending, in the opinion of the prosecution, to show that the shooting of Editor N. G. Gonzales by Former Lieut. Gov. James H. Tillman was the result of a carefully arranged plan was introduced at the trial today.

H. S. Dowling of Bamberg, who was a second lieutenant in the Second South Carolina regiment, commanded by J. H. Tillman, and a member of the legislature, and whose room adjoined Tillman's in a hotel at Columbia, said he was in the defendant's room on the morning of the day of the shooting. He was shown two pistols which have been exhibited to different witnesses as the ones carried by Tillman. These he believed to be the same he saw in the room that morning.

Saw the Pistol Loaded.

Others came into the room that morning before he left, he said, and one of them loaded the magazine of the automatic pistol and handed it to Mr. Tillman just as witness was leaving the room.

The witness then said he next saw Tillman at the jail after the shooting, when he expressed his regrets that he (Tillman) was in trouble. Tillman asked, he said, if he (the witness) knew where he had hit Gonzales. The witness left the jail and upon ascertaining where the bullet had struck he went back to the jail and informed Tillman, who, the witness said, replied: "If he was hit where I aimed surely he is a dead man."

Ambrose E. Gonzales, publisher of the State and a brother of N. G. Gonzales, was called to the stand.

On cross examination he was asked:

"The relations between your brother and Mr. Tillman had not been pleasant for some years, had they?"

"They had not been pleasant," he replied.

Mr. Gonzales was asked if he had not heard his brother express himself in denunciatory language in regard to Mr. Tillman, to which the witness replied:

"I cannot say I ever heard him use such language in the office. I think everything he said, not everything he knew or believed, but everything he said to his relatives or friends he said in the State newspaper so that the people all could know."

Quotes Tillman's Remarks.

W. B. Gause, a member of the legislature from Florence county, was asked if he had heard Mr. Tillman, when he met him in Columbia during the last session of the legislature, say anything about Mr. Gonzales' editorials, to which the witness replied that Col. Tillman had said:

"'I don't know that I am stopping anywhere. I stuck those editorials of the State in my pocket and told my wife I might stop at the penitentiary before I stopped.'"

On cross examination the witness said he did not take the remark seriously.

REGULARS PREPARE OUTPOST IN KENTUCKY WAR GAME.

Second Day's Work of Troops at Camp Young Forms Connecting Link in the Defense for Today.

Camp Young, West Point, Ky., Sept. 29.—The preparation of an outpost, a proceeding not involving any contact between opposing forces, composed the second day's work done by the regular troops now in camp pending the arrival of the state guards for the combined maneuvers. Viewed from the standpoint of the spectator, today's maneuver seemed tame, but it was nevertheless highly important, as it formed the connecting link between the clash of the blue and brown advance guards yesterday and the attack and defense of the outpost, which comes tomorrow.

The three movements form collectively the whole problem given the regulars for their unaided solution. On Thursday the state troops will begin to arrive and thereafter the regulars will be merged with them.

The judgment of the umpires will not be announced until Thursday, when the points scored during the three movements ending tomorrow night will be considered in relation to each other and a victory announced for the blues or browns on the work of the three days as a whole.

STREET SIGN PLAN DOOMED TO DEFEAT IN COMMITTEE.

Aldermen Will Not Permit Further Defacing of the Highways by Advertisements on the Lamp Posts.

Ald. Alling's ordinance for the placing of advertisements on street lamp posts is fated to meet an early death in committee. According to the measure which was presented by the alderman at the council Monday night, the National Street Sign company would be given the privilege of defacing lamp posts and in return would place the street name where it might be read.

It is admitted that some better method of identifying streets than that now used is needed, but it is declared that the city will not increase the number of advertising blots on the streets.

The attitude of the aldermen on this point was tested at Monday's session of the council when the question of elevated station advertising was brought up again with the intention of restoring the privilege. The opposition succeeded in stopping the measure without trouble.

Ald. Alling merely introduced the measure and has not endeavored to work in its behalf.

DOESN'T LIKE CIVIL SERVICE.

Joliet Ex-Chief Tells Firemen's Convention That Our System Is All Wrong.

Chicago's system of governing its fire department is all wrong, according to ex-Chief Paige of the Joliet department, who addressed the sixth annual convention of the National Firemen's association in convention at the Sherman house yesterday.

"The principle of civil service is contrary to the constitution and to the principles of our government," Mr. Paige said. "Civil service means machine government, for it intends to keep one in office continually. The mayors are selected by a political party, and their instructions are to appoint men of pronounced political faith, two of his own party and one of another party. And they usually hunt up a mugwump, so he has practically three of a kind. Are these men freer from political bias than the mayor? Certainly not."

A resolution was passed that on the second Sunday in June of each year memorial services be held for firemen who have lost their lives while on duty.

Suburb Starts Improvement Club.

At a meeting of Chicago Lawn business men Monday evening an association known as the Chicago Lawn Improvement club was organized with a membership of fifty-three. J. W. McKee was elected president and George W. Lobey secretary.

PLANS A BIG BUILDING.

NEGOTIATIONS ON FOR PROPERTY IN DEARBORN STREET.

New York Company Proposes to Erect Fourteen Story Structure Costing $300,000 at the Southwest Corner of Dearborn and Harrison Streets—Leasehold Now Held by C. C. Heisen—Other Transactions in Real Estate—Pennsylvania Fight Condemnation.

As an example of the increasing trend of business in that direction negotiations are pending for the lease of the southwest corner of Dearborn and Harrison streets by a large New York corporation, which intends to erect a fourteen story business and office building. The building will cost $300,000 and will be uniform with the Pontiac building on the opposite corner. It will extend 100 feet in Dearborn, running through to Custom House place, fronting in Harrison street.

The terms of the lease are not made public, but the basis of negotiations are on a value of $400,000. The New York corporation is a manufacturer of printers' supplies, having branch houses in every large city in the country. It will occupy a portion of the building and rent out the balance.

C. C. Heisen holds the lease on the property, having secured it in 1886. The following year he erected the eight story structure that occupies the greater part of the property. The remainder is occupied by a four story building. The lease will be for the unexpired period of ninety-nine years.

Other Real Estate Transactions.

The leasehold interest in 20x100 feet and the six story building at 188 Monroe street were sold on the real estate board yesterday under a decree of foreclosure to Wallace L. De Wolf, subject to accrued claims of $12,000. The ground was leased in 1888 by the late Calvin De Wolf to W. E. Slosson, the billiard expert, for ninety-nine years at $3,000 a year. The leaseholder failed to meet the ground rent, taxes, and other claims.

The National Life Insurance company of Montpelier, Vt., yesterday loaned to trustees of the estate of the late Joel B. Harris of Rutland, Vt., $36,000 for five years at 5 per cent. The security consists of 110x200½ feet, east front, in Cornell avenue, 350 feet south of Fifty-third street.

The largest transfers recorded yesterday consisted of three pieces of flat property. George Heppe sold to Philip May for $25,000, 20x67 feet, with an east front, and other property in Dearborn street, forty-three feet south of Nineteenth street.

Pennsylvania Fights Condemnation.

In the motion to dismiss the condemnation proceedings against a strip of land on the west side of the river from Madison to Van Buren street yesterday the Pennsylvania road, whose tracks and freight depot occupy the property, contended that it was an abuse of its power for the sanitary district to condemn the property. The railroad maintained that the district did not have the proper permit from the secretary of war and that its ordinance providing for widening the river at that point was not sufficiently specific.

CUT IN OMAHA GRAIN RATE DUE TO CLERK'S ERROR.

President Stickney of Chicago Great Western Railroad Gives Explanation to Avert Threatened Refaliation.

President Stickney of the Chicago Great Western railroad recently caused a stir among the officials of the Chicago-Omaha roads, when it was learned that his company had issued a new tariff on grain through Omaha to the east, making the special notation that the terminal transfer charge at Omaha of $2 per car would be absorbed by the company. This was taken as an indication that Mr. Stickney deliberately had cut the rate in order to popularize his new Omaha line with the Omaha shippers. As a result the other roads threatened to make war upon the Chicago Great Western.

The executive officers of the Chicago-Omaha lines met here yesterday afternoon. A rupture was averted by the explanation of the representative of the Chicago Great Western that the notation to absorb the $1.75 terminal charge on grain at Omaha was put on the regular tariff by the rate clerk through a mistake. He said the arrangement his company had for transferring grain through elevators at Omaha practically was the same as other roads. In order to compete with other roads his company was obliged to pay the elevator owners for transferring the grain.

Since the opening of the Omaha line the Chicago Great Western has been favored by Omaha shippers. Its competitors naturally are disgruntled, and if they discover that Mr. Stickney's road is using unfair means to secure the business they may, without further provocation, start a rate war.

Working for Anti-Pass Agreement.

Efforts are being made by the chief executive officers of the principal western roads to obtain the adoption of an anti-pass agreement for 1904 that will make it more difficult than ever to secure free transportation. There will be a special meeting here within a few days of the vice presidents and traffic directors of the Gould lines, Harriman lines, Hill roads, Northwestern, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and other systems to consider means for the regulation of the pass question. This gathering is preliminary to the general pass meeting in St. Louis. The issue of free transportation to subordinate officials will be restricted.

The Santa Fé, Wabash, and several smaller roads have become parties to the new interchangeable train ticket agreement, and the Missouri Pacific probably will join within a few days. The Rock Island alone stands out against a ticket that conductors may honor and will continue the interchangeable mileage credit system, which, it asserts, has been instrumental in preventing the manipulation of tickets. The other roads are determined to put the new ticket into effect tomorrow.

Mellen Gets New Office.

C. S. Mellen, president of the Northern Pacific, last Thursday tendered his resignation to the directors and it was accepted, to take effect Oct. 21. It develops that last Thursday Mr. Mellen was unanimously elected president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad and will assume his new position Oct. 31. Who his successor will be on the Northern Pacific has not officially been announced, but the general opinion is that it will be C. W. Bunn, now general counsel of the road. Mr. Mellen has been president of the Northern Pacific since Sept. 1, 1897. He came from the New Haven road, to which he returns. He then was second vice president. When he took hold of the Northern Pacific's affairs the road was just emerging from a period of reorganization, during which its affairs were in a chaotic condition, owing to the overcapitalization policy pursued by the late Henry Villard. Since then he has transformed the company into a prosperous concern.

KING OF YAP LEAVES WEALTH.

Heirs of David O'Keefe Expect to Divide and Estate Valued at $1,500,000.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 29.—William C. Hartridge, who went to the Caroline islands last May in the interests of Mrs. Catherine O'Keefe, widow of David D. O'Keefe, has arrived here. O'Keefe, who was known as the king of Yap, left his wife and daughter in Savannah, Ga., in the early '70s and was wrecked on the island. Being the first white man the natives had ever seen they treated him with every possible reverence and finally made him king. A year ago, after visiting Hongkong, he started to return on one of his vessels and that was the last heard of him. Although he had two wives in the Carolines, he always kept his wife and daughter in Savannah supplied with money. Lawyer Hartridge found a will in Hongkong distributing an estate valued at $1,500,000. A large amount to the daughter, Mrs. J. F. Butler of Savannah, and the Savannah widow will claim 50 per cent of the estate.

An Interesting Presentation of Refined Modes in Exclusive Trimmed Millinery.

Our Beautiful Displays Are a Constantly Changing Review of the Modes of the Hour.

The new ideas introduced in the most exclusive sources in Paris are closely followed by our own artists, who take from them all that is desirable, and then impart that inimitable style touch which is peculiar to our own individual conceptions.

Fourth Floor South Room.

With the same zeal and energy of the artist in mastering the details of a fine painting, charming, original ideas are being constantly developed by our own designers.

The picturesque shapes, the soft, delicate blendings of pretty shades, and the rich colors—in fact, the entire ensemble of every hat bespeaks talent of the highest degree.

Today's displays will be unusually bright, interesting and attractive.

New Designs in Women's Belts.

The fact that Belts add a decidedly pleasing touch of style to the smartly designed costumes and waists is being more than ever appreciated in the fall and winter fashions. Charming new designs of almost every description are contained in our immense displays.

CALLS HALT ON A MARRIAGE.

S. C. Dwyer of Lowell, Ind., Warns Authorities Not to Issue License to D. Cogwin.

Clerk Salmonson of the marriage license office received a letter yesterday morning from Schuyler C. Dwyer of Lowell, Ind., an attorney, notifying him not to issue a marriage license to D. Cogwin and Edith Peterson; because, the letter stated, "the girl is only 15 years of age and the mother of the young man, who is my client, asserts he is of unsound mind."

The couple did not call on Mr. Salmonson. Postmaster Coyne yesterday received the following letter:

"Mr. postmaster: pleas send the name & address of a rich young lady worth $15,000 & up, and I will pay you twice in stamps and cash. address Sam dod, Brasstown, N. C. "age som wher between 20 & 40."
